Severe Earthquake In Pacific Northwest

SEATTLE AP -- A major earthquake hit the Pacific Northwest at 8:29 a.m. PDT today, causing widespread damage and one or more deaths.

The first confirmed fatality was in Seattle, where Adolphus Lewis, age undetermined, was struck by debris.

There were unconfirmed reports of two or three others killed in Seattle.

There were scores of injuries, many in Seattle from falling debris as some brick facing or older buildings toppled into the street.

The quake, rated at an intensity of more than 7 on the Richter scale, was felt from Coos Bay, on the Oregon coast, to southern British Columbia and east as far as Idaho.

The earthquake belt was at least 60 miles long, from north to south, and 40 miles wide.

Alaska points reported it was not felt there.

The tremor did structural damage in half a dozen cities and knocked out some hydro-electric circuits at the giant Grand Coulee Dam in northeast Washington.

Most damage appeared to be limited to cracked plaster, broken windows and dishes, and snapped wires.

The University of Washington seismologist said the quake was so strong it knocked the needle off the seismograph and he was unable to get a reading.

At Victoria, B. C., the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory said the same thing happened there.

At Olympia, the State Capitol Buildings shook for nearly a minute and state employes ran into the open.

Pay For No Effort Would Be Nice, But Wrong

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- House members want to get a full two years' pay whether they're still in office after July 15 or not.

The House advanced such a bill Wednesday with no opposition. If it gets by the House, the Senate and the governor's veto power, it would permit members to get the final $7,200 of their two-year $9,600 pay when it becomes law Oct. 13.

The stickler is that under federal court orders to reapportion or else, the current legislature is operating on a "de facto" basis. If it fails to redistrict, the members presumably would be without jobs as of July 15, when the session is adjourned automatically.

Earlier the Senate got into a ruckus over a bill to write new truck axle spacing requirements into the truck weight law. The bill was passed and sent to the House, 24-6, after a long hassle.

Sen. Richard M. Webster, R-Carthage, called the chief engineer of the Highway Department, M. J. Snider, "a thin skinned cry baby." He charged Snider the axle spacing rules by agreement with two lobbyists and without consulting legislators.

Webster named the lobbyist as John R. Hahn of the Missouri Oil Jobbers Association and Ursel Lewellen of the Missouri Bus and Truck As-

House Committee Voted On Bill To Set Up Four Year Term For Members

JEFFERSON CITY AP--The House Apportionment Committee turned in a proposed constitutional amendment today that would set up a House of 175 members serving four-year terms.

The action came the day after Gov. Warren E. Hearnes urged the House to hurry up with the redistricting problem. Rep. Norbert Jasper, D-County, committee chairman, said the proposal might be changed on the House floor but the committee thought the House ought to get started solving its apportionment problem.

Federal courts have ordered immediate action to redistrict the House on a one man-one vote basis.

Jasper said he hoped to make the proposal a specific order of business next week so action on it could move as swiftly as possible.

The proposed consititutional change doesn't set out a formula for aligning the districts. Jasper said that could be done by law--the system recommended by the governor.

Jasper said all 17 members of the committee present voted for the substitute proposal.

Under it, after the districts are set up, the candidates in odd-numbered districts would campaign for four-year terms and those in even-numbered districts for two years. At the following general election those from even-numbered districts would be elected to four-year terms.

The Senate terms would remain four years. An earlier proposal would have given senators six-year terms.

Deleted from the constitution would be a provision limiting clerical help of the House to 125 persons and 75 in the Senate. Without that provision the two houses could employ as much help as they thought they needed.

Neighborhood Wins Court Battle

KANSAS CITY AP -- Seven residents of a fancy neighborhood won a circuit court decision Wednesday in their battle against a $20-million plan to build a big hotel and luxury apartment houses there.

Judge Alvin C. Randall invalidated a city ordinance which changed the zoning on the tract from single-family dwellings to high-rise apartments.

The 6 1/2-acre plot is on the southwest corner of Wornall Road and Ward Parkway south of Brush Creek. The developer's plans for it included a 300-room hotel and five 20-story apartment buildings.

Escapee Finds Hope In Terms Of Kindness

CHANDLER, Okla. AP -- Jim Fleming's friends, trying to keep him out of a California prison from which he escaped nearly two years ago, have trapped him in another prison from which there can be no escape.

The new prison has no walls and there are no guards - except Fleming himself.

"If I run again now, too many people I love and respect will get hurt," said Fleming, 32, who until late March was just another car salesman to residents of this town of 3,000 persons.

Then a Federal Bureau of Investigation poster, identifying Fleming as an escapee from the Folsom State Prison, came to the attention of Sheriff L. P. Orr. Fingerprints established the wanted man's identity.

When she recovered she said, "A change in name doesn't change a person." Mrs. Fleming, mother of two daughters--three and six years old - by a

Marines Landing In Dominican Republic

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) —Another 100 U.S. Marines were landed in the strife-torn Dominican Republic today to protect Americans, as bloody fighting engulfed Santo Domingo.

None of the some 2,000 U.S. citizens remaining in the Caribbean country have been harmed, according to the latest reports reaching Washington. Evacuation was proceeding by helicopter and ship.

Meanwhile, shooting among rival Dominican forces was reported continuing in the capital city, with at least 400 Dominican dead, 1,200 wounded, and armed mobs, up to several hundred strong, sacking and looting in residential areas.

President Johnson ordered the Marines ashore from a naval force late Wednesday, after getting word of the breakdown of local governmental authority in the Caribbean country. The Dominicans were unable to guarantee safety for the Americans, Johnson told the nation in an emergency radio-TV appearance last night.

About 400 Leathernecks landed by helicopter on the outskirts of Santo Domingo, under Johnson's order.

As of the latest count, 215 Americans had been evacuated since the Marines landed. Another 1,100 Americans were evacuated Tuesday.

In Washington, the Council of the Organization of American States (OAS) was summoned into emergency session, at U.S. request, to get a report on the action and to consider possible peace making efforts to end the bloody civil war.

U.S. officials said the United States was taking no sides in the political turmoil engulfing the republic. They said the Marines will serve no cause except to protect Americans and will stay there until their mission is completed.

Johnson's order marked the first such use of Marines in Latin America in years. U.S. officials expected criticism from Latin Americans mindful of American "gunboat diplomacy" of a bygone era. But under international law, they said, a nation can send its forces to another land to protect its nationals when the local government breaks down.

Reports reaching the President told of gun battles in Santo Domingo, looting, Communist agitation, the collapse of local authority and word from the Dominicans that they could not guarantee the safety of the Americans there.

U.S. officials gave this account of the crisis action:

In attempts to return to democracy after 34 years of Trujillo dictatorship, Santo Domingo has had 8 governments in the last 4 years. The country also has been in deep economic trouble. The American ambassador, W. Tapley Bennett, was recalled to Washington last Friday to see what could be done about it.

On Saturday, rebels favoring the return of former President Juan Bosch sought to oust the Donald Reid Cabral government, which had come under widespread criticism for its belt - tightening austerity program to improve the economy.

The insurgents split into groups favoring others as well as Bosch.

Fighting flared sporadically and out of control. Cease-fire agreements were made and broken. A U.S. naval task force headed by the carrier Boxer, with some 1,500 Marines aboard, moved near but out of sight of Santo Domingo Sunday, strictly as a precautionary measure.

Associated Press Moves Out To Better Coverage

NEW YORK AP--In the first such move by a news service, The Associated Press has applied for a communications channel through space to add to its worldwide facilities for distributing news.

The AP's application for service direct from the Communications Satellite Corp. COMSAT has not been acted upon by the Federal Communications Commission.

Federal legislation permitting establishment of a public corporation for communications by satellite authorized COMSAT to furnish circuits "to the carrier and to other authorized entities."

The AP application was filed April 15.

Harry T. Montgomery, AP deputy general manager, said in a letter that AP now uses telephone lines, undersea cables and radio. He said AP "is actively seeking improved international communications facilities especially in areas not directly served via cable from the United States."

Puckett Dist. Company Broken Into During Night

A burglary was reported to the Sikeston Police Department this morning at 7:19 a.m. by Charlest Masterson, manager of the Puckett Distributing Company.

Girl Scout Field Day To Draw Ten Troops

Girl Scout Field Days for the Cotton Boll Council are being held this year in two places, at Sweetwater Farms south of Malden, April 24, and at Big Oak State Park southeast of East Prairie, May 1. Both events start at 10:00 a.m. with troops at headquarters at 9:30.

For the past month or six weeks, troop meetings have been used to practice and perfect the skills on which the girls will be judged.

In the mornings, Juniors in teams will pit their knowledge and speed against each other in bed-rolling, lashing coat hangers, fire building, buddy burners, and knot tying. Afternoons will find the Cadettes competing in First Aid, compass, lashing, tripod, and trench fire building. Girls will find drinks available to go with their sack lunches.

With such events as these, Girl Scouts are providing themselves with worthwhile information for camping trips, hiking, or any outdoor activity. Scouting is a well rounded program designed to equip a girl for a fuller more satisfying life in whatever field of work she may choose.

Attending from Sikeston will be the following Junior Troops and their Leaders: No. 206--Mrs. Manuel Drumm, No. 30 —Mrs. Albert Merrill, No. 221 —Mrs. James Beaird, No. 273 —Mrs. Jerry Dyer, No. 169 — Mrs. John Doggett, No. 28 — Mrs. Billy Lewis, and No. 54 —Mrs. John Holloway. Monkey Still Sad

ST. PAUL, Minn. AP -- Annie, a rhesus monkey whose mate died in the flooded zoo at Mankato, Minn., recently, shows little inclination to get married again.

Brought to new quarters at the Como Park Zoo, Annie has been caged with two males and officials at the zoo hoped there might result a happy union.

But Annie apparently is deep in grief and shuns both males. She spends most of the time peering through the bars. When not at the bars, Annie sits in a distant corner, shielding her eyes with her hands and sometimes even sucking a thumb.

Seven Counties Begin Program For Jobless

A seven-county section of southeast Missouri's Bootheel is one of seven areas in the United States chosen for a pilot project on the identification of unemployed persons and their possible relocation, it was announced.

Co-ordinator of the project is Ben Burns, manager of the Caruthersville office of the State Employment Service, who said today that the aim is to find and identify 300 unemployed, but qualified persons.

The first consideration will be given, he said, to finding such persons jobs in their home area, but if this fails, "We'll do our best to help them relocate elsewhere in the state, perhaps with some financial assistance."

Mr. Burns said that a federal government grant has been made for the project to help pay administrative costs and to help finance some relocation.

Results of the program, Mr. Burns said, are also expected to supply Congress with information it may need in developing further legislation as a combatant to unemployment.

That is why he explained, pilot projects are being used.

The work, Mr. Burns said, has started and is scheduled for completion by June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

Mr. Burns will co-ordinate the work, utilizing the personnel of four State Employment offices in the area--at Cruthersville, Kennett, Sikeston and Poplar Bluff.

Another goal of the project is to learn why those who are unemployed are not working.

Mr. Burns pointed out that while the unemployment situation in the Bootheel counties is largely a matter of seasonal farm workers, these are not the persons being sought out now.

"We're after people who have a salable skill, but are not working," he said.

At the same time these persons are being located, information will be sought on industrial job vacancies and the worker needs of the area's employers.

Mr. Burns said the employment offices welcome the help of public and private organizations and agencies as well as individuals in identifying the unemployed persons.

He asked also that the area's unemployed register with their employment office.

Supporters Of School Bus Bill Try Again For Passage

JEFFERSON CITY AP--A blood-spattered letter was presented Wednesday night to the chairman of the House Education Committee.

Mrs. Marvin Selser of High Ridge, Mo., used this means to dramatize her plea for favorable action on the controversial "fair school bus bill."

The measure would provide public - financed school bus transportation for private and parochial school students.

Mrs. Selser, one of more than a score of witnesses, said the letter was taken from the body of a 6-year-old boy, Tommy Candelario, who last February was struck and killed by a car on his way home from school near High Ridge.

The letter urged his parents to write their representatives and senators to support the bill in the interest of safety, she said.

An earlier attempt to move similar legislation through the Senate stalled in committee.

The bill introduced by Rep. Joseph Beckerle, D-St. Louis, includes a provision for a statewide referendum. The Senate bill did not.

More than 1,000 persons crowded into the House chamber in support of the new approach.

Opponents are scheduled for hearing next Wednesday night.

She said she has spent most of her life close to sports where fair play and good sportsmanship are practiced every day. We try not to leave any teammate on base because of color or belief."

Robert Baine, Jr., counsel for the Citizens for Educational Freedom, repeated earlier testimony before the Senate that the bill does not violate constitutional separation of church and state.

He said a separate transportation fund to prevent co-mingling with public school money would meet any constitutional question.

It is estimated the cost of providing transportation for some 86,000 private and parochial school students would be about $2.6 million a year out of state funds.

NEWSPAPERS HOLD THEIR OWN

Remember when television first entered the mass market and numbers of people thought that this would wreak havoc on other media of news and entertainment, including the newspapers? Well, at least so far as the newspapers are concerned, the prophets of doom have been proven entirely wrong.

Editor & Publisher reports that total newspaper circulation as a per cent of adult population increased from 49.15 per cent in 1945 to 51.14 per cent in 1960. It adds, "Newspapers in the U. S. have been more than holding their own with the growth in adult population, and we expect will continue to grow as the baby boom develops into adult newspaper purchasers."

Statistics -- bless 'em -- show that women are better drivers than men.

This fact leaves men without any solid defense in those inevitable "discussions" about the relation merits of men and women drivers. Therefore, they must resort to distractions such as humor and irrelevant homilies. Out of sympathy for the defenselessness of the American male motorist, we present here a sampler of "Ammunication for Arguments With Women Drivers."

A woman who drove her car into a river was among 3,300 who flunked driving tests in New Hampshire in 1962. The woman and the driver examiner with her swam to shore.

Here are two comments by driver license examiners which are representative of examiner opinion:

A woman driver once drove her car into a Cincinnati driver examining station. What was wrong with that? you ask. Well, there were no doors for cars. The lady lost control.

A frequent reason women have accidents is their constitutional incapability of talking without looking at the people they are addressing. They have accidents while they are observing the reactions of their front-seat passengers to their witty remarks.

Two sociology professors of solid reputations reported the following two observations about women drivers, after a comprehensive study of 43 accidents:

"The woman driver can be spotted by the scratches on her auto's fenders and the splinters on her garage door."

"The woman driver drives as though she were at the helm of the Queen Mary on the high seas."

These same two profs pointed out that accident rates are not corrected for the fact that women drive less than men and thus are exposed to the risk of accidents less often.

If only they'd had the facts turned up recently by the Illinois secretary of state they would have provided beleagued males with the clincher in any argument with a woman driver.

From July 1, 1960, to October 31, 1961, a question on Illinois driver license renewal applications asked drivers how many miles they'd driven during the previous 12 months. Their composite reply was women: 5,916 miles, and men, 12,731 miles.

And there's no reason to believe that Illinois women drive significantly fewer miles than women who live in any other state.

TWO CASES SHOW WASHINGTON THINKING

Two events in the news showed the drift of Washington. One was the overthrow of Juan Bosch of the Dominican Republic, and the other was the bringing of charges against Otto F. Otepka, Chief of the Evaluation Division of the State Department's Security Office, of conduct unbecoming a diplomatic officer for collaborating with the United States Senate Internal Subcommittee.

The events seem diverse, but the underlying response in both cases on the part of the State Department officials involved clearly reflects where we are going.

Juan Bosch was elected to the top post in the Dominican Republic after a demagogic campaign. He promised the people everything and, when elected, did little for them. He played the Castro game. He tolerated and even encouraged the return from exile of important communist agents. He embarked on a nationalization campaign that resembled Castro's. He played his personal left-leaning militia against the army, a la Castro. He surrounded himself with crypto-communists.

Bosch was beginning to crack down on the free press and radio. He closed two radio stations and threatened the large Santo Domingan newspaper, El Caribe. In all of this, he had the strong and even emotional support of our State Department.

This list toward Castro and communism was generating a strong and understandable reaction among thoughtful people. They saw the slide toward another Cuba and acted in the traditional Latin - American fashion. While we can and should deplore the use of force to settle political problems, we should keep in mind the provocation.

The reaction to the overthrow of Bosch on the part of spokesmen for the State Department --and incidentally Radio Havana -- was pitched with emotion. We immediately cut off our assistance program and severed diplomatic relations.

Meanwhile the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee had been dutifully finishing its appointed role of assessing the damage wrought to the nation and the hemisphere by the ascent of Castro to power and the paralysis of the State Department in allowing a Soviet base to be installed in the Caribbean.

This was provoking the leaders of State. This inquiry is now officially off limits to State Department personnel. William Wieland, the former head of the Caribbean desk whose role in the ascent of Castro was authoritatively set forth in a Senate Subcommittee report, has had his security clearance reaffirmed.

There is a force opposing this trend. It is found in the Security Office of the State Department. The late Scott McLeod set up a good office there and, while they are a vanishing breed, there are a few good officers left. One of them, Otto F. Otepka, has been downgraded to Chief of the Evaluation Division, but he has been trying to stem the fast-flowing tide.

Along the line, apparently, Mr. Otepka failed to make the shift that is now required. The villains are no longer Fidel or Raul Castro or the communists but such forces as inquiring Senate committees, newspapermen and the public.

As a result of his alleged cooperation with the Senate committee, he is up on charges. He will have no hearing. He cannot call witnesses. The most serious of the charges seems to be that he passed "confidential" and "for official use only" information to the chief counsel of the subcommittee, J. G. Sourwine.

Will the United States stand up for its prerogatives? For in cooperating with Mr. Sourwine, Mr. Otepka cooperated with the Senate.

Obviously, the State Department wants the Juan Boschs and not the Otto Otepkas.

A BASIC FREEDOM

The unions' all-out campaign to force repeal of section 14b of the Taft - Hartley Act, which permits the states to adopt Right -to-Work laws if they so wish, could lead unknowing people to believe that this provision is a deadly weapon aimed straight at the heart of organized labor.

Anyone who believes that would do well to read the section. It says: "Nothing in this Act (Taft-Hartley) shall be construed as authorizing the executive or application of agreements requiring membership in a labor organization as a condition of employment in any State or Territory in which such execution or application is prohibited by State or Territorial Law."

To make that seem, in any way, an anti-labor provision requires some massive twisting of plain language. It simply says that, in states which take advantage of 14b, each worker will have the right to join or not to join a union as he chooses, and in either case he can keep his job. No one can make him join -- and no one can prevent him from joining.

If that is not a basic freedom, what is?

President Johnson says we are going to have to rebuild the entire United States, in effect, just to accommodate the expected increase in population in the next 40 years.

In the meantime, however, old buildings are not being knocked down fast enough to satisfy the demands for attractive used bricks. The fact that the public will pay more for used brick than new ones has inspired two California men to invent a brick-aging machine, which they have just patented.

Nice new bricks are fed into the machine, which tumbles them against each other until they become properly chipped and cracked. The device even smears mortar on the bricks at random to give them character and authenticity.

WHAT IS A FLAG?

By Grace Bush

Passers-by, on the busy streets of the city, hurry on their way, minds intent on their own small affairs. They look idly at the flags--but do they really see them?

That oblong piece of cloth, with its bright dyes, is the visible symbol of America today -- an America more precious, more wonderful than ever before, because the gifts it has given us are threatened, as never before, with loss and destruction! It is the thrilling heart of America -- the sign of our inheritance -- the presence of all we hold most dear!

The courage and strength of the pioneers -- the pathfinders who met trial and hardship dauntlessly, in the days when we were beginning to be a nation --are in the red of its stripes!

The high and stainless purity of mind and motive -- the whiteness of the souls of great men -- Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson, and many others, who strove selflessly to hold high their beliefs in the greatness of this nation, and who dedicated their lives to its service -- are in the white of its stripes!

The truth that will not stoop to lie -- the integrity of the principles that underlie our commonwealth, the unshakeable faith and trust in God, that has come down to us from those long gone before, who have held high the light, that we might walk safely -- are in the blue of its field of stars!

And every one of those stars shines with a new splendor of meaning -- the symbol of a free people, living their lives in the blessings of freedom-freedom to worship God as they choose, freedom to work, to laugh, to love, to live -- God's most previous gift to man, to be guarded sacredly forever!

What is a Flag?

It is the soul of America -- and it shall never die!

THE RIGHTSIDE TODAY

The assault on Patriots throughout this country, which has been in full swing for several years, shows no signs of abating.

There are two very striking features about this assault. First is its vehemence. Second is the unwillingness or inability of the attackers to tell anyone clearly and reasonably what it is they are so bitterly against.

An example of the vehemence of the assault and a key to its meaning is the constant use of the word "hate." This is a very strong and ugly word. It creates a climate which makes calm and sensible judgments very difficult. Certainly if the anti-patriots said openly they hated their opponents, their use of this word would turn public opinion against them.

But they are clever; instead, they pretend it is their opponents, the patriots, who "hate" them; and they never miss an opportunity to use the word.

To decide who the real "haters" are, simply ask yourself how often you have heard that word used as a weapon by a friend of American liberties and national independence.

But what are these attackers of patriotism really against? They rise up in fury if anyone suggests they are opposed to patriotism itself; they simply say they dislike "too much" of it. They dislike "extremists" and prefer "moderates."

These words and ideas have no sensible content. If patriotism is good then a lot of it should be extremely good and who wouldn't want something that is extremely good? The attack seems intended to destroy sound thinking about its targets.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Steel Industry Booms, Hires More Men Despite Labor's Alarums over Automation.

Pittsburgh:-- An electronic terror stalks the land.

Everywhere--expecially today in the steel cities ranging from this area to the Chicago complex--working men, housewives and whole communities fear they'll be electric-brained out of their jobs. Professional mourners stir the agony with morbid predictions of what automation will wipe out.

It appears that the time has come to wipe out the melancholy dragon--especially in the steel cities.

It takes no James Bond, not even a Sherlock Holmes, but just some foot and pencil work to learn that the steel industry hired 180,000 new workers in 1964.

This increased by 30,000 the number of men employed by the big mills. Workers were hard to get despite the high wage rates.

Young men over the age of 18 were welcomed. But not enough of them applied, though the pay, after a while, would average about $135 a week for 40 hours.

Thus, as older men retired, or went on long sabbaticals, or simply quit for other jobs, the industry did not and was not able to cut its work force by attrition. It had to go out and fill 150,000 jobs just to keep even with the previous year.

These are well documented figures. And corroboration of the dearth of workers comes from a source which ordinarily would be complaining about the lack of jobs--none other than a recent edition of "Steel Labor," tabloid newspaper of the United Steelworkers of America (AFL-CIO).

"For the first time in many moons," said the labor publication, "the steel industry has been forced to go into the highways and byways of the nation seeking qualified men to fill employment opportunities in the Chicago area. . ."

This report disclosed that U. S. Steel, for example, had jobs at its mills in Chicago and Gary for "qualified men, including production labor for steel mill operation, experienced craftsmen including machinists, pipefitters and welders, mechanical and electrical maintenance men, narrow gauge rail switchmen and bricklayers with industrial experience."

Applicants had to be high school graduates, "or the equivalent," at least 18 years of age and able to meet physical requirements.

All through this period there were technological changes. Plants and parts of plants were automated. There were some problems in adjustments.

But there were more jobs than problems despite reports in Washington and academic circles that anywhere from 10,000 to 40,000 jobs a week are being wiped out by the computor.

For the moment at least, the real threat to jobs comes from the shrewd foreign steel producers. Steel industry and labor experts reckon that at least 31,000 additional jobs would have been available in the past five months if the strike fright had not provoked American steel buyers to make heavy purchases of the metal from England, France, Germany and Japan.

This will be a permanent condition. All insiders know that prices must go up when the new steel wage contracts are eventually signed. That's the realism of business life.

The American steelworker is the world's highest paid mill hand. His fire-breathing national union chiefs here know that and know what strike fright can do.

So there will have to be more automation to meet the foreign competition--for several reasons. Despite the higher new wage costs, American steel makers will have to sell abroad to make up some of the business they lose to foreign firms selling in the U. S.

Foreign governments cooperate with their own business men by harassing American firms. France, for example, puts $27 in duties and taxes on a ton of American auto body sheet steel imported by French manufacturers. U. S. taxes and duties on similar French metal come to only $7. Obviously this is a one-way street.

That's why America has to automate. Those who turn automation into a job-eating monster instead of an adjustment problem which can be and is being handled are professional mourners.

They do injury to the country. It's time their dragon was slain.

And they overlook the most vital statistic of all. At the height of the big war in 1944, there were 17.3 million people working in the manufacturing field.

Today, after 20 years of electronic wizardry and automation there still are 17.3 million working in the same manufacturing industries--and a record number of additional millions are employed in offices, services and research.

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- One of the most important facts I confirmed on my recent trip to Moscow was how deeply the Russians dislike Fidel Castro. They are just as sore at him as ex-Sen. Ken Keating of New York was during the Cuban missile crisis.

And if the United States could once get over the ill will it's engendered as a result of its North Viet Nam bombing, the Russians would probably be delighted to get out of Cuba in our favor. They might even swap our attempted sphere of influence in South Viet Nam for their attempted sphere of influence in Cuba.

There are several reasons for the Russians dislike of Fidel Castro. Here are three of them:

1. Castro is imperious, unpredictable, long-winded, and just as high-handed with top Russians as with the United States. The Russians consider Castro's beard an affectation, don't like his slouchy fatigue uniform. In brief, they consider him a bore.

2. The Russians don't relish wasting foreign aid on Cuba. They are shelling out about a million dollars a day to support Castro, and foreign aid is just as unpopular with Russians as with Rep. Otto Passman of Louisiana.

3. Fidel Castro is secretly pro-Chinese, and sometimes he isn't so secret about it. This really irks the Russians.

SAM MISSILES ARE SCARCE

Most important illustration of Castro's pro-Chinese leaning has a bearing on North Viet Nam. It shows why the Russians have not been permitted to build Sam launching sites there.

Despite the recent furor in the American press that Russian Sam sites had been built in North Viet Nam, real fact is that U. S. Photo Reconnaissance planes have located only one. Furthermore, it would take several months for the Russians to build more than two or three Missile Launchers.

Ironic fact is that the Russians have been slowed down by the Chinese in building Sam Bases, because the Chinese remember what happened in Cuba. The Chinese at one time were making a lot of headway with Fidel Castro. Then the Russians began sending in weapons, including twenty-four Sam Missile Launchers. With them came Russian technicians, after which Russian influence won out over the Chinese.

Doubtless remembering this, Premier Chou En-Lai, visiting in Algeria, is reported to have told President Ben Bella that China does not intend to let Russia turn North Viet Nam into another Cuba. And for that reason, the Chinese have put roadblocks in the path of Russian Sam Sites and the Russian technicians who would accompany them.

Since the Chinese have banned Russian flights over Chinese territory, Russian Munitions must come into Viet Nam by slow boat Via Vladivostok.

NOTE -- The Russians now dance the twist to American Jazz in Moscow's leading hotels. But the music is a long way from being up to Western Jazz. I suggested to the Russians that they get some value back from all the Rubles they are shipping to Castro by importing some hot Cuban Orchestras. But the Russians are so down on Castro they wouldn't even take his music.

MOTHERS OF FAMOUS SONS

Some of the one-time debutante of Washington have now become the Mothers of distinguished government leaders.

One such mother is Mrs. Millard Tydings, who has the unique distinction of being the widow of a Senator from Maryland and now the mother of a Senator from Maryland, Joseph Davies Tydings.

Mrs. Tydings, daughter of the late Joe Davies, Ambassador to Russia, grew up in Washington, doesn't look old enough to be a Senator's mother.

Another famous mother is Mrs. Tom Clark, wife of Justice Clark of the Supreme Court and mother of the new Deputy Attorney General, Ramsey Clark.

The other day a distinguished group of Texans gathered to celebrate Texas Independence Day. Present were a reasonably well known Texan, now President of the United States; Also Congressman Jack Brooks, who presided; Bill Moyers of the White House Staff; Justice and Mrs. Tom Clark and their son Ramsey.

Reporting to the meeting on the election of new officers, Ramsey Clark addressed the distinguished guests: "Mr. President, Mr. Justice Clark, Mother."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

A tip to waiters, hairdressers, bellhops, Taxi drivers, et al: Internal Revenue has started a new crackdown on those who collect tips but don't pay full taxes on those tips. The Treasury estimates more than a billion dollars is earned each year in tips, though only a fraction of this amount is reported. . . .

Attention Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, Belmont, Mass. -- What do you think of Grand Dragon Craig's recent boast that the Klan has joined forces with the John Birch Society? Do you countenance Klan violence in the south? . . . Katharine St. George, the energetic Republican Congresswoman from New York State, is insinuating that men's pockets should be taxed. She has written to every member of Congress urging that the Excise Tax on Women's handbags be removed; Claims handbags are just as important to a woman as pants pockets to a man. If Congress does not remove the Excise Tax on handbags, Katherine claims Congress should tax men's pockets.

Hal Boyle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam AP--In war-torn South Viet Nam, you may take your life in your hands if you venture far outside Saigon.

But if you do much walking inside Saigon, you take your life in your feet.

There is no such thing as an innocent bystander here.

Particularly if he is a pedestrian he is fair game for all and the only time he isn't in danger of being run down is during the curfew hours between 2 and 4 a.m. If he is abroad then he is only in danger of being shot by the police.

It is said that one reason the besieging Viet Cong haven't taken Saigon is that after reaching the outskirts of the city they decided it would be hopeless to try to fight their way through the traffic.

Saigon traffic is famous throughout the Far East. It starts early in the morning and, except for a three-hour siesta break, continues until it gets too dark to see a pedestrian.

If you strike one and are found at fault you must pay his hospital or funeral costs. Rules of the road prohibit a motorist from pursuing the pedestrian across sidewalks or into public buildings.

"Actually you rarely see a pedestrian or bicyclist badly injured," remarked a motorist who has won an unsafe driver's badge with three oak leaf clusters. "The main idea is merely to brush him out of the way with your bumper."

The traffic here is picturesque as well as impossible. The streets are a rolling museum of the history of wheeled vehicles.

Your status depends on whether you own your vehicle, what kind of wheels it has and how much it cost.

From this social basement your prestige goes up to the motorcyclist to the cab owner to the man who owns his car or even better is driven by a government chauffeur.

The cabbies of Paris are regarded as Europe's wildest steersmen. But in Saigon, everybody drives as if he were a jockey whipping his mount home in a $100,000 handicap race.

Motorcycle owners pride themselves on the number of people they can get on their vehicles. I saw one man and his wife barreling along holding three children as they discussed the world situation in Chinese.

ANN LANDERS Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: What should a mother tell her 11-year-old son when the boy's father is mentally ill? I've always felt it is needless to burden a child with adult problems. They learn soon enough that life can be cruel.

About two years ago my husband lost his business. He went into a depression and would not speak to anyone. He began to drink heavily and it became difficult to distinguish between the alcoholism and the sick mind.

Two weeks ago I signed papers which committed him to an institution. I told our son his daddy was taking a vacation. I am exhausted keeping up the pretense but I don't know how else to handle it. Am I doing right by the boy? -- Anxious Mother.

Dear Mother: No. Please tell your son that daddy is no longer on vacation -- that he is ill and had to go to the hospital.

Your son must sense that you are anxious and trying to hide something. This will make him anxious, too. And if you don't let him know there is always a chance that he will learn from outside the home that his father is mentally ill and in the hospital. This would shake his confidence in you and add to your problems.

Children often understand a great deal more than their parents give them credit for. And they adjust better to an unhappy truth than to a candy-coated lie.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a mother of four children who must work because my husband has asthma and can't hold down a job.

The widow next door calls my husband almost every day to help her out. He has fixed her plumbing, painted her kitchen, put new fixtures in her bathroom and helped her carry barrels from the basement to the attic. Every year he takes off her storm windows and puts up her screens.

When I ask him to go to the store for me he starts to wheeze up a storm and tells me he is a sick man.

If I am being unreasonable I would like you to say so in the paper.--The Nag (His name for me.)

Dear Chump (MY name for you): Any man who is well enough to do all the things you listed should be able to hold down a part-time job. I recommend it.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a woman 70 years old. When my husband died I felt very much alone. It seemed like a good idea to ask my married daughter, her husband and three children to move into my home. They have lived here free from time to time (once for 5 years) so this was nothing new to them.

I pay the taxes, half of the utilities, buy my own clothes, pay my own doctor bills, do all the cooking, most of the ironing and I take care of my small grandson while my daughter works with her husband.

Last week I told my daughter I was making out a will and that I wanted everything I own to be divided between her and her brother. She said, "I think you are being unfair. You should leave this house to me."

Actually my daughter and her husband have been able to save a lot of money by living here. They have a free roof, a cook and a built-in nursemaid for their child. They buy only groceries and pay for half the utilities. I want to treat my son and daughter equally. If you feel I am wrong please say so. -- An Honest Opinion Wanted

Dear A. H.O.W.: I know of few sentences more grasping and ugly than the ones your daughter uttered. If you want your son and daughter to share equally in your estate, by all means write your will that way.

"The Bride's Guide," ANN LANDERS' booklet, gives authoritative and complete information on how to plan a wedding. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self - addressed stamped envelope and 35¢ in coin.

Howard Ellis To Exhibit Art Work

The Methodist Church will present an exhibit of the art work of Howard Ellis Saturday and Sunday, May 1 and 2, in the Reception Hall of the church, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Mr. Ellis, an artist, author, preacher and interpreter of Christian art, is known far and wide both for his work as artist and evangelist. He specializes in youth work. He was on the threshold of a promising career in commercial art when he answered the call to the ministry. He brings his drawing board into the pulpit and makes of each work of art an experience of worship.

Mr. Ellis will display wood block and linoleum prints. The show is entitled "The Gospel in Art" because the series of prints show the life of Christ from birth to death on the cross.

Gibson Leads Cards To Victory Over Milwaukee

Cards-A's

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Gibson won his third game, pitching the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-0 victory over the Milwaukee Braves at Milwaukee Wednesday night.

Gibson has accounted for three of the Cardinals' four victories this season. Two of his triumphs were shut-outs. He hasn't lost yet.

He allowed only three hits as the smallest crowd—1,324—in Milwaukee County Stadium history watched the Braves go down in defeat. The Braves are scheduled to move to Atlanta next season.

Al Downing allowed Kansas City only five hits at New York and the Yankees took a 5-1 victory from the Athletics.

St. Louis got three runs the first two innings. The first came on daring base running by the Redbirds' Lou Brock. Brock walked, moved to second on a passed ball, stole third and scored on an infield out.

Tim McCarver and Brock singled in a two-run outbreak in the second inning when the Cardinals were helped by a walk and a wild pitch.

Roger Maris was injured in the New York — Kansas City game when the Yankee outfielder pulled a muscle in his right thigh while catching a line drive in the seventh inning. The Yankee physician said Maris would be out three weeks.

Kansas City's lone run came in the eighth when Tom Reynolds walked, moved to second on a wild pitch, to third on an outfield fly and scored when Ed Charles singled.

Curt Simmons (0-2) will start for St. Louis. Tony Cloninger (1-2) will pitch for the Braves.

Mizzou Second In Batting, Play K-State This Weekend

Big Eight Baseball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tim Van Galder, Iowa State's football quarterback, took over the No. 1 spot in pitching while Oklahoma State's little Tony Stark clung to the batting lead in Big Eight baseball although stopped by Missouri pitchers.

Van Galder, son of a Wisconsin football staff member, didn't give up an earned run in defeating Colorado last week. This lowered his earned run average to 0.81, with two in 21 innings. He yielded both to Kansas, leading to his only defeat.

Stark batted only 1-for-11 against Missouri, and his league average skidded from .789 to .533. Closing in on Stark, however, were Bob Robben of Missouri with .483, Stu Steele of Kansas State .481, defending champ Steve McGreevy of Kansas .452 and Gene Stephenson of Missouri .450.

Other batters over .400 are Frank Warrington of OSU .438 and Bill Fenton of Kansas .412. Fenton, a third baseman, will be out for the season with a broken bone in his left hand.

Chana is tied with Missouri's Orv Hollrah for second place in the Big Eight ERA rankings, both at 2.25. Dick Frank of OSU and Bob Hergenrader of Nebraska are next, both at 2.34.

Steve Renko of Kansas has the best strikeout average, 1.4 per inning, with 28 in 20 innings. K-State's Bob Ballard has the best control average at 0.81, permitting only one walk in 12 1-3 innings.

Robben and Oklahoma's Carl Schreiner are tied for the league lead in runs batted in with 11 each. Schreiner and K-State's Joe Beck are on top in homers with three each.

Other leaders: Hits-Stark 16; Doubles--Stark and Jim Mahoney, Iowa State, 4 each; Triples--McGreevy, Steele and Ray Thorpe of Missouri, 2 each; Stolen bases--Jerry Retzlaff, Iowa State 5.

In team hitting, Oklahoma State leads with .292, Missouri has .283. In team pitching, Iowa State's 1.89 ERA is the best. The Nebraska staff has 2.43 but the Huskers have the best team defense, giving up only 17 runs in seven games, and have the best team fielding mark at .961. Missouri is scoring 5.9 runs a game, OSU 5.6 and Iowa State 5.5.

Missouri's defending champs have a chance to slip into first place in the topsy-turvy pennant race. The Tigers, 5-3, play at K-State, 2-6, while the other four contenders collide headon, with first place Nebraska, 5-2, meeting Iowa State, 5-3, at Lincoln and OSU, 6-3, at Kansas, 5-4. In the other series, Colorado, 2-6, plays at Oklahoma, 3-6.

Cape Plays At SIU Friday

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo.--Southeast Missouri State's baseball team, undefeated in five games prior to a Wednesday contest against Martin, Tenn., travels to Carbondale Friday for a game with Southern Illinois.

The Saluki's are expected to provide Joe Uhls' nine with some of the best competition to date, although the Indian squad has bested Murray (Ky.) State, one of the top teams in the Midwest.

Freshman Mike Portell of DeSoto owns the top ERA on the mound staff, a clean 0.0 mark for six innings. St. Louis junior Ray Bahr and Cape sophmore Kermit Meystedt have both won two games, Meystedt pitching a total of 12 innings and Bahr 6. Bahr's ERA is 1.5, Meystedt's 3.75.

ROCHESTER, Minn. AP--John Yovicsin, Harvard football coach, underwent open heart surgery Wednesday at the Mayo Clinic and was reported in satisfactory condition.

Nicklaus Favored In $75,000. Tournament

By BOB MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The name of the game today is Jack Nicklaus, or so it seemed as 26 professional golfers fired away in the first round of the $75,000 Tournament of Champions.

The setting was the Desert Inn Country Club. The course, one of the better of the resort challenges according to the pros, measures 7,029 yards.

Par is 36-36-72, and winds of 15 to 25 miles an hour and temperatures in the upper 80s were forecast.

The 25-year-old Nicklaus was a firm 5-2 favorite to retain his 1.000 batting average in the tournament. He has played it twice, won twice and is seeking his third in as many years.

The 72-hole event could hardly be considered a walkover, however.

There is Arnold Palmer, the 1962 winner here, who has not won a tournament since the Oklahoma City Open May 18 last year.

There is Bill Casper, Jr., who three times has finished second, and two former winners, Sam Snead, 1961, and Mike Souchak, 1959.

There are also, as Nicklaus himself pointed out, such fellows as Tony Lema and Doug Sanders.

"In my own mind I don't feel I should be favored. I haven't played in a tournament since the Masters two weeks ago, and if you lose two weeks in this kind of competition you can lose your sharpness and you tend to play sloppy."

Palmer shot a 66 in a final practice round Wednesday. Casper went 18 holes, but did not keep a score. Nicklaus had a 73, but said, "I was just fooling around."

Bloomfield's Wildcats, Richland Sub-District champions, continued on their winning ways yesterday stomping Advance's Hornets 9 to 1.

Pitcher Rodney Bullinger took all the sting out of the Hornet attack allowing the Hornets only one run and two hits. White, Wise and Kingree paced the Bloomfield offense with two hits each. Kingree doubled and Dale Underwood doubled to have the only extra base hits of the affair.

Bill Hartack Riding Bold Lad Favorite To Win At Derby Saturday

By KELSO STURGEON

Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jockey Bill Hartack is impressed with Kentucky Derby favorite Bold Lad, but not enough to predict that the powerful colt will win Saturday's classic.

"I know he's a good horse and I couldn't help but be impressed by him," Hartack said, "but he'll have to prove himself Saturday."

The combination of Bold Lad and Hartack, who has won this famous race four times in six tries, is expected to go postward as the 9-5 favorite Saturday.

Entries for the Derby were to be made today, with a field of 10, and possibly 12, in prospect.

Hartack said he wasn't a bit nervous about sitting on the favorite in the Derby, explaining that "it's just another race. One race means just as much to me as another."

He won on Veneitan Way in 1960, Decidedly in 1962 and Northern Dancer in 1964. He had no mounts in 1961 and 1963.

Hartack also won the Derby in 1957 with Iron Liege. He finished second on Fabius in 1956 and was 13th on Easy Spur in 1959. Hartack was to have ridden Tim Tam, who won the Derby in 1958, but the jockey broke his leg and lost the mount.

If 12 horses start in the 91st running of this first jewel of racing's Triple Crown, the race will have a gross value of $156,000 with $113,500 going to the winner, $25,000 to the second place horse, $12,500 to third and $5,000 to fourth.

The race will be televised nationally by CBS from 4-5 p.m., EST. Post time is set for 4:45 before an expected crowd of 100,000.

Bold Lad's trainer, Bill Winfrey, said last year's 2-year-old champion from Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable, came out of Tuesday's Derby Trial "in fine shape — just the way he went into it."

"We'll now wait and see about the Derby — at least I know, and feel, that he's in shape for a top race," Winfrey said.

Hartack rode Bold Lad for the first time in the Trial, which the son of Bold Ruler won easily in the time of 1:35 1-5 for the mile.

Bold Lad is expected to get his major challenge from Florida Derby winner Native Charger, California campaigner Lucky Debonair, stretch-running Hail to All, front-running Flag Raiser and Tom Rolfe, who has won three of his four starts as a 3-year-old.

Other definite starters include Arkansas Derby winner Swift Ruler, Mr. Pak, Dapper Dan, and Carpenter's Rule. The other two possibilities are Apple Core and Narushna.

Sports TALK

Sikeston's cindermen travel to Poplar Bluff, this Friday to do battle in the Poplar Bluff relays. Sikeston is fresh from an easy victory at Dexter. The relays shape up as a real battle between the giants in track and field. Cape Central's Tigers will be there. They scored a very impressive win in the Northern Conference Meet. There will be a lot of big guns aimed at the Tigers. Southern Conference power Kennett has perhaps the best team in Southeast Missouri. Mighty Charleston, Dexter, Jackson and, of course, Poplar Bluff and Sikeston will be on hand. Kennett has to be favorite to come home with the championship. Cape Central, Charleston and our own Bulldogs should show well, and any of these three could be a possible winner. Poplar Bluff, with all it's talent, has to be considered a long shot, though they have failed to produce so far this season. All in all, it shapes up as a real good meet, with a lot of great track teams entered.

The Sikeston Junior High Invitation meet will be held on May 1, at the Senior High School Track. There will be two divisions in the meet; A division (Freshmen) and a B division (7th and 8th graders).

Cape Central and Bloomfield play at 2:15 p.m. Friday for the Oran District championship. Sikeston travels to Cape Friday to do battle with Notre Dame in baseball.

Chevrolet Impala

People who buy other big expensive-looking cars get one thing you won't (big expensive-looking payments)

It looks like a big car. And is—by almost any standard you want to apply.

Width? Nobody builds a car as much as one inch wider. Length? It grew three inches this year. Roominess? Every closed model's got three inches more shoulder room, front and rear, and more leg and foot room up front too. Luxury? Nice little touches like the look of mellow walnut across the Impala's instrument panel. And big touches. Like the fineness of the same Body by Fisher workmanship that makes some of America's most expensive cars look so expensive. How about the ride? Chevrolet engineers took the Jet-smooth one and smoothed it out even more this year. Also made it more stable by widening the wheel stance. Custom features? You can personalize your Chevrolet all you want because there are nearly 200 custom features to choose from. Price? That's where Chevrolets fall way short of the other big expensive-looking cars. But we wouldn't have it any other way. Would you?

One last question: How soon can you make a good spring buy on a Chevrolet? One last answer: Just as soon as you can get down to your Chevrolet dealer's.

IN THE SHADOW OF JACQUELINE

President's Lady Makes Own Image Live

By BILL BYERS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) Besides the President, Lynda, Luci and, possibly Him, the beagle, a University of Texas freshman knows more of the First Lady's innermost thoughts than anyone else.

It's no secret that Mrs. Johnson locks herself in her White House bedroom every week and pours her memoirs into a tape recorder. She has been doing it since Nov. 22, 1963. But except for a brief description of the events in Dallas for the Warren Report not one word of her oral diary has been heard by anyone except herself—and 18-year-old Scott Carpenter.

Byers

Before the Army provided Mrs. Johnson with an easy-to-operate recorder, she relied on Scott and his $12 Japanese machine to collect her thoughts.

Scott, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, the First Lady's staff director, recorded about 15 hour-long sessions for Mrs. Johnson, who found the Oriental gadget inscrutable and too tricky to operate herself.

"At first, after the assassination, she was recording every day," Mrs. Carpenter says. "She didn't want anybody to know, not even the President. She would just call Scott up on the phone and tell him to bring his machine over as quickly as he could. In those days of heavy strain, I think it was good therapy. Now, although she doesn't plan to ever publish her words, Mrs. Johnson keeps up with it because she has an acute sense of history."

Although Mrs. Johnson has never told him to, Scott has kept mum on what he has heard.

The recording incident is typical of the changes in the mansion on Pennsylvania Avenue. Its mistress, who still lives in the shadow of Jacqueline Kennedy, is attempting to leave her own mark on history.

Mrs. Johnson's problem, establishing herself as the chief subject of interest in the White House, is exemplified by a recent tour of 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

"Ah, this is Mrs. Kennedy's favorite portrait," he said referring to Henry Inman's painting of Angelica Van Buren in the Green Room. And later on, he commented that Mrs. Kennedy was so fond of the stately East Room that "she didn't have the heart to change its decor."

Not once were there any references to paintings or furniture admired by Mrs. Johnson. If you didn't know better, you'd wonder if she really lives there.

° ° °

Vibrant and radiant, Mrs. Johnson slipped without fanfare into the White House screening room to comment on the Westinghouse Broadcasting Company's 30-minute color television program on the executive mansion's art, which will be telecast on a syndicated basis in April.

"What are your favorite portraits?" Mrs. Johnson was asked. She thought for a long moment and said in her East Texas drawl, "Why, I'm partial to the ones of Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin. And my goodness, I hope they are in the film!"

They are. The film, produced by Mrs. Amy LaFollette Jensen, the noted White House authority, and her husband, Howard Jensen, is a close-up look at 47 paintings. It was started two years ago with the encouragement of Mrs. Kennedy and was almost completed when the President was assassinated.

LADY BIRD JOHNSON
"I'm partial to the ones of Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin"

Mrs. Carpenter says it was typical of Mrs. Johnson not to let the film be abandoned. Not only was she eager to see it completed but volunteered to give a brief introduction.

It also doesn't bother Mrs. Johnson when people tell her "how well Jackie decorated the White House, turning it from a mausoleum into a home." The First Lady champions her predecessor's good taste and is more than a little relieved that she doesn't have to compete with her on that score.

Mrs. Carpenter says Mrs. Johnson has decided to revisit South Carolina, where she was jeered during last year's campaign.

"Mrs. Johnson was deeply hurt and bewildered by the Old South's coolness towards her," Mrs. Carpenter says. "She will never forget walking down the empty, magnolia-lined streets of Charleston, past house after house with, 'We're Solid for Goldwater' signs. The President tells her to forget it. But she is determined to make sure these fellow Southerners will be in the Democratic column in 1968."

Help Coming To Farmers

Recent authorizations permit the Farmers Home Administration to make Economic Opportunity loans to small farmers and non-farmers in rural areas and in towns of 2,500 population or less. There are only two towns in New Madrid County that have populations over 2,500; New Madrid and Portageville.

Some of the purposes for which these loans have been made are:

1. Irrigation for 1/4 acre tomatoes.
2. Purchase stitching machines for upholstery shop.
3. Purchase plumbing equipment to assist in improving plumbing service.
4. Truck to haul labor.
5. Remodel house to take in roomers.
6. Building for country store.
7. Develop land on small farm.

Information about these loans may be secured from the Farmers Home Administration office in New Madrid, across the street north of the court house.

Meat Ball Tidbits

Miniature meat balls are appetizing as a party snack. Season one pound of ground beef with one teaspoon of salt and an eighth teaspoon of pepper. Mold the meat mixture around stuffed olives or pickled onions. Bake in a shallow pan in a slow oven (300° F.) 20 minutes. Serve with heated barbecue sauce. Yield: 40 meat balls.

Little French Girl Rules Roost

PALM BEACH, Fla. AP -- In huge houses obscured by well-manered landscaping and bougainvillea-covered walls here reside the reigning queens of international society.

In a tiny pink house with pink porcelain cats, a pink lily pond and other very pink, very feminine frou-frou lives the mite-sized, iron-willed French girl who rules over these women with almost totalitarian authority.

She is Colette, their hairdresser.

You would think she was the only hairdresser in miles, the way influential friends must get you in, and how you must mind your manners if you expect to be permitted to return.

Once it is reported the Duchess of Windsor begged Colette to pardon a friend banned from the pink - curtained stalls with their glass-domed hairdryers.

"Ne-vaire!" said the pretty refugee with a charming accent. Since the duchess, along with former Palm Beach queen Dolly O'Brien, helped establish her here 18 winters ago, it pained Colette deeply to refuse.

"But it was a matter of principle and she understood."

The famous Kennedy women, Marjorie Merriwether Post, actress Dina Merrill, Jane Wrightsman -- in fact, almost all the women on the international best-dressed lists make their ways to the tiny pink house.

Inevitably hair stylists attracting big name clientele blossom into big salons with big publicity campaigns and big prices. Colette shuns all this because, "I don't want just anybody walking in off the streets." And she fears growing big and impersonal.

In other words, she is a happy woman the way she is - 40-ish and beautiful with dimples, mischevious black eyes, lustrous black hair, and single. "I have always enjoyed being in love but I have never thought I would enjoy being married," she says.

The third time a customer is a little tardy for her appointment she must buy champagne for the house. Sometimes the treat is on Colette. In her kitchen upstairs with the gaily painted pots and pans given her by Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her sister, Lee Radziwill, the French miss stirs up some delectable cuisine to go with the bubble-water.

Hearnes Points Way For Swift Action In House

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- Comment varied today on Gov. Warren E. Hearnes; special message prodding the House and Senate into swifter action on administration bills.

Rep. Mel Carnahan, D-Phelps County, House majority leader, said he thought the speech was "very helpful in giving us some direction and priorities in the legislative work ahead."

The minority leader, Rep. Ronald M. Belt, Macon County, said he had some reservations.

He said he was in full agreement on reapportionment, conflict of interest and civil rights. He questioned the governor's proposal to add another $10 million in funds for public schools -- "I don't know where they're planning to get the money."

Farm Bureau Outlook Meeting Set For May 7

A Farm Bureau Spring Survey and Market Outlook meeting will be held at the Sikeston Public Library, Sikeston, Missouri on May 7, starting at 8 P.M.

The purpose of this meeting is to present as much current information and economic information as is possible to know at this time regarding the outlook for livestock prices and feed grain prices for the spring and summer of 1965.

Assisting with the meetings will be a representative of the Economics Department of the Missouri College of Agriculture and the Agriculture Extension Service. These economists have valuable information for livestock producers and can present it in understandable capsule form.

The producers Livestock Marketing Association, National Stock Yards, Illinois, makes a market intention survey in the early spring and this information is put together and analyzed by producer marketing groups, on how producers in the St. Louis market territory indicate they will market their beef cattle, hogs and sheep from April through September. This survey has proven very valuable to livestock producers in the past and no doubt will be of value to all livestock producers for 1965.

A representative of the producer agencies will explain this survey material to all people who attend. It is also possible that a copy of the survey material can be made available to those in attendance.

The kind of markets that will give the livestock producer the highest possible income will be discussed as part of this Spring Survey and Market outlook meeting.

E. M. Woods, Director of Livestock and Wool Marketing, Missouri Farm Bureau, urges all livestock producers to attend this meeting.

Many Blind Persons Make Good Employees

The Ozark Association of the Blind has as one of its main objectives the improvement of employment conditions for the blind of this area. Progress has been made along this line in the past twenty years, but in comparison to the existing need, this is merely a beginning. Far too few employers are aware of the fact that blind people are little more than helpless, and just as few realize that there are jobs in factories, plants and offices which do not require sight for their successful performance. In this article I shall give you an idea of the places in private industry being filled by blind persons, together with a brief explanation as to why this is possible.

First, it is necessary that we consider blind people not as a group of persons having general characteristics, but as individuals possessing all the varied interests and abilities of human nature. There are many blind people with other handicaps which, though they are much less obvious than blindness, make competing with sighted persons out of the question. In this article we are dealing with well-adjusted blind persons who have better than average intelligence, a certain amount of manual dexterity, and a genuine interest in their jobs. They have simply lost their sight. It should be pointed out that as a rule a blind person who is successfully taking his place with sighted employees has the intelligence which, if he had normal vision, would enable him to do work of a much higher caliber. Thus, the employee is paying for the deficiency, the employer is getting a bargain.

Next, we must realize that while sight is necessary for the performance of many tasks, there are innumerable operations both at home and at work for which sight is simply a convenience. Persons possessing this marvelous faculty use it not only when necessary, but whenever possible, and quite reasonably could not be expected to distinguish the extent of its necessity. It is hoped that the records established by blind persons as employees and professional people, together with the good will, co-operation and spirit of daring on the part of our sighted and more far-seeing fellow citizens, will do much to help our organization realize its objective. And now for the records.

Prior to World War II, with the exception of the sheltered workshops, jobs for blind people were practically nonexistent. Then came the war, bringing with it a labor shortage so acute that blind men and women were hired by the hundreds. We filled jobs in factories, defense plants and offices in a manner so creditable as to prove beyond doubt that blind persons can, under favorable conditions, compete successfully with sighted workers when given tasks which do not require sight. Many are still employed in positions acquired at this time.

Now we have job - training programs, but there are innumerable operations in plants and offices which merely require a brief explanation or demonstration, in order for the blind employee to comprehend and adequately perform them. Blind people are now working with sighted employees in such diversified occupations as medical secretaries, stenographers, switchboard operators, darkroom technicians, assemblers, packers and industrial machine operators, to mention only a few. Our nation's atomic energy program employs both blind chemists and blind physicists.

Many professions are successfully practiced by blind persons, especially teaching and law. There are many blind attorneys throughout the country, as well as teachers in elementary schools, high schools and colleges.

Among the employed blind members of the Ozark Association we can boast a worker in an industrial plant; manager and operator of a snack bar in a garment factory; editors of a magazine in Braille and on tape; managers of a tape library for the blind; owner and operator of a confectionery; radio dispatchers for law enforcement agencies and a taxi stand; home teacher of the blind, and a police judge. Despite this list of gainfully employed members, there are in this area a number of qualified blind people who are desirous of obtaining employment. If any employer reading this article has a job opening which can be filled by a person without sight, please contact Ozark Association of the Blind headquarters, 275 Jefferson Street, Ste. Genevieve.

Statistics show that among blind employees accidents are fewer, attendance records are better, and production rates are higher. So, hiring a blind person is not a benevolent act, but a piece of good business.

To conclude, let us bear in mind that blind people are alike only in their disability; abilities are the explanations for success. In our abilities we differ just as sighted people differ. When the time comes that the public, and most especially employers, realize that wherein one blind person failed, another one might succeed, then a great victory will have been won. Another fervent hope is that the interest, understanding and co-operation which prompted this beginning of industrial opportunities for the blind will grow, until securing employment is no longer our major problem.

Q—How prolific an eater is the elephant?

A—The elephant, a strict vegetarian, must feed almost constantly to support its enormous body; its daily requirements are about a quarter of a ton of green fodder—or about 150 pounds of hay—and 50 gallons of water.

Streisand Shows Talents In One Hour

NEW YORK AP -- Television audiences had an hour-long introduction Wednesday night to the current singing sensation, Barbra Streisand, at 23 the star of a Broadway hit.

CBS' "My Name is Barbra" was a flashy and imaginative demonstration of her talents, literally a one-woman show in which she sang, by actual count, 25 songs, engaged in an outrageous spoof of the high fashion business and even tried a comedy monologue.

We met many different Streisands in modds ranging from serious to silly.

She has an exciting voice, a highly individual style, interesting looks and a glossy sophistication of style that may be a little hard to take by music conservatives who prefer "Lover Come Back to Me" sung as Sigmund Romberg wrote it.

The sleek production of the program was reminiscent of that which surrounded Judy Garland in her earlier specials. But in spite of everything, the hour seemed a little long.

ABC's "King Family" hour will continue through the summer with new programs, only to be chopped in half when the fall season starts in September.

There was a vast outpouring of sympathy notes recently when the senior member of the clan, William King Driggs, died at 79.

Driggs, a veteran vaudevillian, was the father of the six sisters and two brothers who are the parents of all the youthful Kings.

Illiteracy Being Fought In Mexico

MEXICO CITY AP -- Mexico's nationwide "revolution through education" is being pushed hard by the administration, which hopes to eliminate illiteracy by 1970. Even if the goal is not reached, the drive is paying off.

Mexico spends four times as much on education as it does on defense and efforts to educate the masses are massive, although the stork is a major problem.

Illiteracy, running almost 80 per cent of the population at one time, is down to around 32 per cent. But Mexico's population has jumped from 15 million to around 40 million in half a century, and is growing at the rate of a million a year. So the percentage looks good, but the actual numbers don't.

Consequently, Prof. Ramon Bonfil, newly appointed director of the government's anti-illiteracy campaign, is pushing education in all fields -- new schools, more teachers, radio and television programs, a national drive for more students, and even new teaching concepts.

Newspapers, television, radio, private industrial and fraternal groups, all are helping. School children ring doorbells looking for illiterates to enroll in a new 10-month course.

When the 1910 revolution ended, Mexican peasants wanted schools for their children almost as badly as they wanted land for themselves. President Alvaro Obregon launched Mexico's first major program for education in the early 1920s. He named Jose Vasconcelos education minister.

Vasconcelos organized missionary teachers to visit rural areas by rail, car, horseback, canoe and on foot, surveying educational and health needs and recruiting the help of rural teachers. By the end of Obregon's term in 1924 there were more than 1,000 federal rural schools operating, with about 65,000 students, despite many handicaps.

The latest figures show there are 37,576 primary city schools with 6,605,751 students, and 28,931 primary rural schools with 2,694,191 students. In addition, there are secondary schools, many universities, including the huge National University, with more than 75,000 enrolled, and other centers.

But Mexico's battle has been complicated by the tremendous increase in population, about 3.1 per cent a year. In 1930 Mexico had 16.6 million people, today an estimated 40 million.

Although the government has set up a five-year program hoping to educate all by 1970, officials acknowledge it may take a decade to provide adequate education for this ever-swelling tide of school-age children.

Hearnes Speaks To Joint Session

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes urged the Missouri Legislature Wednesday to step up action on reapportionment of the House, conflict of interest and civil rights legislation.

He also recommended an additional $10 million in state aid to public schools.

The governor's prodding came in a special message prepared for a joint session of the House and Senate.

He urged the legislators to "cut through the maze of custom and procedure to effect early deliberation of the topics pinpointed in his speech.

"I am deeply disturbed," he said, "about the lack of progress of conflict of interest legislation. The longer the delay, the greater the suspicion of our people that all is not well in state government. No legislation would do more to encourage the respect by the electorate of their public officials."

A conflict of interest bill was approved by a House committee Tuesday night but still has a long way to go."

The civil rights legislation," the governor continued, "is in better position than bills dealing with conflict of interest; however, the timetable of the former is such that one might worry that time, as in prior sessions, again will run out and we, once more, will have failed the people.

"The passage of civil rights and conflict of interest legislation I consider of prime importance—so important that if this session did not have the time to give the measures the consideration they were due, I would seriously consider submitting both measures at a special session."

The Senate has passed a proposed constitutional amendment setting House membership at 165, a gain of two seats, and providing for a bipartisan commission to handle redistricting.

"There seems to be a feeling among House members," the governor said, "that reapportioning can be effected by the House itself without the efforts of an outside bipartisan commission.

"I find no quarrel with this procedure, if it is accomplished within the purview of the recent federal court decision and is fair to both parties. However, I would recommend immediate consideration of legislation fixing the number of House members. This question should be submitted to the people for a vote as early as possible."

House Speaker Thomas D. Graham, D-Cole County, has said the House will not consider any apportionment matters until June 1 when the session has only one month left.

The governor also recommended quick action on a bill to plug a $6 million gap in the state sales tax law, caused by a recent Supreme Court decision.

Conditioned on passage of the corrective bill and a belief that the state's economy is sound and expanding, Hearnes recommended an additional $10 million for the school foundation program.

The House has passed a bill to expand the state aid formula by $24.5 million. The governor said this could be financed "by drastic cuts in the needs of other state agencies but would not be in the best interest of the state."

He called the recommendation for an extra $10 million "a start in the right direction" and said he hoped later sessions could appropriate more in order to bring teachers' salaries up to the national average.

The extra $10 million apparently would bring total school aid to $20 million more than last year. In his Jan. 13 message the governor recommended an initial $10 million increase to bring the present foundation program up to full financing for the first time.

The governor said he wanted the legislature to make a record both he and the members could be proud of.

"The next two months are critical ones," he warned.

"Let us leave no stone unturned so that, after June 30, the overwhelming majority of the citizens of the state of Missouri, in speaking of the 73rd General Assembly, will judge the session as the most productive in Missouri history."

Beef, Pork And Broilers To Be Put On Specials

Beef, pork and broiler-fryers will top the specials at meat counters of many supermarkets and neighborhood stores this weekend.

There will be abundant supplies of beef and pork roasts.

Broiler - fryers also are in good supply. Fryers will be a particular bargain. One big Eastern supermarket chain is offering them at 27 cents a pound, down 12 cents from last week.

The outlook is for lower supplies of beef and pork. The number of cattle on feed April 1 was 2 per cent fewer than a year earlier. An 8 to 10 per cent decline in pork production is expected.

Veal and broiler output continue to outstrip last year at this season.

Other good main dish buys will be canned pink salmon, fish sticks and fish portions.

Produce counters will be laden with plenty of carrots, celery, corn, lettuce, onions, potatoes, radishes and spinach.

Fruit selections will include apples, cantaloupes, grapefruit, oranges and strawberries.

The price of orange juice has been reduced this month because of larger-than-expected orange production. Florida's 1964-65 crop totals 85.2 million boxes, 46 per cent above last season.

In the Northeast, meat shoppers will find a wide assortment of beef round and boneless chuck roasts and chuck steaks and pork loin roasts and canned and smoked hams.

The State Reorganization Commission of Missouri

REPORTING AND PRINTING (Con't.)

98. Recommendation:

That the Purchasing Agent take the initiative in the execution of the provisions of the printing law, which direct him to determine the form, style, general format, number of pages and copies of reports, and do some editing. All reports should be of uniform dimensions.

While the Purchasing Agent has developed and published a guide for printing in accordance with the statutes, the guidelines generally pertain to procurement of printed material from commercial printers. The 1965 Commission reemphasizes this 1955 recommendation by calling attention to the statutory provisions pertaining to the form, style, general appearance of printing, number of copies ordered, and editing.

There is no evidence of efforts to enforce prepared standards for state reporting and printing in the areas mentioned above. Exercising the responsibility and authority granted by the existing statutes could provide the standardization of printing form and style, and could improve the format and contents of all state printing. Information could be consolidated, and unnecessary materials could be eliminated. The results from enforcing the existing responsibility could reduce printing costs.

FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

99. Recommendation:

That the State Auditor in cooperation with the Comptroller, under present statutory authority, establish a set of expenditure accounts to be used by all agencies, and that he submit to all departments an accounts manual showing the kinds of expenditures to be included in each account.

The 1965 Commission found only recent attempts to establish a uniform accounting system that would associate exact costs with specific activities or programs. Examples of the present system's inability to identify costs of activities or services follow:

(1) there is no systematic accounting for the cost of operating the public buildings in Jefferson City, therefore, agencies are not encouraged to use space efficiently;

(2) the total rental for all data processing equipment was found only after considerable time was spent locating and tabulating invoices, which had been filed merely as "operations"; and

(3) most agencies (the Department of Corrections is a laudable exception) do not keep surety bond registers, records of the bond custodian, or accounts that reflect the total bonding premium.

These examples are cited to demonstrate the lack of accounting information. A better accounting system would expedite the preparation of budgets, setting appropriations, and administrative decisions.

The Comptroller has prepared a chart of accounts that will help provide accurate cost analyses, however, there is no provision for identifying costs of some important departmental activities such as data processing. Section 29.180, RSMo 1959, allows the State Auditor the prerogative of prescribing the state's accounting system. When the initiative for prescribing the state's accounting system is assumed by the Comptroller, he should have the written approval of the State Auditor.

100. Recommendation:

That a study be made to determine whether or not the numerous special funds now maintained in the state should be consolidated.

During the month of February, 1963, state moneys were distributed to 120 separate funds. In February, 1964, moneys went to 130 separate funds. The concept of many separate funds has been inherited from 18th century governmental accounting practices. Modern accounting techniques coupled with high-speed, accurate accounting equipment tend to make the "fund concept" obsolete. There are good reasons for directing Missouri's accounting practices toward the use of one general revenue fund supported by accounts reflecting dedicated receipts or predetermined expenditures.

Missouri's long use of dedicated funds may have developed some funds that cannot be immediately eliminated without inconvenience or some interim provisions. In order to minimize problems encountered in eliminating all dedicated funds, except the general revenue fund, the 1965 Commission recommends a detailed study of each fund to determine the feasibility of eliminating that fund; the reason for the fund's dedication; and any special problems expected, if the fund were eliminated.

Mississippi Pounds Weakened Dykes In Ill.

The relentless Mississippi River pounded weakened dikes in the Quad Cities area of Illinois and Iowa today. Downriver communities braced for the churning floods.

Waters rolled through the streets of Rock Island, Moline and East Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa—the Quad Cities. Volunteers, hundreds of them children and teen-agers, battled to shore up dikes which burst in spots intermittently.

As the Mississippi headed toward a predicted crest of 22.5 in the Quad Cities area, cities downstream received the first attack of floodwaters that began when the snows of Minnesota started melting weeks ago.

In Hannibal, Mo., the river stage today was 24 feet — 8 feet above flood stage — and still rising. Police said 18 to 20 inches of water covered some streets.

Police and National Guardsmen patroled the downtown area against looters. The city of 20,000 has no levee.

The immediate danger remained in the Quad Cities, with a population of more than 270,000.

The Mississippi, rampaging on its worst flood in history, crested at 24.7 feet, nearly 9 feet above flood stage, in the Clinton, Iowa -- Fulton, Ill., area Tuesday, then surged on to pound the Quad Cities.

The Red Cross has estimated that 3,000 are homeless in Illinois and the same number in Iowa. Damage estimates ranged into the millions. Both states have been designated disaster areas by President Johnson.

Fulton, a community of 3,800 population across the river from Clinton, was isolated by floodwaters. About 1,500 persons have been evacuated.

In Rock Island, City Manager Raymond Botch said the levees and dikes are holding, except one levee at the northern end of the business district. The river was at 22.3 feet, only .2 inch below the predicted crest. A steady rain fell during the night.

Sandbagging was stepped up in a commercial area where seepage and boils appeared behind a temporary levee. A secondary dike was thrown up.

In Davenport, part of a dike broke Tuesday night, flooding an area a block wide and eight blocks long. Workers began erecting what they called a sandbag dam.

The big worry in Moline, a city of 48,000, remained the city water plant, surrounded by floodwater. The main problem was getting enough chemicals to keep the water supply safe for consumption. Mayor James Arndt urged citizens to conserve water.

Both hospitals in Moline were storing water.

East Moline, with a population of 16,000, was relying on the Moline water plant. The East Moline plant went out some time ago.

A college student said: "If I got paid for every sandbag I've tossed since Sunday, I'd be a millionaire."

Behold, I make all things new—(Rev. 21:5)

Habits are just the customary ways of doing things. We all want to have good, constructive habits. We do not need to be bound to destructive habits, but unless we know the secret of ridding ourselves of them, we have a hard time in doing so. Seek God's help in changing our way of life and substitute better and more desirable patterns of behavior.

Howard Grant Is Responsible For Setting Of Art League Exhibit

Howard Grant, a local architect and resident of Sikeston for twelve years, who was responsible for the excellent design of the Festival Art Exhibit last Spring, is presently readying an equally beautiful setting for the Art League Exhibit at the Holiday Inn, May 1 and 2. When the show is at last open to the public at 10 a.m., May 1, the fine work entered by exhibiting artists will be shown at it's best advantage. The many hours of planning, constructing and arranging will then be obvious. Art shows don't just spring forth like mushrooms, as we sometime believe. It takes a handful of hard-working, quick - thinking people who are willing to sacrifice other activities and pleasures to concentrate on the job at hand. Of these, Howard Grant tops the list. Then the shows come, but only after many thoughtful hours and hard work.

Mr. Grant has had helpers in the last few weeks. Some members of the Art League have painted and helped with the finishing touches. Even children, especially John, Ricky, and Toby Grant, true sons of their creative father, have shown what they are able to accomplish with a can of paint, a brush and a will to help.

Howard, himself, is quite a good artist, and should be exhibiting in the show. But this year his time has been so occupied with thoughts of how best to present the Festival Exhibit, that he has had no time to sketch and paint. So we'll forfeit the pleasure of seeing this portion of his many-faceted talent, but the beauty and freshness of Spring in the show's garden setting will compensate our loss. Everyone visiting the Exhibit will surely join the Art League members in saying H. G. . . . .He's great!

Eastern Star Has Meeting

Sikeston Chapter Number 137, Order of Eastern Star met Thursday evening, April 22, in the Masonic Temple with Mrs. George Collier, Worthy Matron, presiding.

The opening Ode was sung and the Flag of the United States was borne to the East and all united in the pledge of Allegiance.

Visitors were present from Commerce and Morley Chapters.

Mrs. Myrtle Carrington was received into the Chapter by initiation and welcomed by the members.

Mrs. Mildred Chartreau reported that the Traveling Basket had arrived at her home.

Walter Rayburn told about the enjoyable party the Charleston Chapter had for Mrs. Lela Maitland, District Deputy.

The Worthy Matron announced that Harmon Howard of Bloomfield, father of Mrs. Lloyd Reed, the Conductress had died Thursday morning. Glenn Keller has undergone surgery at Barnes Hospital.

The party night for the District Deputy, Mrs. Lela Maitland, will be held May 13.

Mrs. Wade Malcolm reminded the members of the pot-luck supper of the Candace Green Eastern Star Club to be April 30 at 6:30 p.m. in the Temple. Entertainment will be furnished by Puxico, Charleston and Illmo Chapters. All members of the Order of Eastern Star are invited to bring a dish and spend an enjoyable evening.

An Easter program was presented after the meeting using Easter lilies and the Cross. Mrs. Merle Canedy sang "Beneath the Cross of Jesus."

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Elsie Collier, Mrs. L. E. Webb, Mrs. Lela Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Morris, and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Boyer.

Amish Group Does It The Right Way

SHIPSHEWANA, Ind. AP -- A barn a day has become the byword of scores of Amish and Mennonite volunteers who streamed into northern Indiana to aid victims of Palm Sunday tornadoes.

Amish around Lancaster, Pa., organized a 15-man force to come to Amish communities in Lagrange, Elkhart and St. Joseph counties to repair and replace homes and farm buildings.

The first group of 50 arrived this week and started the priority work of rebuilding the huge, two - story barns characteristic of the sect. An advance survey crew set the goal of one barn restored a day.

Other volunteers of both the Amish and Mennonite faiths have come from Illinois, Iowa, Ohio, Michigan, Virginia, Maryland and Canada.

Identified by their strict codes of conduct and plain dress, followers frown on modern labor-saving machinery. Nevertheless, the complete devastation in some communities has lessened compliance. The bearded volunteers are manning power saws to get the job done more quickly. They welcome the friendly neighbor farmer who supplies a bulldozer.

The Lancaster volunteers are living with Amish families who escaped the vicious storms that left 134 persons dead and hundreds injured in Indiana. They stay through the week, returning home on Friday. Leaders plan to shuttle alternating groups of about 50 workers by bus each week until the reconstruction is complete.

The Amish do not subscribe to commercial insurance institutions, but maintain their own, based mainly on muscle. Families contribute small sums to a central committee for purchasing supplies when destruction hits. The principal ingredient is the labor which is volunteered.

Another relief agency is the Mennonite Disaster Service. Its volunteers put in 6,342 man days of labor in the first nine days after the April 11 disaster. They have worked on about 200 houses and farms.

Space Requirement

No matter who does the carving, he or she will need plenty of room! There's elbow room, room on the table as well as room on the platter which holds the roast. If there are any garnishes on the side of the carver where he works, it might be a good idea to remove these to a small plate before he starts.

Have the second helpings carved as they're needed. Sliced meat cools quickly, but the whole roast does not. What's more, he who carves will have an opportunity to eat after the first round of serving.

Investment Clubs Meeting Regular

CHICAGO AP -- An office without an investment club is like a home without a hearth.

Our office has one and, from the viewpoint of this nonmember, the changes it has wrought are awesome. Fellows who used to worry only about the White Sox now are concerned with White Motors. Some who had trouble getting enough scratch together to pay the monthly light bill are strong for utilities. One, who never has been on a train in his life, wants to convert some of the chemicals to rails.

Meetings of the club rotate from home to home. In this respect the club replaces the social groups of the 1930s, those potluck buffet affairs where couples get together for penny ante poker and, if lucky, the big winners went home with an extra 80 cents.

Investment clubs pool their resources in order to make stock market plunges. At the meetings they discuss stocks or hear lectures on the market from authorities - or from each other.

Often the clubs are sponsored by brokerage firms, which, of course, have an interest in promoting securities trading.

When our office club was being organized, one of the promoters invited me to join.

"I am paying tuition to three schools, a university and two high schools," I said. "One has to have non-earmarked money to be in your club.

"Tell you what I'll do though, I'll tout you just like the boys do at Arlington Park. I'll give you a good one now and then, and you members can cut me into your pot."

The club promoter didn't care much for the idea, but did not close the door on it. "What do you suggest we buy?" he asked.

"Not so fast," I replied. "I have to study this thing out; besides, why do you assume 'buy'? I may recommend 'sell'."

One of my neighbors works full time as a broker. Occasionally we meet on the commuter train and talk markets. He is very glib with me because he knows I have nothing with which to win or lose.

A few days later I sought out the club promoter at the water fountain. "I have one for you," I said, naming an issue.

In a flash he had the markets section of the newspaper out of his hip pocket and was scanning the stock lists. The issue was selling at 30 1/2.

"Why?" the promoter challenged. "What's the price-earnings ratio? What's the growth potential? Is the yield adequate and the dividend well protected? Has management budged sufficiently for product research."

"Wait a minute," I cut him off. "When someone gives you a horse at Arlington, do you start right in asking the horse's blood pressure, size of his shoes, whether the jockey has a high school diploma, et cetera?

"Of course you don't, you just take it or leave it. I'm giving you one and you can take it or leave it."

He left it and walked away. We never have talked market again.

Long Urges Senate Committee To Solve Floodway Problem

United States Senator Edward V. Long (D.-Mo.) today urged the Senate Committee on Public Works to achieve a solution to the problem created by excessive local participation requirements in a proposed improvement of the Birds Point-New Madrid Floodway on the Mississippi River.

The Corps of Engineers proposes to raise the levee protecting the floodway, but wants the local levee district to obtain modified flowage easements on some 130,000 acres of land in the floodway area. Levee district officials feel this requirement is an unfair burden on floodway landowners. Estimated cost of the modified easements is $3,500,000.

"Mr. Chairman, for the Levee District to obtain flowage easements requested by the Corps as local participation in this project would be a well-nigh impossible task. Landowners in the area are hardly willing to grant further property rights that would allow the destruction of their valuable holdings in time of high water," said Senator Long in a statement submitted to the Committee.

The levee improvement is a part of authorization called for in the Army Corps of Engineers Mississippi River and Tributaries Review Report, currently under consideration by the Senate Public Works Committee. The Review Report is expected to receive authorization in the present session of Congress.

"Mr. Chairman, the Senate Committee on Public Works has already adopted a resolution requesting the Chief of Engineers to review the report relative to the New Madrid Floodway project," Senator Long said.

"I would like to urge that the Committee make every effort to achieve a satisfactory solution to the serious situation posed by local participation requirements in the Review Report with respect to improvement measures on the New Madrid Floodway."

MARINES

at arranging a cease-fire.

On Tuesday, 1,172 Americans were evacuated by helicopter and landing craft at Haina, though not without a scare. A band of 200 - 300 machinegun-armed civilians accosted the Americans while they were waiting at the Emgajador Hotel. They finally left without hurting the refugees.

Still there are about 1,000 Americans in the city and 1,000 in the countryside. Most of those who have been evacuated so far are tourists, transients and dependents of U.S. officials.

Dominican armored forces crossed the bridge into the capital. From another direction 1,000 Dominican army troops were fighting through the city from block to block.

Johnson ordered the Marines ashore during a 5-6 p.m. meeting at his White House office Wednesday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Johnson was told that 300 more Americans had assembled on the Polo Grounds asking for evacuation. Also, the local police chief, identified as Des Perdal, and the noninsurgents' second provisional government had said they could not guarantee the safety of the Americans or of the American Embassy, which had been machine-gunned.

The President hurriedly called in congressional leaders of both parties to tell them of his decision. Some of the Republicans had been at a dinner honoring Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. Dirksen was among those at the White House session. He said the legislators supported Johnson in whatever action is necessary to protect U.S. citizens.

Going on the air, Johnson announced to the American people his decision to send in the Marines.

Past periods of frequent U.S. intervention are still fresh in the minds of many Latin Americans. U.S. Marines occupied Santo Domingo in 1916-24. They were in Nicaragua in 1927-33.

This time Washington is stressing hands - off the domestic political situation in Santo Domingo, saying its sole aim is to protect the lives of Americans and other foreign nationals. The French have sent a nonmilitary ship to evacuate their citizens and others have asked for U. S. help.

The 400 Marines were reported to have gone from the Boxer to the Polo Grounds, a convenient wayside point between Santo Domingo and Haina, by helicopter. They consisted of two rifle companies and a helicopter squadron.

Marine Col. W E. Daugherty is in command of the Marine expenditionary unit. Washington officials said the commander on the spot was being given discretion on just how to deploy his forces to meet the situation.

Evacuees were being taken to San Juan, P. R.

What degree of influence the Communists are exerting amid the anarchy is still being studied by U. S. authorities. Leaders of three Communist groups were reported active.

When asked by a committee member why the House bill was being promoted in the light of apparent Senate defeat, Beckerle replied: "We feel it will have more impact on the Senate if it passes the House." RA co-signer, Rep. Kenneth L. Growney, D - Jackson County, defended the referendum provision. He said "it's the best way of settling this issue once and for all."

The committee chairman, Rep. W. D. Hibler, D-Chariton County, asked Growney if he thought the measure would be brought up again if defeated at the polls.

Growney said he was confident it would pass, but if it failed he thought supporters would be satisfied the measure had gotten a fair trial.

Two years ago the legislature passed a law raising maximum weights for the largest trucks to 73,280 pounds. It contained a "bridge formula" to govern weights on individual axles.

Webster said the rules were changed after the law became effective, thus preventing some trucks from operating legally in Missouri.

Defending Snider, Sen. William B. Waters, D-Liberty, read a letter in which the chief engineer cited engineering factors to support his position. Snider charged the bill would remove all control over interior axles on tandem trucks and cause overstressing on highway bridges.

A Senate committee approved two bills recommended by the "Little Hoover" commission. One would reorganize the State Department of Revenue along more businesslike lines. The other would set up a central management agency for state departments under the state comptroller.

The committee took no action on a bill to refund a half cent of the three-cent sales tax to the cities where the tax is collected -- at a cost in state revenue of about $34.6 million a year.

Sen. Omer H. Avery, D-Troy, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, said such a measure would require an increase in the sales tax.

The bill is given no chance of passage - even by its sponsor, Sen. James M. Taylor, R-Raytown.

The Senate Education Committee deferred action on a House - passed bill to set up branches of the University of Missouri in St. Joseph and Joplin as four-year colleges.

Sen. Richard M. Webster, R-Carthage, has proposed that the schools be made branches of Southwest State College at Springfield and Northwest State at Maryville, instead.

Rep. Robert E. Young, R-Jasper County, said he did not favor such fragmentation. But if such a change is necessary to get the bill passed, he suggested it be attached to the House bill as a tactical maneuver.

A similar proposal was vetoed by Gov. John M. Dalton two years ago as premature.

The tremor was felt from the coast to eastern Washington and from Oregon into British Columbia.

At Ellensburg, 100 miles east of Seattle, streets were jammed with people who fled from downtown buildings. Some windows were broken and walls cracked.

At Aberdeen, on the coast, the quake was described as a rolling series of three shocks that caused buildings to sway. Most were evacuated.

In Seattle, the two-story concrete Seattle Times Building jiggled like an electric vibrator. Plaster sifted down in the Associated Press rooms and Teletype printers stopped briefly. Telephone service also was interrupted for a few moments.

Murlin Spencer, Seattle bureau chief who directed coverage of the historic March 27, 1964 earthquake in Alaska, said the shock "has the feel of the second quake which hit Anchorage exactly one week after the first destructive one."

The second Alaska quake was rated at an intensity above 7 on the Richter scale.

A Seattle woman was reported to have suffered a heart attack when the temblor knocked down the trolley of the electric transit bus on which she was riding.

Eastbound lanes on a drawbridge over the Duwamish Waterway in Seattle were closed to all traffic except transit coaches because of a drop in the road level.

Women prisoners in Seattle's City Jail began screaming, "Let us out of here," as the building shook.

In Tacoma, 30 miles to the south, one of the main downtown streets, Pacific Avenue, was littered with bricks and debris.

At Everett, 26 miles north, the state patrol radio tower toppled, streets buckled and some water lines broke. Boulders came rolling down onto the Stevens Pass Highway from Mt. Persis east of Everett, causing some damage.

The date palm is perhaps the oldest cultivated tree known to history.

previous marriage, said the girls "dearly love him. That's the man I know."

Fleming marveled at what has become a story-like battle to keep him from returning to Folsom, where he was serving a sentence of one-year-to-life for robbery. He had been in prison for 30 months.

After his escape, he began a year-long journey through Nevada, Idaho, Canada, West Virginia, Kentucky and finally to Oklahoma. He obtained an Oklahoma driver's license, using the name "Jim Minner," a Social Security card, a fishing license, and then a marriage license for his wedding in July 1964. He came to Chandler in September.

After his true identity was disclosed, 100 Chandler residents signed a petition attesting to his good character and asked clemency from California authorities.

Fleming was released in custody of George Totten, his employer, and Curtis Walker, a minister who posed $2,500 bond.

Now he awaits Oklahoma Gov. Henry Bellmon's action on California's request that he be returned.

"I know that legally I've got no hope," Fleming said. "I hope Gov. Bellmon will give me a break. I put him on a spot, I know.

Australia Preparing To Send Army Troops

CANBERRA, Australia AP -- Australia is preparing to send up to 800 army troops to South Viet Nam for combat duty with U. S. and South Vietnamese forces, government sources reported today.

The sources said the Cabinet has approved sending the battalion - sized unit and Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies may make a statement later in the day. There was no indication how soon the troops may leave.

An Australian contingent of 800 men would be the second largest unit from any of America's allies in South Viet Nam. South Korea has 2,000 troops there, but they are primarily a work force to build and repair roads, bridges and railways.

Government sources said the decision to send Australian combat forces is not a result of the visit to Canberra last week by U. S. presidential envoy Henry Cabot Lodge. The Australian Cabinet has considered the idea of a more positive involvement in Viet Nam for some time before Lodge's visit, the sources said.

Lodge is touring friendly Far Eastern and Pacific nations to drum up support for U. S. policy in Viet Nam.

Australia already has in South Viet Nam about 100 jungle combat advisers and a Royal Australian Air Force transport unit.

The jungle advisers, like their U.S. counterparts, are not classified as combat troops. But they have been in combat areas for months and have suffered casualties in action, including one killed.

The U. S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, Maxwell D. Taylor, told Italian newsmen earlier this month that "aside from the United States, the nationals of supporting nations in South Viet Nam number over 3,000." He said 37 nations have provided support or are about to give support to South Viet Nam.

The Sydney Sun said New Zealand is reported also to have agreed to provide further military aid to South Viet Nam. The newspaper said "observers believe that the underlying aim of the Australian and New Zealand decisions will be to influence Japan and the Philippines to give greater direct aid to the American cause in the Viet Nam struggle."

Beauty Queen Barred From Senior Prom

She wore a bathing suit in part of the competition in violation of rules at Mount St. Mary's Academy, the Roman Catholic high school she attends.

Sister Consilli, school principal, said Wednesday Margaret was "fully aware" of the rules. Sister Concilli said the prohibition against beauty contests is "observed scrupulously."

The petitions were signed by almost 1,000 persons.

The games are scheduled Friday and Saturday in Kiel Auditorium, and are the last in a tour of the United States by the Russian basketball team.

Mrs. Susan Gaul said the petitions were signed by residents of the St. Louis metropolitan area. She presented them. The petitions asked "all citizens to express their regret that an invitation was sent to representatives of a system of government so completely ... wrong."

Ben Kerner, owner of the St. Louis Hawks and sponsor of the games, said the petition would have no effect on the games. "They will be played," he said.

Black Bear Tracks Found At New Florence, Mo.

NEW FLORENCE, Mo. AP -- State conservation agents have confirmed the tracks found in a woods on the Carl Johnson farm southwest of New Florence were made by a black bear -- and a big one.

Eugene Baldwin, Audrain county conservation agent, and Pearly Cassidy, Monroe County conservation agent, examined the tracks Wednesday and estimated they were made by a bear who weighed about 200 pounds and must have been about six feet long.

Denver O. Camden, northeast Missouri conservation agent supervisor at Macon, made casts of the tracks and said they were the first verified signs of a black bear in Missouri since one was killed in southeast Missouri in 1959 on the Madison-Iron County line.

In 1960, the killing of black bears was prohibited on grounds they practically were extinct. The conservation agents said they are not dangerous but it's prudent to keep away from them.

Jaycees To Sponser Horse Show

Paul Slinkerd, President of the Sikeston Junior Chamber of Commerce, announced today the appointment of Danny Gardner as Chairman of the First Annual Sikeston Jaycee Western Horse Show. The event, first of its kind to be sponsored by the Sikeston Jaycees, will be held on May 9, 1965, at 2:00 o'clock p.m. (Central Daylight Time) at the Rodeo Grounds at Sikeston, Missouri.

Riders and exhibitors from the five-state area are expected to compete in the following events: Pony, Western Pleasure, Weaving Wands, Country Pleasure, Barrel Race, Pole Bending, Pick-up Race, Flag Race, Speed Race, Pair Race.

The show, Mr. Slinkerd announced, will be of the Jack-Pot variety with contestants competing for 40%, 30%, 20% and 10% prize money. The first horse show was purposely scheduled for Mother's Day to afford riders and their families an opportunity to provide an exciting afternoon for Mom.

Cpl. Lonnie R. Cole

IWAKUNI, JAPAN (FHTNC) April 14 -- Marine Lance Corporal Lonnie R. Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Cole of 137 Marion St., Sikeston, Mo., was one of the first Americans ever invited to participate in the Iwakuni Castle Festival, while serving with Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron, First Marine Aircraft Wing at Iwakuni, Japan.

The nearly month-long festival is conducted annually by the city to commemorate the 364 years when Japan was ruled by the fuedal system. During the festival Cole was dressed in a Kashimo (robe) and Kasa (hat) signifying the Samurai, the elite warrior class of 300 years ago.

A graduate of Sikeston High School, he entered the service in February 1963.

Gold Treasure Found Off Florida West Coast

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. AP -- A weekend treasure hunter says he has discovered a sunken Spanish galleon off the Florida west coast in shallow water.

Some coins, two solid gold statues, silver bars and silver-hilted swords were stored in a St. Petersburg bank after two state agents catalogued them Monday.

"The state has begun an investigation to check their authenticity," agent Philip Tibedeau said. He said he could not estimate the treasure's value.

John Charles Sykes, 31, made the discovery. He said what he had already salvaged was worth about $50,000 to $75,000 and that he had not begun to work the hulk in earnest.

"It's worth what somebody will pay you," said Sykes, an architectural engineer. "We have been offered $10,000 apiece for the statues."

Sykes said he ran across the wreck by accident more than a year ago.

Police Find Get Away Car Used By Bank Robbers

DIAMOND, Mo. AP -- The discovery of an abandoned car near Granby, Mo., is the last trace officers have turned up in their hunt for two men who got nearly $1,000 in a stickup Wednesday at the Bank of Diamond.

Mrs. Lois Brookshire, 79-year-old president of the bank, and T. B. Douthitt, the cashier, persuaded them the time lock on the vault would not open until 4 p.m.; so the robbers scooped all the coins and bills they could find into a pillow case and fled.

"I didn't get scared," Mrs. Brookshire said. "But it took me by surprise. I got nervous."

The bank has been held up three times in recent years.

Severe Earthquake In Pacific Northwest

SEATTLE AP -- A major earthquake hit the Pacific Northwest at 8:29 a.m. PDT today, causing widespread damage and one or more deaths.

The first confirmed fatality was in Seattle, where Adolphus Lewis, age undetermined, was struck by debris.

There were unconfirmed reports of two or three others killed in Seattle.

There were scores of injuries, many in Seattle from falling debris as some brick facing or older buildings toppled into the street.

The quake, rated at an intensity of more than 7 on the Richter scale, was felt from Coos Bay, on the Oregon coast, to southern British Columbia and east as far as Idaho.

The earthquake belt was at least 60 miles long, from north to south, and 40 miles wide.

Alaska points reported it was not felt there.

The tremor did structural damage in half a dozen cities and knocked out some hydro-electric circuits at the giant Grand Coulee Dam in northeast Washington.

Most damage appeared to be limited to cracked plaster, broken windows and dishes, and snapped wires.

The University of Washington seismologist said the quake was so strong it knocked the needle off the seismograph and he was unable to get a reading.

At Victoria, B. C., the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory said the same thing happened there.

At Olympia, the State Capitol Buildings shook for nearly a minute and state employes ran into the open.

The shock appeared to be worse than one which severely damaged the legislative buildings in 1949.

Pay For No Effort Would Be Nice, But Wrong

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- House members want to get a full two years' pay whether they're still in office after July 15 or not.

The House advanced such a bill Wednesday with no opposition. If it gets by the House, the Senate and the governor's veto power, it would permit members to get the final $7,200 of their two-year $9,600 pay when it becomes law Oct. 13.

The stickler is that under federal court orders to reapportion or else, the current legislature is operating on a "de facto" basis. If it fails to redistrict, the members presumably would be without jobs as of July 15, when the session is adjourned automatically.

Earlier the Senate got into a ruckus over a bill to write new truck axle spacing requirements into the truck weight law. The bill was passed and sent to the House, 24-6, after a long hassle.

Sen. Richard M. Webster, R-Carthage, called the chief engineer of the Highway Department, M. J. Snider, "a thin skinned cry baby." He charged Snider the axle spacing rules by agreement with two lobbyists and without consulting legislators.

Webster named the lobbyist as John R. Hahn of the Missouri Oil Jobbers Association and Ursel Lewellen of the Missouri Bus and Truck As-

House Committee Voted On Bill To Set Up Four Year Term For Members

JEFFERSON CITY AP--The House Apportionment Committee turned in a proposed constitutional amendment today that would set up a House of 175 members serving four-year terms.

The action came the day after Gov. Warren E. Hearnes urged the House to hurry up with the redistricting problem. Rep. Norbert Jasper, D-County, committee chairman, said the proposal might be changed on the House floor but the committee thought the House ought to get started solving its apportionment problem.

Federal courts have ordered immediate action to redistrict the House on a one man-one vote basis.

Jasper said he hoped to make the proposal a specific order of business next week so action on it could move as swiftly as possible.

The proposed consititutional change doesn't set out a formula for aligning the districts. Jasper said that could be done by law--the system recommended by the governor.

Jasper said all 17 members of the committee present voted for the substitute proposal.

Under it, after the districts are set up, the candidates in odd-numbered districts would campaign for four-year terms and those in even-numbered districts for two years. At the following general election those from even-numbered districts would be elected to four-year terms.

The Senate terms would remain four years. An earlier proposal would have given senators six-year terms.

Deleted from the constitution would be a provision limiting clerical help of the House to 125 persons and 75 in the Senate. Without that provision the two houses could employ as much help as they thought they needed.

One female bullfrog may lay anywhere from 18,000 to 20,000 eggs in a season, according to the Britannica Junior Encyclopaedia.

CHARLES HUMPHRIES, patrolman for the Sikeston Police Department, brought home an 18 pound gobbler the first day of the season. It took him exactly 55 minutes after the season opened. He killed one that weighed 21 pounds last year.

Neighborhood Wins Court Battle

KANSAS CITY AP -- Seven residents of a fancy neighborhood won a circuit court decision Wednesday in their battle against a $20-million plan to build a big hotel and luxury apartment houses there.

Judge Alvin C. Randall invalidated a city ordinance which changed the zoning on the tract from single-family dwellings to high-rise apartments.

The 6 1/2-acre plot is on the southwest corner of Wornall Road and Ward Parkway south of Brush Creek. The developer's plans for it included a 300-room hotel and five 20-story apartment buildings.

FOUR EMERGENCIES

Four persons were treated and dismissed from the emergency room of the Missouri Delta Community Hospital yesterday.

In other accidents over Troop E patrol area, there were five accidents with seven injuries and the one fatality. In a collision, in front of the school, at Millersville at 11:30 a.m. yesterday two persons were injured. The tests are for high school seniors planning to enter the nursing education program at SEMO State. Results are used by College officials as aids in the selection of applicants for admission to the basic nursing program, and for subsequent counseling.

Escapee Finds Hope In Terms Of Kindness

CHANDLER, Okla. AP -- Jim Fleming's friends, trying to keep him out of a California prison from which he escaped nearly two years ago, have trapped him in another prison from which there can be no escape.

The new prison has no walls and there are no guards - except Fleming himself.

"If I run again now, too many people I love and respect will get hurt," said Fleming, 32, who until late March was just another car salesman to residents of this town of 3,000 persons.

Then a Federal Bureau of Investigation poster, identifying Fleming as an escapee from the Folsom State Prison, came to the attention of Sheriff L. P. Orr. Fingerprints established the wanted man's identity.

When she recovered she said, "A change in name doesn't change a person." Mrs. Fleming, mother of two daughters--three and six years old - by a

Marines Landing In Dominican Republic

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) —Another 100 U.S. Marines were landed in the strife-torn Dominican Republic today to protect Americans, as bloody fighting engulfed Santo Domingo.

None of the some 2,000 U.S. citizens remaining in the Caribbean country have been harmed, according to the latest reports reaching Washington. Evacuation was proceeding by helicopter and ship.

Meanwhile, shooting among rival Dominican forces was reported continuing in the capital city, with at least 400 Dominican dead, 1,200 wounded, and armed mobs, up to several hundred strong, sacking and looting in residential areas.

President Johnson ordered the Marines ashore from a naval force late Wednesday, after getting word of the breakdown of local governmental authority in the Caribbean country. The Dominicans were unable to guarantee safety for the Americans, Johnson told the nation in an emergency radio-TV appearance last night.

About 400 Leathernecks landed by helicopter on the outskirts of Santo Domingo, under Johnson's order.

As of the latest count, 215 Americans had been evacuated since the Marines landed. Another 1,100 Americans were evacuated Tuesday.

In Washington, the Council of the Organization of American States (OAS) was summoned into emergency session, at U.S. request, to get a report on the action and to consider possible peace making efforts to end the bloody civil war.

U.S. officials said the United States was taking no sides in the political turmoil engulfing the republic. They said the Marines will serve no cause except to protect Americans and will stay there until their mission is completed.

Johnson's order marked the first such use of Marines in Latin America in years. U.S. officials expected criticism from Latin Americans mindful of American "gunboat diplomacy" of a bygone era. But under international law, they said, a nation can send its forces to another land to protect its nationals when the local government breaks down.

Reports reaching the President told of gun battles in Santo Domingo, looting, Communist agitation, the collapse of local authority and word from the Dominicans that they could not guarantee the safety of the Americans there.

U.S. officials gave this account of the crisis action:

In attempts to return to democracy after 34 years of Trujillo dictatorship, Santo Domingo has had 8 governments in the last 4 years. The country also has been in deep economic trouble. The American ambassador, W. Tapley Bennett, was recalled to Washington last Friday to see what could be done about it.

On Saturday, rebels favoring the return of former President Juan Bosch sought to oust the Donald Reid Cabral government, which had come under widespread criticism for its belt - tightening austerity program to improve the economy.

The insurgents split into groups favoring others as well as Bosch.

Fighting flared sporadically and out of control. Cease-fire agreements were made and broken. A U.S. naval task force headed by the carrier Boxer, with some 1,500 Marines aboard, moved near but out of sight of Santo Domingo Sunday, strictly as a precautionary measure.

Associated Press Moves Out To Better Coverage

NEW YORK AP--In the first such move by a news service, The Associated Press has applied for a communications channel through space to add to its worldwide facilities for distributing news.

The AP's application for service direct from the Communications Satellite Corp. COMSAT has not been acted upon by the Federal Communications Commission.

Federal legislation permitting establishment of a public corporation for communications by satellite authorized COMSAT to furnish circuits "to the carrier and to other authorized entities."

The AP application was filed April 15.

Harry T. Montgomery, AP deputy general manager, said in a letter that AP now uses telephone lines, undersea cables and radio. He said AP "is actively seeking improved international communications facilities especially in areas not directly served via cable from the United States."

One City Accident

One accident was investigated by the City Police Department yesterday. It occurred at the intersection of East Malone and Missouri Ave. and involved three vehicles.

Car number one, operated by James Roper, 1610 Oklahoma St., Sikeston, was hit in the rear by Ronnie McMachen, Millrow St., who was hit in the rear by Raymond Kinsley, Rt. 4, Sikeston.

Puckett Dist. Company Broken Into During Night

A burglary was reported to the Sikeston Police Department this morning at 7:19 a.m. by Charlest Masterson, manager of the Puckett Distributing Company.

Entrance was made in the north window of a meeting room by breaking the glass and unlocking the lock on the window.

What had been missed when the investigation was completed by Patrolman Alex Booth of the City Police was $1.00 in penneys, located in a desk in the front office and four cases of beer.

Girl Scout Field Day To Draw Ten Troops

Girl Scout Field Days for the Cotton Boll Council are being held this year in two places, at Sweetwater Farms south of Malden, April 24, and at Big Oak State Park southeast of East Prairie, May 1. Both events start at 10:00 a.m. with troops at headquarters at 9:30.

For the past month or six weeks, troop meetings have been used to practice and perfect the skills on which the girls will be judged.

In the mornings, Juniors in teams will pit their knowledge and speed against each other in bed-rolling, lashing coat hangers, fire building, buddy burners, and knot tying. Afternoons will find the Cadettes competing in First Aid, compass, lashing, tripod, and trench fire building. Girls will find drinks available to go with their sack lunches.

With such events as these, Girl Scouts are providing themselves with worthwhile information for camping trips, hiking, or any outdoor activity. Scouting is a well rounded program designed to equip a girl for a fuller more satisfying life in whatever field of work she may choose.

Attending from Sikeston will be the following Junior Troops and their Leaders: No. 206--Mrs. Manuel Drumm, No. 30 —Mrs. Albert Merrill, No. 221 —Mrs. James Beaird, No. 273 —Mrs. Jerry Dyer, No. 169 — Mrs. John Doggett, No. 28 — Mrs. Billy Lewis, and No. 54 —Mrs. John Holloway. Also competing will be three Cadette troops and their leaders: No. 134 — Miss Pat Vaughn, No. 159 — Mrs. John Sargent, and No. 22 — Mrs. Joe Mills.

Monkey Still Sad

ST. PAUL, Minn. AP -- Annie, a rhesus monkey whose mate died in the flooded zoo at Mankato, Minn., recently, shows little inclination to get married again.

Brought to new quarters at the Como Park Zoo, Annie has been caged with two males and officials at the zoo hoped there might result a happy union.

But Annie apparently is deep in grief and shuns both males. She spends most of the time peering through the bars. When not at the bars, Annie sits in a distant corner, shielding her eyes with her hands and sometimes even sucking a thumb.

Seven Counties Begin Program For Jobless

A seven-county section of southeast Missouri's Bootheel is one of seven areas in the United States chosen for a pilot project on the identification of unemployed persons and their possible relocation, it was announced.

Co-ordinator of the project is Ben Burns, manager of the Caruthersville office of the State Employment Service, who said today that the aim is to find and identify 300 unemployed, but qualified persons.

The first consideration will be given, he said, to finding such persons jobs in their home area, but if this fails, "We'll do our best to help them relocate elsewhere in the state, perhaps with some financial assistance."

Mr. Burns said that a federal government grant has been made for the project to help pay administrative costs and to help finance some relocation.

Results of the program, Mr. Burns said, are also expected to supply Congress with information it may need in developing further legislation as a combatant to unemployment.

That is why he explained, pilot projects are being used.

The work, Mr. Burns said, has started and is scheduled for completion by June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

Mr. Burns will co-ordinate the work, utilizing the personnel of four State Employment offices in the area--at Cruthersville, Kennett, Sikeston and Poplar Bluff.

Another goal of the project is to learn why those who are unemployed are not working.

Mr. Burns pointed out that while the unemployment situation in the Bootheel counties is largely a matter of seasonal farm workers, these are not the persons being sought out now.

"We're after people who have a salable skill, but are not working," he said.

At the same time these persons are being located, information will be sought on industrial job vacancies and the worker needs of the area's employers.

Mr. Burns said the employment offices welcome the help of public and private organizations and agencies as well as individuals in identifying the unemployed persons.

He asked also that the area's unemployed register with their employment office.

Supporters Of School Bus Bill Try Again For Passage

JEFFERSON CITY AP--A blood-spattered letter was presented Wednesday night to the chairman of the House Education Committee.

Mrs. Marvin Selser of High Ridge, Mo., used this means to dramatize her plea for favorable action on the controversial "fair school bus bill."

The measure would provide public - financed school bus transportation for private and parochial school students.

Mrs. Selser, one of more than a score of witnesses, said the letter was taken from the body of a 6-year-old boy, Tommy Candelario, who last February was struck and killed by a car on his way home from school near High Ridge.

The letter urged his parents to write their representatives and senators to support the bill in the interest of safety, she said.

An earlier attempt to move similar legislation through the Senate stalled in committee.

The bill introduced by Rep. Joseph Beckerle, D-St. Louis, includes a provision for a statewide referendum. The Senate bill did not.

More than 1,000 persons crowded into the House chamber in support of the new approach.

Opponents are scheduled for hearing next Wednesday night.

She said she has spent most of her life close to sports where fair play and good sportsmanship are practiced every day. We try not to leave any teammate on base because of color or belief."

Robert Baine, Jr., counsel for the Citizens for Educational Freedom, repeated earlier testimony before the Senate that the bill does not violate constitutional separation of church and state.

He said a separate transportation fund to prevent co-mingling with public school money would meet any constitutional question.

It is estimated the cost of providing transportation for some 86,000 private and parochial school students would be about $2.6 million a year out of state funds.

Severe Earthquake In Pacific Northwest

SEATTLE AP -- A major earthquake hit the Pacific Northwest at 8:29 a.m. PDT today, causing widespread damage and one or more deaths.

The first confirmed fatality was in Seattle, where Adolphus Lewis, age undetermined, was struck by debris.

There were unconfirmed reports of two or three others killed in Seattle.

There were scores of injuries, many in Seattle from falling debris as some brick facing or older buildings toppled into the street.

The quake, rated at an intensity of more than 7 on the Richter scale, was felt from Coos Bay, on the Oregon coast, to southern British Columbia and east as far as Idaho.

The earthquake belt was at least 60 miles long, from north to south, and 40 miles wide.

Alaska points reported it was not felt there.

The tremor did structural damage in half a dozen cities and knocked out some hydro-electric circuits at the giant Grand Coulee Dam in northeast Washington.

Most damage appeared to be limited to cracked plaster, broken windows and dishes, and snapped wires.

The University of Washington seismologist said the quake was so strong it knocked the needle off the seismograph and he was unable to get a reading.

At Victoria, B. C., the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory said the same thing happened there.

At Olympia, the State Capitol Buildings shook for nearly a minute and state employes ran into the open.

Pay For No Effort Would Be Nice, But Wrong

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- House members want to get a full two years' pay whether they're still in office after July 15 or not.

The House advanced such a bill Wednesday with no opposition. If it gets by the House, the Senate and the governor's veto power, it would permit members to get the final $7,200 of their two-year $9,600 pay when it becomes law Oct. 13.

The stickler is that under federal court orders to reapportion or else, the current legislature is operating on a "de facto" basis. If it fails to redistrict, the members presumably would be without jobs as of July 15, when the session is adjourned automatically.

Earlier the Senate got into a ruckus over a bill to write new truck axle spacing requirements into the truck weight law. The bill was passed and sent to the House, 24-6, after a long hassle.

Sen. Richard M. Webster, R-Carthage, called the chief engineer of the Highway Department, M. J. Snider, "a thin skinned cry baby." He charged Snider the axle spacing rules by agreement with two lobbyists and without consulting legislators.

Webster named the lobbyist as John R. Hahn of the Missouri Oil Jobbers Association and Ursel Lewellen of the Missouri Bus and Truck As-

House Committee Voted On Bill To Set Up Four Year Term For Members

JEFFERSON CITY AP--The House Apportionment Committee turned in a proposed constitutional amendment today that would set up a House of 175 members serving four-year terms.

The action came the day after Gov. Warren E. Hearnes urged the House to hurry up with the redistricting problem. Rep. Norbert Jasper, D-County, committee chairman, said the proposal might be changed on the House floor but the committee thought the House ought to get started solving its apportionment problem.

Federal courts have ordered immediate action to redistrict the House on a one man-one vote basis.

Jasper said he hoped to make the proposal a specific order of business next week so action on it could move as swiftly as possible.

The proposed consititutional change doesn't set out a formula for aligning the districts. Jasper said that could be done by law--the system recommended by the governor.

Jasper said all 17 members of the committee present voted for the substitute proposal.

Under it, after the districts are set up, the candidates in odd-numbered districts would campaign for four-year terms and those in even-numbered districts for two years. At the following general election those from even-numbered districts would be elected to four-year terms.

The Senate terms would remain four years. An earlier proposal would have given senators six-year terms.

Deleted from the constitution would be a provision limiting clerical help of the House to 125 persons and 75 in the Senate. Without that provision the two houses could employ as much help as they thought they needed.

Neighborhood Wins Court Battle

KANSAS CITY AP -- Seven residents of a fancy neighborhood won a circuit court decision Wednesday in their battle against a $20-million plan to build a big hotel and luxury apartment houses there.

Judge Alvin C. Randall invalidated a city ordinance which changed the zoning on the tract from single-family dwellings to high-rise apartments.

The 6 1/2-acre plot is on the southwest corner of Wornall Road and Ward Parkway south of Brush Creek. The developer's plans for it included a 300-room hotel and five 20-story apartment buildings.

Escapee Finds Hope In Terms Of Kindness

CHANDLER, Okla. AP -- Jim Fleming's friends, trying to keep him out of a California prison from which he escaped nearly two years ago, have trapped him in another prison from which there can be no escape.

The new prison has no walls and there are no guards - except Fleming himself.

"If I run again now, too many people I love and respect will get hurt," said Fleming, 32, who until late March was just another car salesman to residents of this town of 3,000 persons.

Then a Federal Bureau of Investigation poster, identifying Fleming as an escapee from the Folsom State Prison, came to the attention of Sheriff L. P. Orr. Fingerprints established the wanted man's identity.

Monkey Still Sad

ST. PAUL, Minn. AP -- Annie, a rhesus monkey whose mate died in the flooded zoo at Mankato, Minn., recently, shows little inclination to get married again.

Brought to new quarters at the Como Park Zoo, Annie has been caged with two males and officials at the zoo hoped there might result a happy union.

But Annie apparently is deep in grief and shuns both males. She spends most of the time peering through the bars. When not at the bars, Annie sits in a distant corner, shielding her eyes with her hands and sometimes even sucking a thumb.

Seven Counties Begin Program For Jobless

A seven-county section of southeast Missouri's Bootheel is one of seven areas in the United States chosen for a pilot project on the identification of unemployed persons and their possible relocation, it was announced.

Co-ordinator of the project is Ben Burns, manager of the Caruthersville office of the State Employment Service, who said today that the aim is to find and identify 300 unemployed, but qualified persons.

The first consideration will be given, he said, to finding such persons jobs in their home area, but if this fails, "We'll do our best to help them relocate elsewhere in the state, perhaps with some financial assistance."

Mr. Burns said that a federal government grant has been made for the project to help pay administrative costs and to help finance some relocation.

Results of the program, Mr. Burns said, are also expected to supply Congress with information it may need in developing further legislation as a combatant to unemployment.

That is why he explained, pilot projects are being used.

The work, Mr. Burns said, has started and is scheduled for completion by June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

Mr. Burns will co-ordinate the work, utilizing the personnel of four State Employment offices in the area--at Cruthersville, Kennett, Sikeston and Poplar Bluff.

Another goal of the project is to learn why those who are unemployed are not working.

Mr. Burns pointed out that while the unemployment situation in the Bootheel counties is largely a matter of seasonal farm workers, these are not the persons being sought out now.

"We're after people who have a salable skill, but are not working," he said.

At the same time these persons are being located, information will be sought on industrial job vacancies and the worker needs of the area's employers.

Mr. Burns said the employment offices welcome the help of public and private organizations and agencies as well as individuals in identifying the unemployed persons.

He asked also that the area's unemployed register with their employment office.

Supporters Of School Bus Bill Try Again For Passage

JEFFERSON CITY AP--A blood-spattered letter was presented Wednesday night to the chairman of the House Education Committee.

Mrs. Marvin Selser of High Ridge, Mo., used this means to dramatize her plea for favorable action on the controversial "fair school bus bill."

The measure would provide public - financed school bus transportation for private and parochial school students.

Mrs. Selser, one of more than a score of witnesses, said the letter was taken from the body of a 6-year-old boy, Tommy Candelario, who last February was struck and killed by a car on his way home from school near High Ridge.

The letter urged his parents to write their representatives and senators to support the bill in the interest of safety, she said.

An earlier attempt to move similar legislation through the Senate stalled in committee.

The bill introduced by Rep. Joseph Beckerle, D-St. Louis, includes a provision for a statewide referendum. The Senate bill did not.

More than 1,000 persons crowded into the House chamber in support of the new approach.

Opponents are scheduled for hearing next Wednesday night.

She said she has spent most of her life close to sports where fair play and good sportsmanship are practiced every day. We try not to leave any teammate on base because of color or belief."

Robert Baine, Jr., counsel for the Citizens for Educational Freedom, repeated earlier testimony before the Senate that the bill does not violate constitutional separation of church and state.

He said a separate transportation fund to prevent co-mingling with public school money would meet any constitutional question.

It is estimated the cost of providing transportation for some 86,000 private and parochial school students would be about $2.6 million a year out of state funds.

NEWSPAPERS HOLD THEIR OWN

Remember when television first entered the mass market and numbers of people thought that this would wreak havoc on other media of news and entertainment, including the newspapers? Well, at least so far as the newspapers are concerned, the prophets of doom have been proven entirely wrong.

Editor & Publisher reports that total newspaper circulation as a per cent of adult population increased from 49.15 per cent in 1945 to 51.14 per cent in 1960. It adds, "Newspapers in the U. S. have been more than holding their own with the growth in adult population, and we expect will continue to grow as the baby boom develops into adult newspaper purchasers."

Statistics -- bless 'em -- show that women are better drivers than men.

This fact leaves men without any solid defense in those inevitable "discussions" about the relation merits of men and women drivers. Therefore, they must resort to distractions such as humor and irrelevant homilies. Out of sympathy for the defenselessness of the American male motorist, we present here a sampler of "Ammunication for Arguments With Women Drivers."

A woman who drove her car into a river was among 3,300 who flunked driving tests in New Hampshire in 1962. The woman and the driver examiner with her swam to shore.

Here are two comments by driver license examiners which are representative of examiner opinion:

A woman driver once drove her car into a Cincinnati driver examining station. What was wrong with that? you ask. Well, there were no doors for cars. The lady lost control.

A frequent reason women have accidents is their constitutional incapability of talking without looking at the people they are addressing. They have accidents while they are observing the reactions of their front-seat passengers to their witty remarks.

Two sociology professors of solid reputations reported the following two observations about women drivers, after a comprehensive study of 43 accidents:

"The woman driver can be spotted by the scratches on her auto's fenders and the splinters on her garage door."

"The woman driver drives as though she were at the helm of the Queen Mary on the high seas."

These same two profs pointed out that accident rates are not corrected for the fact that women drive less than men and thus are exposed to the risk of accidents less often.

If only they'd had the facts turned up recently by the Illinois secretary of state they would have provided beleagued males with the clincher in any argument with a woman driver.

From July 1, 1960, to October 31, 1961, a question on Illinois driver license renewal applications asked drivers how many miles they'd driven during the previous 12 months. Their composite reply was women: 5,916 miles, and men, 12,731 miles.

And there's no reason to believe that Illinois women drive significantly fewer miles than women who live in any other state.

TWO CASES SHOW WASHINGTON THINKING

Two events in the news showed the drift of Washington. One was the overthrow of Juan Bosch of the Dominican Republic, and the other was the bringing of charges against Otto F. Otepka, Chief of the Evaluation Division of the State Department's Security Office, of conduct unbecoming a diplomatic officer for collaborating with the United States Senate Internal Subcommittee.

The events seem diverse, but the underlying response in both cases on the part of the State Department officials involved clearly reflects where we are going.

Juan Bosch was elected to the top post in the Dominican Republic after a demagogic campaign. He promised the people everything and, when elected, did little for them. He played the Castro game. He tolerated and even encouraged the return from exile of important communist agents. He embarked on a nationalization campaign that resembled Castro's. He played his personal left-leaning militia against the army, a la Castro. He surrounded himself with crypto-communists.

Bosch was beginning to crack down on the free press and radio. He closed two radio stations and threatened the large Santo Domingan newspaper, El Caribe. In all of this, he had the strong and even emotional support of our State Department.

This list toward Castro and communism was generating a strong and understandable reaction among thoughtful people. They saw the slide toward another Cuba and acted in the traditional Latin - American fashion. While we can and should deplore the use of force to settle political problems, we should keep in mind the provocation.

The reaction to the overthrow of Bosch on the part of spokesmen for the State Department --and incidentally Radio Havana -- was pitched with emotion. We immediately cut off our assistance program and severed diplomatic relations.

Meanwhile the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee had been dutifully finishing its appointed role of assessing the damage wrought to the nation and the hemisphere by the ascent of Castro to power and the paralysis of the State Department in allowing a Soviet base to be installed in the Caribbean.

This was provoking the leaders of State. This inquiry is now officially off limits to State Department personnel. William Wieland, the former head of the Caribbean desk whose role in the ascent of Castro was authoritatively set forth in a Senate Subcommittee report, has had his security clearance reaffirmed.

There is a force opposing this trend. It is found in the Security Office of the State Department. The late Scott McLeod set up a good office there and, while they are a vanishing breed, there are a few good officers left. One of them, Otto F. Otepka, has been downgraded to Chief of the Evaluation Division, but he has been trying to stem the fast-flowing tide.

Along the line, apparently, Mr. Otepka failed to make the shift that is now required. The villains are no longer Fidel or Raul Castro or the communists but such forces as inquiring Senate committees, newspapermen and the public.

As a result of his alleged cooperation with the Senate committee, he is up on charges. He will have no hearing. He cannot call witnesses. The most serious of the charges seems to be that he passed "confidential" and "for official use only" information to the chief counsel of the subcommittee, J. G. Sourwine.

Will the United States stand up for its prerogatives? For in cooperating with Mr. Sourwine, Mr. Otepka cooperated with the Senate.

Obviously, the State Department wants the Juan Boschs and not the Otto Otepkas.

A BASIC FREEDOM

The unions' all-out campaign to force repeal of section 14b of the Taft - Hartley Act, which permits the states to adopt Right -to-Work laws if they so wish, could lead unknowing people to believe that this provision is a deadly weapon aimed straight at the heart of organized labor.

Anyone who believes that would do well to read the section. It says: "Nothing in this Act (Taft-Hartley) shall be construed as authorizing the executive or application of agreements requiring membership in a labor organization as a condition of employment in any State or Territory in which such execution or application is prohibited by State or Territorial Law."

To make that seem, in any way, an anti-labor provision requires some massive twisting of plain language. It simply says that, in states which take advantage of 14b, each worker will have the right to join or not to join a union as he chooses, and in either case he can keep his job. No one can make him join -- and no one can prevent him from joining.

If that is not a basic freedom, what is?

By Grace Bush

Passers-by, on the busy streets of the city, hurry on their way, minds intent on their own small affairs. They look idly at the flags--but do they really see them?

That oblong piece of cloth, with its bright dyes, is the visible symbol of America today -- an America more precious, more wonderful than ever before, because the gifts it has given us are threatened, as never before, with loss and destruction! It is the thrilling heart of America -- the sign of our inheritance -- the presence of all we hold most dear!

The courage and strength of the pioneers -- the pathfinders who met trial and hardship dauntlessly, in the days when we were beginning to be a nation --are in the red of its stripes!

The high and stainless purity of mind and motive -- the whiteness of the souls of great men -- Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson, and many others, who strove selflessly to hold high their beliefs in the greatness of this nation, and who dedicated their lives to its service -- are in the white of its stripes!

The truth that will not stoop to lie -- the integrity of the principles that underlie our commonwealth, the unshakable faith and trust in God, that has come down to us from those long gone before, who have held high the light, that we might walk safely -- are in the blue of its field of stars!

And every one of those stars shines with a new splendor of meaning -- the symbol of a free people, living their lives in the blessings of freedom-freedom to worship God as they choose, freedom to work, to laugh, to love, to live -- God's most previous gift to man, to be guarded sacredly forever!

What is a Flag?

It is the soul of America -- and it shall never die!

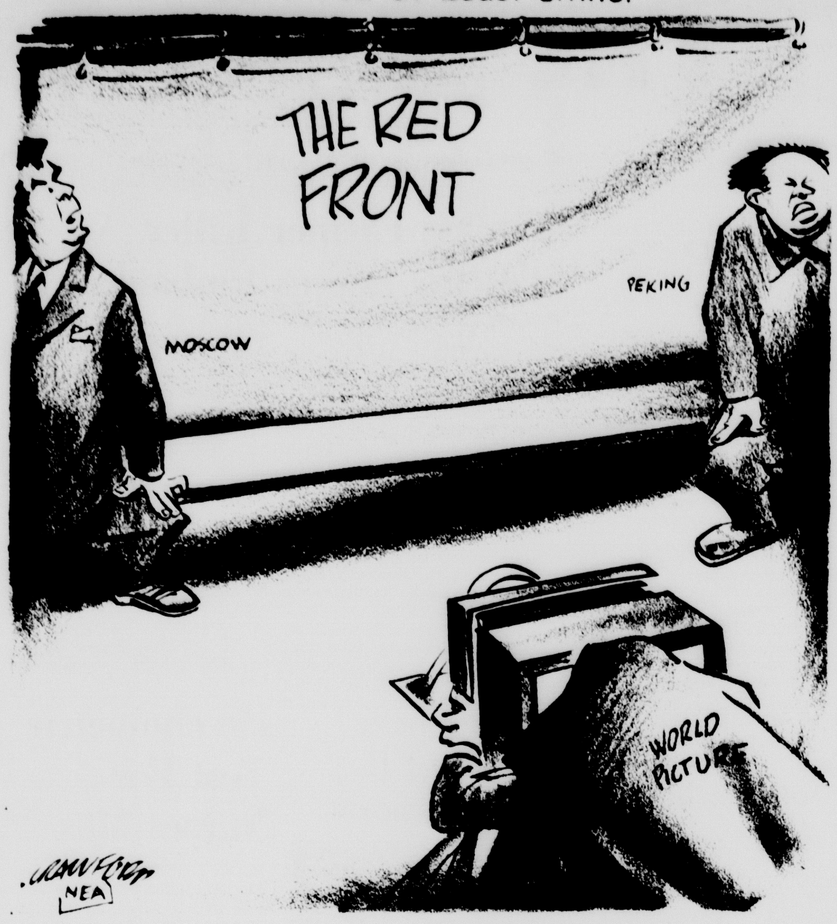
"Can't You at Least Smile?"



H. L. Hunt Says

The assault on Patriots throughout this country, which has been in full swing for several years, shows no signs of abating.

There are two very striking features about this assault. First is its vehemence. Second is the unwillingness or inability of the attackers to tell anyone clearly and reasonably what it is they are so bitterly against.

An example of the vehemence of the assault and a key to its meaning is the constant use of the word "hate." This is a very strong and ugly word. It creates a climate which makes calm and sensible judgments very difficult. Certainly if the anti-patriots said openly they hated their opponents, their use of this word would turn public opinion against them.

But they are clever; instead, they pretend it is their opponents, the patriots, who "hate" them; and they never miss an opportunity to use the word.

To decide who the real "haters" are, simply ask yourself how often you have heard that word used as a weapon by a friend of American liberties and national independence.

But what are these attackers of patriotism really against? They rise up in fury if anyone suggests they are opposed to patriotism itself; they simply say they dislike "too much" of it. They dislike "extremists" and prefer "moderates."

These words and ideas have no sensible content. If patriotism is good then a lot of it should be extremely good and who wouldn't want something that is extremely good? The attack seems intended to destroy sound thinking about its targets.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Steel Industry Booms, Hires More Men Despite Labor's Alarums over Automation.

Pittsburgh:-- An electronic terror stalks the land.

Everywhere--expecially today in the steel cities ranging from this area to the Chicago complex--working men, housewives and whole communities fear they'll be electric-brained out of their jobs. Professional mourners stir the agony with morbid predictions of what automation will wipe out.

It appears that the time has come to wipe out the melancholy dragon--especially in the steel cities.

It takes no James Bond, not even a Sherlock Holmes, but just some foot and pencil work to learn that the steel industry hired 180,000 new workers in 1964.

This increased by 30,000 the number of men employed by the big mills. Workers were hard to get despite the high wage rates.

Young men over the age of 18 were welcomed. But not enough of them applied, though the pay, after a while, would average about $135 a week for 40 hours.

Thus, as older men retired, or went on long sabbaticals, or simply quit for other jobs, the industry did not and was not able to cut its work force by attrition. It had to go out and fill 150,000 jobs just to keep even with the previous year.

These are well documented figures. And corroboration of the dearth of workers comes from a source which ordinarily would be complaining about the lack of jobs--none other than a recent edition of "Steel Labor," tabloid newspaper of the United Steelworkers of America (AFL-CIO).

"For the first time in many moons," said the labor publication, "the steel industry has been forced to go into the highways and byways of the nation seeking qualified men to fill employment opportunities in the Chicago area. . ."

This report disclosed that U. S. Steel, for example, had jobs at its mills in Chicago and Gary for "qualified men, including production labor for steel mill operation, experienced craftsmen including machinists, pipefitters and welders, mechanical and electrical maintenance men, narrow gauge rail switchmen and bricklayers with industrial experience."

Applicants had to be high school graduates, "or the equivalent," at least 18 years of age and able to meet physical requirements.

All through this period there were technological changes. Plants and parts of plants were automated. There were some problems in adjustments.

But there were more jobs than problems despite reports in Washington and academic circles that anywhere from 10,000 to 40,000 jobs a week are being wiped out by the computor.

For the moment at least, the real threat to jobs comes from the shrewd foreign steel producers. Steel industry and labor experts reckon that at least 31,000 additional jobs would have been available in the past five months if the strike fright had not provoked American steel buyers to make heavy purchases of the metal from England, France, Germany and Japan.

This will be a permanent condition. All insiders know that prices must go up when the new steel wage contracts are eventually signed. That's the realism of business life.

The American steelworker is the world's highest paid mill hand. His fire-breathing national union chiefs here know that and know what strike fright can do.

So there will have to be more automation to meet the foreign competition--for several reasons. Despite the higher new wage costs, American steel makers will have to sell abroad to make up some of the business they lose to foreign firms selling in the U. S.

Foreign governments cooperate with their own business men by harassing American firms. France, for example, puts $27 in duties and taxes on a ton of American auto body sheet steel imported by French manufacturers. U. S. taxes and duties on similar French metal come to only $7. Obviously this is a one-way street.

That's why America has to automate. Those who turn automation into a job-eating monster instead of an adjustment problem which can be and is being handled are professional mourners.

They do injury to the country. It's time their dragon was slain.

And they overlook the most vital statistic of all. At the height of the big war in 1944, there were 17.3 million people working in the manufacturing field.

Today, after 20 years of electronic wizardry and automation there still are 17.3 million working in the same manufacturing industries--and a record number of additional millions are employed in offices, services and research.

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- One of the most important facts I confirmed on my recent trip to Moscow was how deeply the Russians dislike Fidel Castro. They are just as sore at him as ex-Sen. Ken Keating of New York was during the Cuban missile crisis.

And if the United States could once get over the ill will it's engendered as a result of its North Viet Nam bombing, the Russians would probably be delighted to get out of Cuba in our favor. They might even swap our attempted sphere of influence in South Viet Nam for their attempted sphere of influence in Cuba.

There are several reasons for the Russians dislike of Fidel Castro. Here are three of them:

1. Castro is imperious, unpredictable, long-winded, and just as high-handed with top Russians as with the United States. The Russians consider Castro's beard an affectation, don't like his slouchy fatigue uniform. In brief, they consider him a bore.

2. The Russians don't relish wasting foreign aid on Cuba. They are shelling out about a million dollars a day to support Castro, and foreign aid is just as unpopular with Russians as with Rep. Otto Passman of Louisiana.

3. Fidel Castro is secretly pro-Chinese, and sometimes he isn't so secret about it. This really irks the Russians.

SAM MISSILES ARE SCARCE

Most important illustration of Castro's pro-Chinese leaning has a bearing on North Viet Nam. It shows why the Russians have not been permitted to build Sam launching sites there.

Despite the recent furor in the American press that Russian Sam sites had been built in North Viet Nam, real fact is that U. S. Photo Reconnaissance planes have located only one. Furthermore, it would take several months for the Russians to build more than two or three Missile Launchers.

Ironic fact is that the Russians have been slowed down by the Chinese in building Sam Bases, because the Chinese remember what happened in Cuba. The Chinese at one time were making a lot of headway with Fidel Castro. Then the Russians began sending in weapons, including twenty-four Sam Missile Launchers. With them came Russian technicians, after which Russian influence won out over the Chinese.

Doubtless remembering this, Premier Chou En-Lai, visiting in Algeria, is reported to have told President Ben Bella that China does not intend to let Russia turn North Viet Nam into another Cuba. And for that reason, the Chinese have put roadblocks in the path of Russian Sam Sites and the Russian technicians who would accompany them.

Since the Chinese have banned Russian flights over Chinese territory, Russian Munitions must come into Viet Nam by slow boat Via Vladivostok.

NOTE -- The Russians now dance the twist to American Jazz in Moscow's leading hotels. But the music is a long way from being up to Western Jazz. I suggested to the Russians that they get some value back from all the Rubles they are shipping to Castro by importing some hot Cuban Orchestras. But the Russians are so down on Castro they wouldn't even take his music.

MOTHERS OF FAMOUS SONS

Some of the one-time debutante of Washington have now become the Mothers of distinguished government leaders.

One such mother is Mrs. Millard Tydings, who has the unique distinction of being the widow of a Senator from Maryland and now the mother of a Senator from Maryland, Joseph Davies Tydings.

Mrs. Tydings, daughter of the late Joe Davies, Ambassador to Russia, grew up in Washington, doesn't look old enough to be a Senator's mother.

Another famous mother is Mrs. Tom Clark, wife of Justice Clark of the Supreme Court and mother of the new Deputy Attorney General, Ramsey Clark.

The other day a distinguished group of Texans gathered to celebrate Texas Independence Day. Present were a reasonably well known Texan, now President of the United States; Also Congressman Jack Brooks, who presided; Bill Moyers of the White House Staff; Justice and Mrs. Tom Clark and their son Ramsey.

Reporting to the meeting on the election of new officers, Ramsey Clark addressed the distinguished guests: "Mr. President, Mr. Justice Clark, Mother."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Attention Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, Belmont, Mass. -- What do you think of Grand Dragon Craig's recent boast that the Klan has joined forces with the John Birch Society? Do you countenance Klan violence in the south? . . . Katharine St. George, the energetic Republican Congresswoman from New York State, is insinuating that men's pockets should be taxed. She has written to every member of Congress urging that the Excise Tax on Women's handbags be removed; Claims handbags are just as important to a woman as pants pockets to a man. If Congress does not remove the Excise Tax on handbags, Katherine claims Congress should tax men's pockets.

Hal Boyle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam AP-- In war-torn South Viet Nam, you may take your life in your hands if you venture far outside Saigon.

But if you do much walking inside Saigon, you take your life in your feet.

There is no such thing as an innocent bystander here.

Particularly if he is a pedestrian he is fair game for all and the only time he isn't in danger of being run down is during the curfew hours between 2 and 4 a.m. If he is abroad then he is only in danger of being shot by the police.

It is said that one reason the besieging Viet Cong haven't taken Saigon is that after reaching the outskirts of the city they decided it would be hopeless to try to fight their way through the traffic.

Saigon traffic is famous throughout the Far East. It starts early in the morning and, except for a three-hour siesta break, continues until it gets too dark to see a pedestrian.

If you strike one and are found at fault you must pay his hospital or funeral costs. Rules of the road prohibit a motorist from pursuing the pedestrian across sidewalks or into public buildings.

"Actually you rarely see a pedestrian or bicyclist badly injured," remarked a motorist who has won an unsafe driver's badge with three oak leaf clusters. "The main idea is merely to brush him out of the way with your bumper."

The traffic here is picturesque as well as impossible. The streets are a rolling museum of the history of wheeled vehicles.

Your status depends on whether you own your vehicle, what kind of wheels it has and how much it cost.

At the bottom of the social totem pole is the cyclo driver who wears a comical hat and operates a pedal taxi resembling a bike pushing a wheel chair.

From this social basement your prestige goes up to the motorcyclist to the cab owner to the man who owns his car or even better is driven by a government chauffeur.

The cabbies of Paris are regarded as Europe's wildest steersmen. But in Saigon, everybody drives as if he were a jockey whipping his mount home in a $100,000 handicap race.

Motorcycle owners pride themselves on the number of people they can get on their vehicles. I saw one man and his wife barreling along holding three children as they discussed the world situation in Chinese.

NEWSPAPERS HOLD THEIR OWN

Remember when television first entered the mass market and numbers of people thought that this would wreak havoc on other media of news and entertainment, including the newspapers? Well, at least so far as the newspapers are concerned, the prophets of doom have been proven entirely wrong.

Editor & Publisher reports that total newspaper circulation as a per cent of adult population increased from 49.15 per cent in 1945 to 51.14 per cent in 1960. It adds, "Newspapers in the U. S. have been more than holding their own with the growth in adult population, and we expect will continue to grow as the baby boom develops into adult newspaper purchasers."

Statistics -- bless 'em -- show that women are better drivers than men.

This fact leaves men without any solid defense in those inevitable "discussions" about the relation merits of men and women drivers. Therefore, they must resort to distractions such as humor and irrelevant homilies. Out of sympathy for the defenselessness of the American male motorist, we present here a sampler of "Ammunication for Arguments With Women Drivers."

A woman who drove her car into a river was among 3,300 who flunked driving tests in New Hampshire in 1962. The woman and the driver examiner with her swam to shore.

Here are two comments by driver license examiners which are representative of examiner opinion:

A woman driver once drove her car into a Cincinnati driver examining station. What was wrong with that? you ask. Well, there were no doors for cars. The lady lost control.

A frequent reason women have accidents is their constitutional incapability of talking without looking at the people they are addressing. They have accidents while they are observing the reactions of their front-seat passengers to their witty remarks.

Two sociology professors of solid reputations reported the following two observations about women drivers, after a comprehensive study of 43 accidents:

"The woman driver can be spotted by the scratches on her auto's fenders and the splinters on her garage door."

"The woman driver drives as though she were at the helm of the Queen Mary on the high seas."

These same two profs pointed out that accident rates are not corrected for the fact that women drive less than men and thus are exposed to the risk of accidents less often.

If only they'd had the facts turned up recently by the Illinois secretary of state they would have provided beleagued males with the clincher in any argument with a woman driver.

From July 1, 1960, to October 31, 1961, a question on Illinois driver license renewal applications asked drivers how many miles they'd driven during the previous 12 months. Their composite reply was women: 5,916 miles, and men, 12,731 miles.

And there's no reason to believe that Illinois women drive significantly fewer miles than women who live in any other state.

The publication Oil Facts reports that 25 per cent of all the taxes collected by state governments during fiscal 1963 came from special levies on motor vehicle owners and operators. In 20 states, these taxes -- such as registration fees and gasoline taxes -- exceeded 30 per cent of all state tax revenue, running as high as 48.2 per cent in Nebraska.

The United States, Canada, Western Europe, Japan and Australia are still more than a match for Russia and Red China in every form of production. The other fact is that the rest of the world -- one and a half million people -- lives in the underdeveloped, uncommitted countries, and that we can offer them more in every spiritual and material way than the Communist bloc. . ."

TWO CASES SHOW WASHINGTON THINKING

Two events in the news showed the drift of Washington. One was the overthrow of Juan Bosch of the Dominican Republic, and the other was the bringing of charges against Otto F. Otepka, Chief of the Evaluation Division of the State Department's Security Office, of conduct unbecoming a diplomatic officer for collaborating with the United States Senate Internal Subcommittee.

The events seem diverse, but the underlying response in both cases on the part of the State Department officials involved clearly reflects where we are going.

Juan Bosch was elected to the top post in the Dominican Republic after a demagogic campaign. He promised the people everything and, when elected, did little for them. He played the Castro game. He tolerated and even encouraged the return from exile of important communist agents. He embarked on a nationalization campaign that resembled Castro's. He played his personal left-leaning militia against the army, a la Castro. He surrounded himself with crypto-communists.

Bosch was beginning to crack down on the free press and radio. He closed two radio stations and threatened the large Santo Domingan newspaper, El Caribe. In all of this, he had the strong and even emotional support of our State Department.

This list toward Castro and communism was generating a strong and understandable reaction among thoughtful people. They saw the slide toward another Cuba and acted in the traditional Latin - American fashion. While we can and should deplore the use of force to settle political problems, we should keep in mind the provocation.

The reaction to the overthrow of Bosch on the part of spokesmen for the State Department --and incidentally Radio Havana -- was pitched with emotion. We immediately cut off our assistance program and severed diplomatic relations.

Meanwhile the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee had been dutifully finishing its appointed role of assessing the damage wrought to the nation and the hemisphere by the ascent of Castro to power and the paralysis of the State Department in allowing a Soviet base to be installed in the Caribbean.

This was provoking the leaders of State. This inquiry is now officially off limits to State Department personnel. William Wieland, the former head of the Caribbean desk whose role in the ascent of Castro was authoritatively set forth in a Senate Subcommittee report, has had his security clearance reaffirmed.

There is a force opposing this trend. It is found in the Security Office of the State Department. The late Scott McLeod set up a good office there and, while they are a vanishing breed, there are a few good officers left. One of them, Otto F. Otepka, has been downgraded to Chief of the Evaluation Division, but he has been trying to stem the fast-flowing tide.

Along the line, apparently, Mr. Otepka failed to make the shift that is now required. The villains are no longer Fidel or Raul Castro or the communists but such forces as inquiring Senate committees, newspapermen and the public.

As a result of his alleged cooperation with the Senate committee, he is up on charges. He will have no hearing. He cannot call witnesses. The most serious of the charges seems to be that he passed "confidential" and "for official use only" information to the chief counsel of the subcommittee, J. G. Sourwine.

Will the United States stand up for its prerogatives? For in cooperating with Mr. Sourwine, Mr. Otepka cooperated with the Senate.

Obviously, the State Department wants the Juan Boschs and not the Otto Otepkas.

A BASIC FREEDOM

The unions' all-out campaign to force repeal of section 14b of the Taft - Hartley Act, which permits the states to adopt Right -to-Work laws if they so wish, could lead unknowing people to believe that this provision is a deadly weapon aimed straight at the heart of organized labor.

Anyone who believes that would do well to read the section. It says: "Nothing in this Act (Taft-Hartley) shall be construed as authorizing the executive or application of agreements requiring membership in a labor organization as a condition of employment in any State or Territory in which such execution or application is prohibited by State or Territorial Law."

To make that seem, in any way, an anti-labor provision requires some massive twisting of plain language. It simply says that, in states which take advantage of 14b, each worker will have the right to join or not to join a union as he chooses, and in either case he can keep his job. No one can make him join -- and no one can prevent him from joining.

If that is not a basic freedom, what is?

Nice new bricks are fed into the machine, which tumbles them against each other until they become properly chipped and cracked. The device even smears mortar on the bricks at random to give them character and authenticity.

By Grace Bush

Passers-by, on the busy streets of the city, hurry on their way, minds intent on their own small affairs. They look idly at the flags--but do they really see them?

That oblong piece of cloth, with its bright dyes, is the visible symbol of America today -- an America more precious, more wonderful than ever before, because the gifts it has given us are threatened, as never before, with loss and destruction! It is the thrilling heart of America -- the sign of our inheritance -- the presence of all we hold most dear!

The courage and strength of the pioneers -- the pathfinders who met trial and hardship dauntlessly, in the days when we were beginning to be a nation --are in the red of its stripes!

The high and stainless purity of mind and motive -- the whiteness of the souls of great men -- Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson, and many others, who strove selflessly to hold high their beliefs in the greatness of this nation, and who dedicated their lives to its service -- are in the white of its stripes!

The truth that will not stoop to lie -- the integrity of the principles that underlie our commonwealth, the unshakable faith and trust in God, that has come down to us from those long gone before, who have held high the light, that we might walk safely -- are in the blue of its field of stars!

And every one of those stars shines with a new splendor of meaning -- the symbol of a free people, living their lives in the blessings of freedom-freedom to worship God as they choose, freedom to work, to laugh, to love, to live -- God's most previous gift to man, to be guarded sacredly forever!

What is a Flag?

It is the soul of America -- and it shall never die!

H. L. Hunt Says

The assault on Patriots throughout this country, which has been in full swing for several years, shows no signs of abating.

There are two very striking features about this assault. First is its vehemence. Second is the unwillingness or inability of the attackers to tell anyone clearly and reasonably what it is they are so bitterly against.

An example of the vehemence of the assault and a key to its meaning is the constant use of the word "hate." This is a very strong and ugly word. It creates a climate which makes calm and sensible judgments very difficult. Certainly if the anti-patriots said openly they hated their opponents, their use of this word would turn public opinion against them.

But they are clever; instead, they pretend it is their opponents, the patriots, who "hate" them; and they never miss an opportunity to use the word.

To decide who the real "haters" are, simply ask yourself how often you have heard that word used as a weapon by a friend of American liberties and national independence.

But what are these attackers of patriotism really against? They rise up in fury if anyone suggests they are opposed to patriotism itself; they simply say they dislike "too much" of it. They dislike "extremists" and prefer "moderates."

These words and ideas have no sensible content. If patriotism is good then a lot of it should be extremely good and who wouldn't want something that is extremely good? The attack seems intended to destroy sound thinking about its targets.

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- One of the most important facts I confirmed on my recent trip to Moscow was how deeply the Russians dislike Fidel Castro. They are just as sore at him as ex-Sen. Ken Keating of New York was during the Cuban missile crisis.

And if the United States could once get over the ill will it's engendered as a result of its North Viet Nam bombing, the Russians would probably be delighted to get out of Cuba in our favor. They might even swap our attempted sphere of influence in South Viet Nam for their attempted sphere of influence in Cuba.

There are several reasons for the Russians dislike of Fidel Castro. Here are three of them:

1. Castro is imperious, unpredictable, long-winded, and just as high-handed with top Russians as with the United States. The Russians consider Castro's beard an affectation, don't like his slouchy fatigue uniform. In brief, they consider him a bore.

2. The Russians don't relish wasting foreign aid on Cuba. They are shelling out about a million dollars a day to support Castro, and foreign aid is just as unpopular with Russians as with Rep. Otto Passman of Louisiana.

3. Fidel Castro is secretly pro-Chinese, and sometimes he isn't so secret about it. This really irks the Russians.

SAM MISSILES ARE SCARCE

Most important illustration of Castro's pro-Chinese leaning has a bearing on North Viet Nam. It shows why the Russians have not been permitted to build Sam launching sites there.

Despite the recent furor in the American press that Russian Sam sites had been built in North Viet Nam, real fact is that U. S. Photo Reconnaissance planes have located only one. Furthermore, it would take several months for the Russians to build more than two or three Missile Launchers.

Ironic fact is that the Russians have been slowed down by the Chinese in building Sam Bases, because the Chinese remember what happened in Cuba. The Chinese at one time were making a lot of headway with Fidel Castro. Then the Russians began sending in weapons, including twenty-four Sam Missile Launchers. With them came Russian technicians, after which Russian influence won out over the Chinese.

Doubtless remembering this, Premier Chou En-Lai, visiting in Algeria, is reported to have told President Ben Bella that China does not intend to let Russia turn North Viet Nam into another Cuba. And for that reason, the Chinese have put roadblocks in the path of Russian Sam Sites and the Russian technicians who would accompany them.

Since the Chinese have banned Russian flights over Chinese territory, Russian Munitions must come into Viet Nam by slow boat Via Vladivostok.

NOTE -- The Russians now dance the twist to American Jazz in Moscow's leading hotels. But the music is a long way from being up to Western Jazz. I suggested to the Russians that they get some value back from all the Rubles they are shipping to Castro by importing some hot Cuban Orchestras. But the Russians are so down on Castro they wouldn't even take his music.

MOTHERS OF FAMOUS SONS

Some of the one-time debutante of Washington have now become the Mothers of distinguished government leaders.

One such mother is Mrs. Millard Tydings, who has the unique distinction of being the widow of a Senator from Maryland and now the mother of a Senator from Maryland, Joseph Davies Tydings.

Mrs. Tydings, daughter of the late Joe Davies, Ambassador to Russia, grew up in Washington, doesn't look old enough to be a Senator's mother.

Another famous mother is Mrs. Tom Clark, wife of Justice Clark of the Supreme Court and mother of the new Deputy Attorney General, Ramsey Clark.

The other day a distinguished group of Texans gathered to celebrate Texas Independence Day. Present were a reasonably well known Texan, now President of the United States; Also Congressman Jack Brooks, who presided; Bill Moyers of the White House Staff; Justice and Mrs. Tom Clark and their son Ramsey.

Reporting to the meeting on the election of new officers, Ramsey Clark addressed the distinguished guests: "Mr. President, Mr. Justice Clark, Mother."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

A tip to waiters, hairdressers, bellhops, Taxi drivers, et al: Internal Revenue has started a new crackdown on those who collect tips but don't pay full taxes on those tips. The Treasury estimates more than a billion dollars is earned each year in tips, though only a fraction of this amount is reported. . . .

Attention Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, Belmont, Mass. -- What do you think of Grand Dragon Craig's recent boast that the Klan has joined forces with the John Birch Society? Do you countenance Klan violence in the south? . . . Katharine St. George, the energetic Republican Congresswoman from New York State, is insinuating that men's pockets should be taxed. She has written to every member of Congress urging that the Excise Tax on Women's handbags be removed; Claims handbags are just as important to a woman as pants pockets to a man. If Congress does not remove the Excise Tax on handbags, Katherine claims Congress should tax men's pockets.

Hal Boyle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam AP-- In war-torn South Viet Nam, you may take your life in your hands if you venture far outside Saigon.

But if you do much walking inside Saigon, you take your life in your feet.

There is no such thing as an innocent bystander here.

Particularly if he is a pedestrian he is fair game for all and the only time he isn't in danger of being run down is during the curfew hours between 2 and 4 a.m. If he is abroad then he is only in danger of being shot by the police.

It is said that one reason the besieging Viet Cong haven't taken Saigon is that after reaching the outskirts of the city they decided it would be hopeless to try to fight their way through the traffic.

Saigon traffic is famous throughout the Far East. It starts early in the morning and, except for a three-hour siesta break, continues until it gets too dark to see a pedestrian.

If you strike one and are found at fault you must pay his hospital or funeral costs. Rules of the road prohibit a motorist from pursuing the pedestrian across sidewalks or into public buildings.

"Actually you rarely see a pedestrian or bicyclist badly injured," remarked a motorist who has won an unsafe driver's badge with three oak leaf clusters. "The main idea is merely to brush him out of the way with your bumper."

The traffic here is picturesque as well as impossible. The streets are a rolling museum of the history of wheeled vehicles.

Your status depends on whether you own your vehicle, what kind of wheels it has and how much it cost.

At the bottom of the social totem pole is the cyclo driver who wears a comical hat and operates a pedal taxi resembling a bike pushing a wheel chair.

From this social basement your prestige goes up to the motorcyclist to the cab owner to the man who owns his car or even better is driven by a government chauffeur.

The cabbies of Paris are regarded as Europe's wildest steersmen. But in Saigon, everybody drives as if he were a jockey whipping his mount home in a $100,000 handicap race.

Motorcycle owners pride themselves on the number of people they can get on their vehicles. I saw one man and his wife barreling along holding three children as they discussed the world situation in Chinese.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Steel Industry Booms, Hires More Men Despite Labor's Alarums over Automation.

Pittsburgh:-- An electronic terror stalks the land.

Everywhere--expecially today in the steel cities ranging from this area to the Chicago complex--working men, housewives and whole communities fear they'll be electric-brained out of their jobs. Professional mourners stir the agony with morbid predictions of what automation will wipe out.

It appears that the time has come to wipe out the melancholy dragon--especially in the steel cities.

It takes no James Bond, not even a Sherlock Holmes, but just some foot and pencil work to learn that the steel industry hired 180,000 new workers in 1964.

This increased by 30,000 the number of men employed by the big mills. Workers were hard to get despite the high wage rates.

Young men over the age of 18 were welcomed. But not enough of them applied, though the pay, after a while, would average about $135 a week for 40 hours.

Thus, as older men retired, or went on long sabbaticals, or simply quit for other jobs, the industry did not and was not able to cut its work force by attrition. It had to go out and fill 150,000 jobs just to keep even with the previous year.

These are well documented figures. And corroboration of the dearth of workers comes from a source which ordinarily would be complaining about the lack of jobs--none other than a recent edition of "Steel Labor," tabloid newspaper of the United Steelworkers of America (AFL-CIO).

"For the first time in many moons," said the labor publication, "the steel industry has been forced to go into the highways and byways of the nation seeking qualified men to fill employment opportunities in the Chicago area. . ."

This report disclosed that U. S. Steel, for example, had jobs at its mills in Chicago and Gary for "qualified men, including production labor for steel mill operation, experienced craftsmen including machinists, pipefitters and welders, mechanical and electrical maintenance men, narrow gauge rail switchmen and bricklayers with industrial experience."

Applicants had to be high school graduates, "or the equivalent," at least 18 years of age and able to meet physical requirements.

All through this period there were technological changes. Plants and parts of plants were automated. There were some problems in adjustments.

But there were more jobs than problems despite reports in Washington and academic circles that anywhere from 10,000 to 40,000 jobs a week are being wiped out by the computor.

For the moment at least, the real threat to jobs comes from the shrewd foreign steel producers. Steel industry and labor experts reckon that at least 31,000 additional jobs would have been available in the past five months if the strike fright had not provoked American steel buyers to make heavy purchases of the metal from England, France, Germany and Japan.

This will be a permanent condition. All insiders know that prices must go up when the new steel wage contracts are eventually signed. That's the realism of business life.

The American steelworker is the world's highest paid mill hand. His fire-breathing national union chiefs here know that and know what strike fright can do.

So there will have to be more automation to meet the foreign competition--for several reasons. Despite the higher new wage costs, American steel makers will have to sell abroad to make up some of the business they lose to foreign firms selling in the U. S.

Foreign governments cooperate with their own business men by harassing American firms. France, for example, puts $27 in duties and taxes on a ton of American auto body sheet steel imported by French manufacturers. U. S. taxes and duties on similar French metal come to only $7. Obviously this is a one-way street.

That's why America has to automate. Those who turn automation into a job-eating monster instead of an adjustment problem which can be and is being handled are professional mourners.

They do injury to the country. It's time their dragon was slain.

And they overlook the most vital statistic of all. At the height of the big war in 1944, there were 17.3 million people working in the manufacturing field.

Today, after 20 years of electronic wizardry and automation there still are 17.3 million working in the same manufacturing industries--and a record number of additional millions are employed in offices, services and research.

ANN LANDERS Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: What should a mother tell her 11-year-old son when the boy's father is mentally ill? I've always felt it is needless to burden a child with adult problems. They learn soon enough that life can be cruel.

About two years ago my husband lost his business. He went into a depression and would not speak to anyone. He began to drink heavily and it became difficult to distinguish between the alcoholism and the sick mind.

Two weeks ago I signed papers which committed him to an institution. I told our son his daddy was taking a vacation. I am exhausted keeping up the pretense but I don't know how else to handle it. Am I doing right by the boy? -- Anxious Mother.

Dear Mother: No. Please tell your son that daddy is no longer on vacation -- that he is ill and had to go to the hospital.

Your son must sense that you are anxious and trying to hide something. This will make him anxious, too. And if you don't let him know there is always a chance that he will learn from outside the home that his father is mentally ill and in the hospital. This would shake his confidence in you and add to your problems.

Children often understand a great deal more than their parents give them credit for. And they adjust better to an unhappy truth than to a candy-coated lie.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a mother of four children who must work because my husband has asthma and can't hold down a job.

The widow next door calls my husband almost every day to help her out. He has fixed her plumbing, painted her kitchen, put new fixtures in her bathroom and helped her carry barrels from the basement to the attic. Every year he takes off her storm windows and puts up her screens.

When I ask him to go to the store for me he starts to wheeze up a storm and tells me he is a sick man.

If I am being unreasonable I would like you to say so in the paper.--The Nag (His name for me.)

Dear Chump (MY name for you): Any man who is well enough to do all the things you listed should be able to hold down a part-time job. I recommend it.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a woman 70 years old. When my husband died I felt very much alone. It seemed like a good idea to ask my married daughter, her husband and three children to move into my home. They have lived here free from time to time (once for 5 years) so this was nothing new to them.

I pay the taxes, half of the utilities, buy my own clothes, pay my own doctor bills, do all the cooking, most of the ironing and I take care of my small grandson while my daughter works with her husband.

Last week I told my daughter I was making out a will and that I wanted everything I own to be divided between her and her brother. She said, "I think you are being unfair. You should leave this house to me."

Actually my daughter and her husband have been able to save a lot of money by living here. They have a free roof, a cook and a built-in nursemaid for their child. They buy only groceries and pay for half the utilities. I want to treat my son and daughter equally. If you feel I am wrong please say so. -- An Honest Opinion Wanted

Dear A. H.O.W.: I know of few sentences more grasping and ugly than the ones your daughter uttered. If you want your son and daughter to share equally in your estate, by all means write your will that way.

NEW YORK:—Chemical science has found a white substance made with quicksilver that works wonders on wrinkled, roughened face and hands. Use it one time and it is entirely possible you will see improvement next morning. In a few days dry-skin wrinkles start to vanish. Many of the small ones around the eyes and mouth have already disappeared. But that is not all! "Old-Age" (weathered) brown spots on hands and arms—brown "age" darkness on surface of face and neck fades away! Rich oils lubricate pores so blackheads can slip out without squeezing. Gibson Leads Cards To Victory Over Milwaukee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Gibson won his third game, pitching the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-0 victory over the Milwaukee Braves at Milwaukee Wednesday night.

Gibson has accounted for three of the Cardinals' four victories this season. Two of his triumphs were shut-outs. He hasn't lost yet.

He allowed only three hits as the smallest crowd — 1,324 — in Milwaukee County Stadium history watched the Braves go down in defeat. The Braves are scheduled to move to Atlanta next season.

Al Downing allowed Kansas City only five hits at New York and the Yankees took a 5-1 victory from the Athletics.

St. Louis got three runs the first two innings. The first came on daring base running by the Redbirds' Lou Brock. Brock walked, moved to second on a passed ball, stole third and scored on an infield out.

Tim McCarver and Brock singled in a two-run outbreak in the second inning when the Cardinals were helped by a walk and a wild pitch.

Roger Maris was injured in the New York — Kansas City game when the Yankee outfielder pulled a muscle in his right thigh while catching a line drive in the seventh inning. The Yankee physician said Maris would be out three weeks.

Kansas City's lone run came in the eighth when Tom Reynolds walked, moved to second on a wild pitch, to third on an outfield fly and scored when Ed Charles singled.

Curt Simmons (0-2) will start for St. Louis. Tony Cloninger (1-2) will pitch for the Braves.

Bloomfield Blasts Advance Hornets

Pitcher Rodney Bullinger took all the sting out of the Hornet attack allowing the Hornets only one run and two hits.

White, Wise and Kingree paced the Bloomfield offense with two hits each. Kingree doubled and Dale Underwood doubled to have the only extra base hits of the affair.

Bloomfield will meet Richland's Rebels tomorrow.

Bill Hartack Riding Bold Lad Favorite To Win At Derby Saturday

By KELSO STURGEON

Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jockey Bill Hartack is impressed with Kentucky Derby favorite Bold Lad, but not enough to predict that the powerful colt will win Saturday's classic.

"I know he's a good horse and I couldn't help but be impressed by him," Hartack said, "but he'll have to prove himself Saturday."

The combination of Bold Lad and Hartack, who has won this famous race four times in six tries, is expected to go postward as the 9-5 favorite Saturday.

Entries for the Derby were to be made today, with a field of 10, and possibly 12, in prospect.

Hartack said he wasn't a bit nervous about sitting on the favorite in the Derby, explaining that "it's just another race. One race means just as much to me as another."

He won on Venetian Way in 1960, Decidedly in 1962 and Northern Dancer in 1964. He had no mounts in 1961 and 1963.

Hartack also won the Derby in 1957 with Iron Liege. He finished second on Fabius in 1956 and was 13th on Easy Spur in 1959. Hartack was to have ridden Tim Tam, who won the Derby in 1958, but the jockey broke his leg and lost the mount.

If 12 horses start in the 91st running of this first jewel of racing's Triple Crown, the race will have a gross value of $156,000 with $113,500 going to the winner, $25,000 to the second place horse, $12,500 to third and $5,000 to fourth.

The race will be televised nationally by CBS from 4-5 p.m., EST. Post time is set for 4:45 before an expected crowd of 100,000.

Bold Lad's trainer, Bill Winfrey, said last year's 2-year-old champion from Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable, came out of Tuesday's Derby Trial "in fine shape — just the way he went into it."

"We'll now wait and see about the Derby — at least I know, and feel, that he's in shape for a top race," Winfrey said.

Hartack rode Bold Lad for the first time in the Trial, which the son of Bold Ruler won easily in the time of 1:35 1-5 for the mile.

Bold Lad is expected to get his major challenge from Florida Derby winner Native Charger, California campaigner Lucky Debonair, stretch-running Hail to All, front-running Flag Raiser and Tom Rolfe, who has won three of his four starts as a 3-year-old.

Other definite starters include Arkansas Derby winner Swift Ruler, Mr. Pak, Dapper Dan, and Carpenter's Rule. The other two possibilities are Apple Core and Narushua

Sikeston's cindermen travel to Poplar Bluff, this Friday to do battle in the Poplar Bluff relays. Sikeston is fresh from an easy victory at Dexter. The relays shape up as a real battle between the giants in track and field. Cape Central's Tigers will be there. They scored a very impressive win in the Northern Conference Meet. There will be a lot of big guns aimed at the Tigers. Southern Conference power Kennett has perhaps the best team in Southeast Missouri. Mighty Charleston, Dexter, Jackson and, of course, Poplar Bluff and Sikeston will be on hand. Kennett has to be favorite to come home with the championship. Cape Central, Charleston and our own Bulldogs should show well, and any of these three could be a possible winner. Poplar Bluff, with all it's talent, has to be considered a long shot, though they have failed to produce so far this season. All in all, it shapes up as a real good meet, with a lot of great track teams entered.

The Sikeston Junior High Invitation meet will be held on May 1, at the Senior High School Track. There will be two divisions in the meet; A division (Freshmen) and a B division (7th and 8th graders).

Cape Central and Bloomfield play at 2:15 p.m. Friday for the Oran District championship. Sikeston travels to Cape Friday to do battle with Notre Dame in baseball.

Big Eight Baseball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tim Van Galder, Iowa State's football quarterback, took over the No. 1 spot in pitching while Oklahoma State's little Tony Stark clung to the batting lead in Big Eight baseball although stopped by Missouri pitchers.

Van Galder, son of a Wisconsin football staff member, didn't give up an earned run in defeating Colorado last week. This lowered his earned run average to 0.81, with two in 21 innings. He yielded both to Kansas, leading to his only defeat.

Stark batted only 1-for-11 against Missouri, and his league average skidded from .789 to .533. Closing in on Stark, however, were Bob Robben of Missouri with .483, Stu Steele of Kansas State .481, defending champ Steve McGreevy of Kansas .452 and Gene Stephenson of Missouri .450.

Other batters over .400 are Frank Warrington of OSU .438 and Bill Fenton of Kansas .412. Fenton, a third baseman, will be out for the season with a broken bone in his left hand.

Chana is tied with Missouri's Orv Hollrah for second place in the Big Eight ERA rankings, both at 2.25. Dick Frank of OSU and Bob Hergenrader of Nebraska are next, both at 2.34.

Steve Renko of Kansas has the best strikeout average, 1.4 per inning, with 28 in 20 innings. K-State's Bob Ballard has the best control average at 0.81, permitting only one walk in 12 1-3 innings.

Robben and Oklahoma's Carl Schreiner are tied for the league lead in runs batted in with 11 each. Schreiner and K-State's Joe Beck are on top in homers with three each.

Other leaders: Hits-Stark 16; Doubles--Stark and Jim Mahoney, Iowa State, 4 each; Triples --McGreevy, Steele and Ray Thorpe of Missouri, 2 each; Stolen bases--Jerry Retzlaff, Iowa State 5.

In team hitting, Oklahoma State leads with .292, Missouri has .283. In team pitching, Iowa State's 1.89 ERA is the best. The Nebraska staff has 2.43 but the Huskers have the best team defense, giving up only 17 runs in seven games, and have the best team fielding mark at .961. Missouri is scoring 5.9 runs a game, OSU 5.6 and Iowa State 5.5.

Missouri's defending champs have a chance to slip into first place in the topsy-turvy pennant race. The Tigers, 5-3, play at K-State, 2-6, while the other four contenders collide headon, with first place Nebraska, 5-2, meeting Iowa State, 5-3, at Lincoln and OSU, 6-3, at Kansas, 5-4. In the other series, Colorado, 2-6, plays at Oklahoma, 3-6.

Cape Plays At SIU Friday

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo.--Southeast Missouri State's baseball team, undefeated in five games prior to a Wednesday contest against Martin, Tenn., travels to Carbondale Friday for a game with Southern Illinois.

The Saluki's are expected to provide Joe Uhls' nine with some of the best competition to date, although the Indian squad has bested Murray (Ky.) State, one of the top teams in the Midwest.

Freshman Mike Portell of DeSoto owns the top ERA on the mound staff, a clean 0.0 mark for six innings. St. Louis junior Ray Bahr and Cape sophmore Kermit Meystedt have both won two games, Meystedt pitching a total of 12 innings and Bahr 6. Bahr's ERA is 1.5, Meystedt's 3.75.

ROCHESTER, Minn. AP--John Yovicsin, Harvard football coach, underwent open heart surgery Wednesday at the Mayo Clinic and was reported in satisfactory condition.

Nicklaus Favored In $75,000. Tournament

By BOB MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The name of the game today is Jack Nicklaus, or so it seemed as 26 professional golfers fired away in the first round of the $75,000 Tournament of Champions.

The setting was the Desert Inn Country Club. The course, one of the better of the resort challenges according to the pros, measures 7,029 yards.

Par is 36-36-72, and winds of 15 to 25 miles an hour and temperatures in the upper 80s were forecast.

The 25-year-old Nicklaus was a firm 5-2 favorite to retain his 1.000 batting average in the tournament. He has played it twice, won twice and is seeking his third in as many years.

There is Arnold Palmer, the 1962 winner here, who has not won a tournament since the Oklahoma City Open May 18 last year.

There is Bill Casper, Jr., who three times has finished second, and two former winners, Sam Snead, 1961, and Mike Souchak, 1959.

There are also, as Nicklaus himself pointed out, such fellows as Tony Lema and Doug Sanders.

"In my own mind I don't feel I should be favored. I haven't played in a tournament since the Masters two weeks ago, and if you lose two weeks in this kind of competition you can lose your sharpness and you tend to play sloppy."

Palmer shot a 66 in a final practice round Wednesday. Casper went 18 holes, but did not keep a score. Nicklaus had a 73, but said, "I was just fooling around."

Chevrolet Impala

People who buy other big expensive-looking cars get one thing you won't (big expensive-looking payments)

It looks like a big car. And is—by almost any standard you want to apply.

Width? Nobody builds a car as much as one inch wider. Length? It grew three inches this year. Roominess? Every closed model's got three inches more shoulder room, front and rear, and more leg and foot room up front too. Luxury? Nice little touches like the look of mellow walnut across the Impala's instrument panel. And big touches. Like the fineness of the same Body by Fisher workmanship that makes some of America's most expensive cars look so expensive. How about the ride? Chevrolet engineers took the Jet-smooth one and smoothed it out even more this year. Also made it more stable by widening the wheel stance. Custom features? You can personalize your Chevrolet all you want because there are nearly 200 custom features to choose from. Price? That's where Chevrolets fall way short of the other big expensive-looking cars. But we wouldn't have it any other way. Would you?

One last question: How soon can you make a good spring buy on a Chevrolet? One last answer: Just as soon as you can get down to your Chevrolet dealer's.

Gibson Leads Cards To Victory Over Milwaukee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Gibson won his third game, pitching the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-0 victory over the Milwaukee Braves at Milwaukee Wednesday night.

Gibson has accounted for three of the Cardinals' four victories this season. Two of his triumphs were shut-outs. He hasn't lost yet.

He allowed only three hits as the smallest crowd—1,324—in Milwaukee County Stadium history watched the Braves go down in defeat. The Braves are scheduled to move to Atlanta next season.

Al Downing allowed Kansas City only five hits at New York and the Yankees took a 5-1 victory from the Athletics.

St. Louis got three runs the first two innings. The first came on daring base running by the Redbirds' Lou Brock. Brock walked, moved to second on a passed ball, stole third and scored on an infield out.

Tim McCarver and Brock singled in a two-run outbreak in the second inning when the Cardinals were helped by a walk and a wild pitch.

Roger Maris was injured in the New York — Kansas City game when the Yankee outfielder pulled a muscle in his right thigh while catching a line drive in the seventh inning. The Yankee physician said Maris would be out three weeks.

Kansas City's lone run came in the eighth when Tom Reynolds walked, moved to second on a wild pitch, to third on an outfield fly and scored when Ed Charles singled.

Curt Simmons (0-2) will start for St. Louis. Tony Cloninger (1-2) will pitch for the Braves.

White, Wise and Kingree paced the Bloomfield offense with two hits each. Kingree doubled and Dale Underwood doubled to have the only extra base hits of the affair.

Bloomfield will meet Richland's Rebels tomorrow.

Bill Hartack Riding Bold Lad Favorite To Win At Derby Saturday

By KELSO STURGEON

Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jockey Bill Hartack is impressed with Kentucky Derby favorite Bold Lad, but not enough to predict that the powerful colt will win Saturday's classic.

"I know he's a good horse and I couldn't help but be impressed by him," Hartack said, "but he'll have to prove himself Saturday."

The combination of Bold Lad and Hartack, who has won this famous race four times in six tries, is expected to go postward as the 9-5 favorite Saturday.

Entries for the Derby were to be made today, with a field of 10, and possibly 12, in prospect.

Hartack said he wasn't a bit nervous about sitting on the favorite in the Derby, explaining that "it's just another race. One race means just as much to me as another."

He won on Venetian Way in 1960, Decidedly in 1962 and Northern Dancer in 1964. He had no mounts in 1961 and 1963.

Hartack also won the Derby in 1957 with Iron Liege. He finished second on Fabius in 1956 and was 13th on Easy Spur in 1959. Hartack was to have ridden Tim Tam, who won the Derby in 1958, but the jockey broke his leg and lost the mount.

If 12 horses start in the 91st running of this first jewel of racing's Triple Crown, the race will have a gross value of $156,000 with $113,500 going to the winner, $25,000 to the second place horse, $12,500 to third and $5,000 to fourth.

The race will be televised nationally by CBS from 4-5 p.m., EST. Post time is set for 4:45 before an expected crowd of 100,000.

Bold Lad's trainer, Bill Winfrey, said last year's 2-year-old champion from Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable, came out of Tuesday's Derby Trial "in fine shape — just the way he went into it."

"We'll now wait and see about the Derby — at least I know, and feel, that he's in shape for a top race," Winfrey said.

Hartack rode Bold Lad for the first time in the Trial, which the son of Bold Ruler won easily in the time of 1:35 1-5 for the mile.

Bold Lad is expected to get his major challenge from Florida Derby winner Native Charger, California campaigner Lucky Debonair, stretch-running Hail to All, front-running Flag Raiser and Tom Rolfe, who has won three of his four starts as a 3-year-old.

Other definite starters include Arkansas Derby winner Swift Ruler, Mr. Pak, Dapper Dan, and Carpenter's Rule. The other two possibilities are Apple Core and Narushua.

Sikeston's cindermen travel to Poplar Bluff, this Friday to do battle in the Poplar Bluff relays. Sikeston is fresh from an easy victory at Dexter. The relays shape up as a real battle between the giants in track and field. Cape Central's Tigers will be there. They scored a very impressive win in the Northern Conference Meet. There will be a lot of big guns aimed at the Tigers. Southern Conference power Kennett has perhaps the best team in Southeast Missouri. Mighty Charleston, Dexter, Jackson and, of course, Poplar Bluff and Sikeston will be on hand. Kennett has to be favorite to come home with the championship. Cape Central, Charleston and our own Bulldogs should show well, and any of these three could be a possible winner. Poplar Bluff, with all it's talent, has to be considered a long shot, though they have failed to produce so far this season. All in all, it shapes up as a real good meet, with a lot of great track teams entered.

The Sikeston Junior High Invitation meet will be held on May 1, at the Senior High School Track. There will be two divisions in the meet; A division (Freshmen) and a B division (7th and 8th graders).

Cape Central and Bloomfield play at 2:15 p.m. Friday for the Oran District championship. Sikeston travels to Cape Friday to do battle with Notre Dame in baseball.

Chevrolet Impala

People who buy other big expensive-looking cars get one thing you won't (big expensive-looking payments)

It looks like a big car. And is—by almost any standard you want to apply.

Width? Nobody builds a car as much as one inch wider. Length? It grew three inches this year. Roominess? Every closed model's got three inches more shoulder room, front and rear, and more leg and foot room up front too. Luxury? Nice little touches like the look of mellow walnut across the Impala's instrument panel. And big touches. Like the fineness of the same Body by Fisher workmanship that makes some of America's most expensive cars look so expensive. How about the ride? Chevrolet engineers took the Jet-smooth one and smoothed it out even more this year. Also made it more stable by widening the wheel stance. Custom features? You can personalize your Chevrolet all you want because there are nearly 200 custom features to choose from. Price? That's where Chevrolets fall way short of the other big expensive-looking cars. But we wouldn't have it any other way. Would you?

One last question: How soon can you make a good spring buy on a Chevrolet? One last answer: Just as soon as you can get down to your Chevrolet dealer's.

IN THE SHADOW OF JACQUELINE

President's Lady Makes Own Image Live

By BILL BYERS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) Besides the President, Lynda, Luci and, possibly Him, the beagle, a University of Texas freshman knows more of the First Lady's innermost thoughts than anyone else.

It's no secret that Mrs. Johnson locks herself in her White House bedroom every week and pours her memoirs into a tape recorder. She has been doing it since Nov. 22, 1963. But except for a brief description of the events in Dallas for the Warren Report not one word of her oral diary has been heard by anyone except herself—and 18-year-old Scott Carpenter.

Byers

Before the Army provided Mrs. Johnson with an easy to-operate recorder, she relied on Scott and his $12 Japanese machine to collect her thoughts.

Scott, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, the First Lady's staff director, recorded about 15 hour-long sessions for Mrs. Johnson, who found the Oriental gadget inscrutable and too tricky to operate herself.

"At first, after the assassination, she was recording every day," Mrs. Carpenter says. "She didn't want anybody to know, not even the President. She would just call Scott up on the phone and tell him to bring his machine over as quickly as he could. In those days of heavy strain, I think it was good therapy. Now, although she doesn't plan to ever publish her words, Mrs. Johnson keeps up with it because she has an acute sense of history."

* * *

Although Mrs. Johnson has never told him to, Scott has kept mum on what he has heard.

The recording incident is typical of the changes in the mansion on Pennsylvania Avenue. Its mistress, who still lives in the shadow of Jacqueline Kennedy, is attempting to leave her own mark on history.

Mrs. Johnson's problem, establishing herself as the chief subject of interest in the White House, is exemplified by a recent tour of 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

"Ah, this is Mrs. Kennedy's favorite portrait," he said referring to Henry Inman's painting of Angelica Van Buren in the Green Room. And later on, he commented that Mrs. Kennedy was so fond of the stately East Room that "she didn't have the heart to change its decor."

Not once were there any references to paintings or furniture admired by Mrs. Johnson. If you didn't know better, you'd wonder if she really lives there.

* * *

Vibrant and radiant, Mrs. Johnson slipped without fanfare into the White House screening room to comment on the Westinghouse Broadcasting Company's 30-minute color television program on the executive mansion's art, which will be telecast on a syndicated basis in April.

"What are your favorite portraits?" Mrs. Johnson was asked. She thought for a long moment and said in her East Texas drawl, "Why, I'm partial to the ones of Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin. And my goodness, I hope they are in the film!"

They are. The film, produced by Mrs. Amy LaFollette Jensen, the noted White House authority, and her husband, Howard Jensen, is a close-up look at 47 paintings. It was started two years ago with the encouragement of Mrs. Kennedy and was almost completed when the President was assassinated.

LADY BIRD JOHNSON
"I'm partial to the ones of Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin"

Mrs. Carpenter says it was typical of Mrs. Johnson not to let the film be abandoned. Not only was she eager to see it completed but volunteered to give a brief introduction.

It also doesn't bother Mrs. Johnson when people tell her "how well Jackie decorated the White House, turning it from a mausoleum into a home." The First Lady champions her predecessor's good taste and is more than a little relieved that she doesn't have to compete with her on that score.

Mrs. Carpenter says Mrs. Johnson has decided to revisit South Carolina, where she was jeered during last year's campaign.

"Mrs. Johnson was deeply hurt and bewildered by the Old South's coolness towards her," Mrs. Carpenter says. "She will never forget walking down the empty, magnolia-lined streets of Charleston, past house after house with 'We're Solid for Goldwater' signs. The President tells her to forget it. But she is determined to make sure these fellow Southerners will be in the Democratic column in 1968."

with Ed Murrow." Eric Sevareid and Charles Collingwood, former colleagues of the newscaster who died of cancer on Tuesday, will narrate the program. It will consist primarily of excerpts from his radio and television broadcasts.

Help Coming To Farmers

Recent authorizations permit the Farmers Home Administration to make Economic Opportunity loans to small farmers and non-farmers in rural areas and in towns of 2,500 population or less. There are only two towns in New Madrid County that have populations over 2,500; New Madrid and Portageville.

Some of the purposes for which these loans have been made are:

1. Irrigation for 1/4 acre tomatoes.
2. Purchase stitching machines for upholstery shop.
3. Purchase plumbing equipment to assist in improving plumbing service.
4. Truck to haul labor.
5. Remodel house to take in roomers.
6. Building for country store.
7. Develop land on small farm.

Information about these loans may be secured from the Farmers Home Administration office in New Madrid, across the street north of the court house.

Meat Ball Tidbits

Miniature meat balls are appetizing as a party snack. Season one pound of ground beef with one teaspoon of salt and an eighth teaspoon of pepper. Mold the meat mixture around stuffed olives or pickled onions. Bake in a shallow pan in a slow oven (300° F.) 20 minutes. Serve with heated barbecue sauce. Yield: 40 meat balls.

Little French Girl Rules Roost

In a tiny pink house with pink porcelain cats, a pink lily pond and other very pink, very feminine frou-frou lives the mite-sized, iron-willed French girl who rules over these women with almost totalitarian authority.

She is Colette, their hairdresser.

You would think she was the only hairdresser in miles, the way influential friends must get you in, and how you must mind your manners if you expect to be permitted to return.

Once it is reported the Duchess of Windsor begged Colette to pardon a friend banned from the pink - curtained stalls with their glass-domed hairdryers.

"Ne-vaire!" said the pretty refugee with a charming accent. Since the duchess, along with former Palm Beach queen Dolly O'Brien, helped establish her here 18 winters ago, it pained Colette deeply to refuse.

"But it was a matter of principle and she understood."

The famous Kennedy women, Marjorie Merriwether Post, actress Dina Merrill, Jane Wrightsman -- in fact, almost all the women on the international best-dressed lists make their ways to the tiny pink house.

Inevitably hair stylists attracting big name clientele blossom into big salons with big publicity campaigns and big prices. Colette shuns all this because, "I don't want just anybody walking in off the streets." And she fears growing big and impersonal.

In other words, she is a happy woman the way she is - 40-ish and beautiful with dimples, mischevious black eyes, lustrous black hair, and single. "I have always enjoyed being in love but I have never thought I would enjoy being married," she says.

The third time a customer is a little tardy for her appointment she must buy champagne for the house. Sometimes the treat is on Colette. In her kitchen upstairs with the gaily painted pots and pans given her by Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her sister, Lee Radziwill, the French miss stirs up some delectable cuisine to go with the bubble-water.

Hearnes Points Way For Swift Action In House

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- Comment varied today on Gov. Warren E. Hearnes; special message prodding the House and Senate into swifter action on administration bills.

Rep. Mel Carnahan, D-Phelps County, House majority leader, said he thought the speech was "very helpful in giving us some direction and priorities in the legislative work ahead."

The minority leader, Rep. Ronald M. Belt, Macon County, said he had some reservations.

He said he was in full agreement on reapportionment, conflict of interest and civil rights. He questioned the governor's proposal to add another $10 million in funds for public schools -- "I don't know where they're planning to get the money."

Farm Bureau Outlook Meeting Set For May 7

A Farm Bureau Spring Survey and Market Outlook meeting will be held at the Sikeston Public Library, Sikeston, Missouri on May 7, starting at 8 P.M.

The purpose of this meeting is to present as much current information and economic information as is possible to know at this time regarding the outlook for livestock prices and feed grain prices for the spring and summer of 1965.

Assisting with the meetings will be a representative of the Economics Department of the Missouri College of Agriculture and the Agriculture Extension Service. These economists have valuable information for livestock producers and can present it in understandable capsule form.

The producers Livestock Marketing Association, National Stock Yards, Illinois, makes a market intention survey in the early spring and this information is put together and analyzed by producer marketing groups, on how producers in the St. Louis market territory indicate they will market their beef cattle, hogs and sheep from April through September. This survey has proven very valuable to livestock producers in the past and no doubt will be of value to all livestock producers for 1965.

A representative of the producer agencies will explain this survey material to all people who attend. It is also possible that a copy of the survey material can be made available to those in attendance.

The kind of markets that will give the livestock producer the highest possible income will be discussed as part of this Spring Survey and Market outlook meeting.

E. M. Woods, Director of Livestock and Wool Marketing, Missouri Farm Bureau, urges all livestock producers to attend this meeting.

Many Blind Persons Make Good Employees

The Ozark Association of the Blind has as one of its main objectives the improvement of employment conditions for the blind of this area. Progress has been made along this line in the past twenty years, but in comparison to the existing need, this is merely a beginning. Far too few employers are aware of the fact that blind people are little more than helpless, and just as few realize that there are jobs in factories, plants and offices which do not require sight for their successful performance. In this article I shall give you an idea of the places in private industry being filled by blind persons, together with a brief explanation as to why this is possible.

First, it is necessary that we consider blind people not as a group of persons having general characteristics, but as individuals possessing all the varied interests and abilities of human nature. There are many blind people with other handicaps which, though they are much less obvious than blindness, make competing with sighted persons out of the question. In this article we are dealing with well-adjusted blind persons who have better than average intelligence, a certain amount of manual dexterity, and a genuine interest in their jobs. They have simply lost their sight. It should be pointed out that as a rule a blind person who is successfully taking his place with sighted employees has the intelligence which, if he had normal vision, would enable him to do work of a much higher caliber. Thus, the employee is paying for the deficiency, the employer is getting a bargain.

Next, we must realize that while sight is necessary for the performance of many tasks, there are innumerable operations both at home and at work for which sight is simply a convenience. Persons possessing this marvelous faculty use it not only when necessary, but whenever possible, and quite reasonably could not be expected to distinguish the extent of its necessity. It is hoped that the records established by blind persons as employees and professional people, together with the good will, co-operation and spirit of daring on the part of our sighted and more far-seeing fellow citizens, will do much to help our organization realize its objective. And now for the records.

Prior to World War II, with the exception of the sheltered workshops, jobs for blind people were practically nonexistent. Then came the war, bringing with it a labor shortage so acute that blind men and women were hired by the hundreds. We filled jobs in factories, defense plants and offices in a manner so creditable as to prove beyond doubt that blind persons can, under favorable conditions, compete successfully with sighted workers when given tasks which do not require sight. Many are still employed in positions acquired at this time.

Now we have job - training programs, but there are innumerable operations in plants and offices which merely require a brief explanation or demonstration, in order for the blind employee to comprehend and adequately perform them. Blind people are now working with sighted employees in such diversified occupations as medical secretaries, stenographers, switchboard operators, darkroom technicians, assemblers, packers and industrial machine operators, to mention only a few. Our nation's atomic energy program employs both blind chemists and blind physicists.

Many professions are successfully practiced by blind persons, especially teaching and law. There are many blind attorneys throughout the country, as well as teachers in elementary schools, high schools and colleges.

Among the employed blind members of the Ozark Association we can boast a worker in an industrial plant; manager and operator of a snack bar in a garment factory; editors of a magazine in Braille and on tape; managers of a tape library for the blind; owner and operator of a confectionery; radio dispatchers for law enforcement agencies and a taxi stand; home teacher of the blind, and a police judge. Despite this list of gainfully employed members, there are in this area a number of qualified blind people who are desirous of obtaining employment. If any employer reading this article has a job opening which can be filled by a person without sight, please contact Ozark Association of the Blind headquarters, 275 Jefferson Street, Ste. Genevieve.

Statistics show that among blind employees accidents are fewer, attendance records are better, and production rates are higher. So, hiring a blind person is not a benevolent act, but a piece of good business.

To conclude, let us bear in mind that blind people are alike only in their disability; abilities are the explanations for success. In our abilities we differ just as sighted people differ. When the time comes that the public, and most especially employers, realize that wherein one blind person failed, another one might succeed, then a great victory will have been won. Another fervent hope is that the interest, understanding and co-operation which prompted this beginning of industrial opportunities for the blind will grow, until securing employment is no longer our major problem.

A—The elephant, a strict vegetarian, must feed almost constantly to support its enormous body; its daily requirements are about a quarter of a ton of green fodder—or about 150 pounds of hay—and 50 gallons of water.

Streisand Shows Talents In One Hour

NEW YORK AP -- Television audiences had an hour-long introduction Wednesday night to the current singing sensation, Barbra Streisand, at 23 the star of a Broadway hit.

CBS' "My Name is Barbra" was a flashy and imaginative demonstration of her talents, literally a one-woman show in which she sang, by actual count, 25 songs, engaged in an outrageous spoof of the high fashion business and even tried a comedy monologue.

She has an exciting voice, a highly individual style, interesting looks and a glossy sophistication of style that may be a little hard to take by music conservatives who prefer "Lover Come Back to Me" sung as Sigmund Romberg wrote it.

The sleek production of the program was reminiscent of that which surrounded Judy Garland in her earlier specials. But in spite of everything, the hour seemed a little long.

ABC's "King Family" hour will continue through the summer with new programs, only to be chopped in half when the fall season starts in September.

WASHINGTON (NEA) Besides the President, Lynda, Luci and, possibly Him, the beagle, a University of Texas freshman knows more of the First Lady's innermost thoughts than anyone else.

It's no secret that Mrs. Johnson locks herself in her White House bedroom every week and pours her memoirs into a tape recorder. She has been doing it since Nov. 22, 1963. But except for a brief description of the events in Dallas for the Warren Report not one word of her oral diary has been heard by anyone except herself—and 18-year-old Scott Carpenter.

Byers

Before the Army provided Mrs. Johnson with an easy to-operate recorder, she relied on Scott and his $12 Japanese machine to collect her thoughts.

Scott, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, the First Lady's staff director, recorded about 15 hour-long sessions for Mrs. Johnson, who found the Oriental gadget inscrutable and too tricky to operate herself.

"At first, after the assassination, she was recording every day," Mrs. Carpenter says. "She didn't want anybody to know, not even the President. She would just call Scott up on the phone and tell him to bring his machine over as quickly as he could. In those days of heavy strain, I think it was good therapy. Now, although she doesn't plan to ever publish her words, Mrs. Johnson keeps up with it because she has an acute sense of history."

Although Mrs. Johnson has never told him to, Scott has kept mum on what he has heard.

The recording incident is typical of the changes in the mansion on Pennsylvania Avenue. Its mistress, who still lives in the shadow of Jacqueline Kennedy, is attempting to leave her own mark on history.

"Ah, this is Mrs. Kennedy's favorite portrait," he said referring to Henry Inman's painting of Angelica Van Buren in the Green Room. And later on, he commented that Mrs. Kennedy was so fond of the stately East Room that "she didn't have the heart to change its decor."

Not once were there any references to paintings or furniture admired by Mrs. Johnson. If you didn't know better, you'd wonder if she really lives there.

Vibrant and radiant, Mrs. Johnson slipped without fanfare into the White House screening room to comment on the Westinghouse Broadcasting Company's 30-minute color television program on the executive mansion's art, which will be telecast on a syndicated basis in April.

"What are your favorite portraits?" Mrs. Johnson was asked. She thought for a long moment and said in her East Texas drawl, "Why, I'm partial to the ones of Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin. And my goodness, I hope they are in the film!"

They are. The film, produced by Mrs. Amy LaFollette Jensen, the noted White House authority, and her husband, Howard Jensen, is a close-up look at 47 paintings. It was started two years ago with the encouragement of Mrs. Kennedy and was almost completed when the President was assassinated.

LADY BIRD JOHNSON

"I'm partial to the ones of Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin"

Mrs. Carpenter says it was typical of Mrs. Johnson not to let the film be abandoned. Not only was she eager to see it completed but volunteered to give a brief introduction.

It also doesn't bother Mrs. Johnson when people tell her "how well Jackie decorated the White House, turning it from a mausoleum into a home." The First Lady champions her predecessor's good taste and is more than a little relieved that she doesn't have to compete with her on that score.

Mrs. Carpenter says Mrs. Johnson has decided to revisit South Carolina, where she was jeered during last year's campaign.

"Mrs. Johnson was deeply hurt and bewildered by the Old South's coolness towards her," Mrs. Carpenter says. "She will never forget walking down the empty, magnolia-lined streets of Charleston, past house after house with 'We're Solid for Goldwater' signs. The President tells her to forget it. But she is determined to make sure these fellow Southerners will be in the Democratic column in 1968."

with Ed Murrow," Eric Sevareid and Charles Collingwood, former colleagues of the newscaster who died of cancer on Tuesday, will narrate the program. It will consist primarily of excerpts from his radio and television broadcasts.

Help Coming To Farmers

Recent authorizations permit the Farmers Home Administration to make Economic Opportunity loans to small farmers and non-farmers in rural areas and in towns of 2,500 population or less. There are only two towns in New Madrid County that have populations over 2,500; New Madrid and Portageville.

Some of the purposes for which these loans have been made are:

1. Irrigation for 1/4 acre tomatoes.
2. Purchase stitching machines for upholstery shop.
3. Purchase plumbing equipment to assist in improving plumbing service.
4. Truck to haul labor.
5. Remodel house to take in roomers.
6. Building for country store.
7. Develop land on small farm.

Information about these loans may be secured from the Farmers Home Administration office in New Madrid, across the street north of the court house.

Meat Ball Tidbits

Miniature meat balls are appetizing as a party snack. Season one pound of ground beef with one teaspoon of salt and an eighth teaspoon of pepper. Mold the meat mixture around stuffed olives or pickled onions. Bake in a shallow pan in a slow oven (300° F.) 20 minutes. Serve with heated barbecue sauce. Yield: 40 meat balls.

Little French Girl Rules Roost

In a tiny pink house with pink porcelain cats, a pink lily pond and other very pink, very feminine frou-frou lives the mite-sized, iron-willed French girl who rules over these women with almost totalitarian authority.

You would think she was the only hairdresser in miles, the way influential friends must get you in, and how you must mind your manners if you expect to be permitted to return.

Once it is reported the Duchess of Windsor begged Colette to pardon a friend banned from the pink - curtained stalls with their glass-domed hairdryers.

"Ne-vaire!" said the pretty refugee with a charming accent. Since the duchess, along with former Palm Beach queen Dolly O'Brien, helped establish her here 18 winters ago, it pained Colette deeply to refuse.

"But it was a matter of principle and she understood."

The famous Kennedy women, Marjorie Merriwether Post, actress Dina Merrill, Jane Wrightsman -- in fact, almost all the women on the international best-dressed lists make their ways to the tiny pink house.

Inevitably hair stylists attracting big name clientele blossom into big salons with big publicity campaigns and big prices. Colette shuns all this because, "I don't want just anybody walking in off the streets." And she fears growing big and impersonal.

In other words, she is a happy woman the way she is - 40-ish and beautiful with dimples, mischevious black eyes, lustrous black hair, and single. "I have always enjoyed being in love but I have never thought I would enjoy being married," she says.

The third time a customer is a little tardy for her appointment she must buy champagne for the house. Sometimes the treat is on Colette. In her kitchen upstairs with the gaily painted pots and pans given her by Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her sister, Lee Radziwill, the French miss stirs up some delectable cuisine to go with the bubble-water.

Hearnes Points Way For Swift Action In House

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- Comment varied today on Gov. Warren E. Hearnes; special message prodding the House and Senate into swifter action on administration bills.

Rep. Mel Carnahan, D-Phelps County, House majority leader, said he thought the speech was "very helpful in giving us some direction and priorities in the legislative work ahead."

The minority leader, Rep. Ronald M. Belt, Macon County, said he had some reservations.

He said he was in full agreement on reapportionment, conflict of interest and civil rights. He questioned the governor's proposal to add another $10 million in funds for public schools -- "I don't know where they're planning to get the money."

Farm Bureau Outlook Meeting Set For May 7

A Farm Bureau Spring Survey and Market Outlook meeting will be held at the Sikeston Public Library, Sikeston, Missouri on May 7, starting at 8 P.M.

The purpose of this meeting is to present as much current information and economic information as is possible to know at this time regarding the outlook for livestock prices and feed grain prices for the spring and summer of 1965.

Assisting with the meetings will be a representative of the Economics Department of the Missouri College of Agriculture and the Agriculture Extension Service. These economists have valuable information for livestock producers and can present it in understandable capsule form.

The producers Livestock Marketing Association, National Stock Yards, Illinois, makes a market intention survey in the early spring and this information is put together and analyzed by producer marketing groups, on how producers in the St. Louis market territory indicate they will market their beef cattle, hogs and sheep from April through September. This survey has proven very valuable to livestock producers in the past and no doubt will be of value to all livestock producers for 1965.

A representative of the producer agencies will explain this survey material to all people who attend. It is also possible that a copy of the survey material can be made available to those in attendance.

The kind of markets that will give the livestock producer the highest possible income will be discussed as part of this Spring Survey and Market outlook meeting.

E. M. Woods, Director of Livestock and Wool Marketing, Missouri Farm Bureau, urges all livestock producers to attend this meeting.

Many Blind Persons Make Good Employees

The Ozark Association of the Blind has as one of its main objectives the improvement of employment conditions for the blind of this area. Progress has been made along this line in the past twenty years, but in comparison to the existing need, this is merely a beginning. Far too few employers are aware of the fact that blind people are little more than helpless, and just as few realize that there are jobs in factories, plants and offices which do not require sight for their successful performance. In this article I shall give you an idea of the places in private industry being filled by blind persons, together with a brief explanation as to why this is possible.

First, it is necessary that we consider blind people not as a group of persons having general characteristics, but as individuals possessing all the varied interests and abilities of human nature. There are many blind people with other handicaps which, though they are much less obvious than blindness, make competing with sighted persons out of the question. In this article we are dealing with well-adjusted blind persons who have better than average intelligence, a certain amount of manual dexterity, and a genuine interest in their jobs. They have simply lost their sight. It should be pointed out that as a rule a blind person who is successfully taking his place with sighted employees has the intelligence which, if he had normal vision, would enable him to do work of a much higher caliber. Thus, the employee is paying for the deficiency, the employer is getting a bargain.

Next, we must realize that while sight is necessary for the performance of many tasks, there are innumerable operations both at home and at work for which sight is simply a convenience. Persons possessing this marvelous faculty use it not only when necessary, but whenever possible, and quite reasonably could not be expected to distinguish the extent of its necessity. It is hoped that the records established by blind persons as employees and professional people, together with the good will, co-operation and spirit of daring on the part of our sighted and more far-seeing fellow citizens, will do much to help our organization realize its objective. And now for the records.

Prior to World War II, with the exception of the sheltered workshops, jobs for blind people were practically nonexistent. Then came the war, bringing with it a labor shortage so acute that blind men and women were hired by the hundreds. We filled jobs in factories, defense plants and offices in a manner so creditable as to prove beyond doubt that blind persons can, under favorable conditions, compete successfully with sighted workers when given tasks which do not require sight. Many are still employed in positions acquired at this time.

Now we have job - training programs, but there are innumerable operations in plants and offices which merely require a brief explanation or demonstration, in order for the blind employee to comprehend and adequately perform them. Blind people are now working with sighted employees in such diversified occupations as medical secretaries, stenographers, switchboard operators, darkroom technicians, assemblers, packers and industrial machine operators, to mention only a few. Our nation's atomic energy program employs both blind chemists and blind physicists.

Many professions are successfully practiced by blind persons, especially teaching and law. There are many blind attorneys throughout the country, as well as teachers in elementary schools, high schools and colleges.

Among the employed blind members of the Ozark Association we can boast a worker in an industrial plant; manager and operator of a snack bar in a garment factory; editors of a magazine in Braille and on tape; managers of a tape library for the blind; owner and operator of a confectionery; radio dispatchers for law enforcement agencies and a taxi stand; home teacher of the blind, and a police judge. Despite this list of gainfully employed members, there are in this area a number of qualified blind people who are desirous of obtaining employment. If any employer reading this article has a job opening which can be filled by a person without sight, please contact Ozark Association of the Blind headquarters, 275 Jefferson Street, Ste. Genevieve.

Statistics show that among blind employees accidents are fewer, attendance records are better, and production rates are higher. So, hiring a blind person is not a benevolent act, but a piece of good business.

To conclude, let us bear in mind that blind people are alike only in their disability; abilities are the explanations for success. In our abilities we differ just as sighted people differ. When the time comes that the public, and most especially employers, realize that wherein one blind person failed, another one might succeed, then a great victory will have been won. Another fervent hope is that the interest, understanding and co-operation which prompted this beginning of industrial opportunities for the blind will grow, until securing employment is no longer our major problem.

Q—How prolific an eater is the elephant?

A—The elephant, a strict vegetarian, must feed almost constantly to support its enormous body; its daily requirements are about a quarter of a ton of green fodder—or about 150 pounds of hay—and 50 gallons of water.

Streisand Shows Talents In One Hour

NEW YORK AP -- Television audiences had an hour-long introduction Wednesday night to the current singing sensation, Barbra Streisand, at 23 the star of a Broadway hit.

CBS' "My Name is Barbra" was a flashy and imaginative demonstration of her talents, literally a one-woman show in which she sang, by actual count, 25 songs, engaged in an outrageous spoof of the high fashion business and even tried a comedy monologue.

She has an exciting voice, a highly individual style, interesting looks and a glossy sophistication of style that may be a little hard to take by music conservatives who prefer "Lover Come Back to Me" sung as Sigmund Romberg wrote it.

The sleek production of the program was reminiscent of that which surrounded Judy Garland in her earlier specials. But in spite of everything, the hour seemed a little long.

ABC's "King Family" hour will continue through the summer with new programs, only to be chopped in half when the fall season starts in September.

There was a vast outpouring of sympathy notes recently when the senior member of the clan, William King Driggs, died at 79.

Driggs, a veteran vaudevillian, was the father of the six sisters and two brothers who are the parents of all the youthful Kings.

Illiteracy Being Fought In Mexico

MEXICO CITY AP -- Mexico's nationwide "revolution through education" is being pushed hard by the administration, which hopes to eliminate illiteracy by 1970. Even if the goal is not reached, the drive is paying off.

Mexico spends four times as much on education as it does on defense and efforts to educate the masses are massive, although the stork is a major problem.

Illiteracy, running almost 80 per cent of the population at one time, is down to around 32 per cent. But Mexico's population has jumped from 15 million to around 40 million in half a century, and is growing at the rate of a million a year. So the percentage looks good, but the actual numbers don't.

Consequently, Prof. Ramon Bonfil, newly appointed director of the government's anti-illiteracy campaign, is pushing education in all fields -- new schools, more teachers, radio and television programs, a national drive for more students, and even new teaching concepts.

Newspapers, television, radio, private industrial and fraternal groups, all are helping. School children ring doorbells looking for illiterates to enroll in a new 10-month course.

When the 1910 revolution ended, Mexican peasants wanted schools for their children almost as badly as they wanted land for themselves. President Alvaro Obregon launched Mexico's first major program for education in the early 1920s. He named Jose Vasconcelos education minister.

Vasconcelos organized missionary teachers to visit rural areas by rail, car, horseback, canoe and on foot, surveying educational and health needs and recruiting the help of rural teachers. By the end of Obregon's term in 1924 there were more than 1,000 federal rural schools operating, with about 65,000 students, despite many handicaps.

The latest figures show there are 37,576 primary city schools with 6,605,751 students, and 28,931 primary rural schools with 2,694,191 students. In addition, there are secondary schools, many universities, including the huge National University, with more than 75,000 enrolled, and other centers.

But Mexico's battle has been complicated by the tremendous increase in population, about 3.1 per cent a year. In 1930 Mexico had 16.6 million people, today an estimated 40 million.

Although the government has set up a five-year program hoping to educate all by 1970, officials acknowledge it may take a decade to provide adequate education for this ever-swelling tide of school-age children.

Illiteracy Being Fought In Mexico

MEXICO CITY AP -- Mexico's nationwide "revolution through education" is being pushed hard by the administration, which hopes to eliminate illiteracy by 1970. Even if the goal is not reached, the drive is paying off.

Mexico spends four times as much on education as it does on defense and efforts to educate the masses are massive, although the stork is a major problem.

Illiteracy, running almost 80 per cent of the population at one time, is down to around 32 per cent. But Mexico's population has jumped from 15 million to around 40 million in half a century, and is growing at the rate of a million a year. So the percentage looks good, but the actual numbers don't.

Consequently, Prof. Ramon Bonfil, newly appointed director of the government's anti-illiteracy campaign, is pushing education in all fields -- new schools, more teachers, radio and television programs, a national drive for more students, and even new teaching concepts.

Newspapers, television, radio, private industrial and fraternal groups, all are helping. School children ring doorbells looking for illiterates to enroll in a new 10-month course.

When the 1910 revolution ended, Mexican peasants wanted schools for their children almost as badly as they wanted land for themselves. President Alvaro Obregon launched Mexico's first major program for education in the early 1920s. He named Jose Vasconcelos education minister.

Vasconcelos organized missionary teachers to visit rural areas by rail, car, horseback, canoe and on foot, surveying educational and health needs and recruiting the help of rural teachers. By the end of Obregon's term in 1924 there were more than 1,000 federal rural schools operating, with about 65,000 students, despite many handicaps.

The latest figures show there are 37,576 primary city schools with 6,605,751 students, and 28,931 primary rural schools with 2,694,191 students. In addition, there are secondary schools, many universities, including the huge National University, with more than 75,000 enrolled, and other centers.

But Mexico's battle has been complicated by the tremendous increase in population, about 3.1 per cent a year. In 1930 Mexico had 16.6 million people, today an estimated 40 million.

Although the government has set up a five-year program hoping to educate all by 1970, officials acknowledge it may take a decade to provide adequate education for this ever-swelling tide of school-age children.

Hearnes Speaks To Joint Session

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes urged the Missouri Legislature Wednesday to step up action on reapportionment of the House, conflict of interest and civil rights legislation.

He also recommended an additional $10 million in state aid to public schools.

The governor's prodding came in a special message prepared for a joint session of the House and Senate.

He urged the legislators to "cut through the maze of custom and procedure to effect early deliberation of the topics pinpointed in his speech.

"I am deeply disturbed," he said, "about the lack of progress of conflict of interest legislation. The longer the delay, the greater the suspicion of our people that all is not well in state government. No legislation would do more to encourage the respect by the electorate of their public officials."

A conflict of interest bill was approved by a House committee Tuesday night but still has a long way to go."

The civil rights legislation," the governor continued, "is in better position than bills dealing with conflict of interest; however, the timetable of the former is such that one might worry that time, as in prior sessions, again will run out and we, once more, will have failed the people.

"The passage of civil rights and conflict of interest legislation I consider of prime importance—so important that if this session did not have the time to give the measures the consideration they were due, I would seriously consider submitting both measures at a special session."

The Senate has passed a proposed constitutional amendment setting House membership at 165, a gain of two seats, and providing for a bipartisan commission to handle redistricting.

"There seems to be a feeling among House members," the governor said, "that reapportioning can be effected by the House itself without the efforts of an outside bipartisan commission.

"I find no quarrel with this procedure, if it is accomplished within the purview of the recent federal court decision and is fair to both parties. However, I would recommend immediate consideration of legislation fixing the number of House members. This question should be submitted to the people for a vote as early as possible."

House Speaker Thomas D. Graham, D-Cole County, has said the House will not consider any apportionment matters until June 1 when the session has only one month left.

The governor also recommended quick action on a bill to plug a $6 million gap in the state sales tax law, caused by a recent Supreme Court decision.

Conditioned on passage of the corrective bill and a belief that the state's economy is sound and expanding, Hearnes recommended an additional $10 million for the school foundation program.

The House has passed a bill to expand the state aid formula by $24.5 million. The governor said this could be financed "by drastic cuts in the needs of other state agencies but would not be in the best interest of the state."

He called the recommendation for an extra $10 million "a start in the right direction" and said he hoped later sessions could appropriate more in order to bring teachers' salaries up to the national average.

The extra $10 million apparently would bring total school aid to $20 million more than last year. In his Jan. 13 message the governor recommended an initial $10 million increase to bring the present foundation program up to full financing for the first time.

The governor said he wanted the legislature to make a record both he and the members could be proud of.

"The next two months are critical ones," he warned.

"Let us leave no stone unturned so that, after June 30, the overwhelming majority of the citizens of the state of Missouri, in speaking of the 73rd General Assembly, will judge the session as the most productive in Missouri history."

Beef, Pork And Broilers To Be Put On Specials

Beef, pork and broiler-fryers will top the specials at meat counters of many supermarkets and neighborhood stores this weekend.

There will be abundant supplies of beef and pork roasts.

Broiler - fryers also are in good supply. Fryers will be a particular bargain. One big Eastern supermarket chain is offering them at 27 cents a pound, down 12 cents from last week.

The outlook is for lower supplies of beef and pork. The number of cattle on feed April 1 was 2 per cent fewer than a year earlier. An 8 to 10 per cent decline in pork production is expected.

Veal and broiler output continue to outstrip last year at this season.

Other good main dish buys will be canned pink salmon, fish sticks and fish portions.

Produce counters will be laden with plenty of carrots, celery, corn, lettuce, onions, potatoes, radishes and spinach.

Fruit selections will include apples, cantaloupes, grapefruit, oranges and strawberries.

The price of orange juice has been reduced this month because of larger-than-expected orange production. Florida's 1964-65 crop totals 85.2 million boxes, 46 per cent above last season.

In the Northeast, meat shoppers will find a wide assortment of beef round and boneless chuck roasts and chuck steaks and pork loin roasts and canned and smoked hams.

REPORTING AND PRINTING (Con't.)

98. Recommendation:

That the Purchasing Agent take the initiative in the execution of the provisions of the printing law, which direct him to determine the form, style, general format, number of pages and copies of reports, and do some editing. All reports should be of uniform dimensions.

While the Purchasing Agent has developed and published a guide for printing in accordance with the statutes, the guidelines generally pertain to procurement of printed material from commercial printers. The 1965 Commission re-emphasizes this 1955 recommendation by calling attention to the statutory provisions pertaining to the form, style, general appearance of printing, number of copies ordered, and editing.

There is no evidence of efforts to enforce prepared standards for state reporting and printing in the areas mentioned above. Exercising the responsibility and authority granted by the existing statutes could provide the standardization of printing form and style, and could improve the format and contents of all state printing. Information could be consolidated, and unnecessary materials could be eliminated. The results from enforcing the existing responsibility could reduce printing costs.

FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

99. Recommendation:

That the State Auditor in cooperation with the Comptroller, under present statutory authority, establish a set of expenditure accounts to be used by all agencies, and that he submit to all departments an accounts manual showing the kinds of expenditures to be included in each account.

The 1965 Commission found only recent attempts to establish a uniform accounting system that would associate exact costs with specific activities or programs. Examples of the present system's inability to identify costs of activities or services follow:

(1) there is no systematic accounting for the cost of operating the public buildings in Jefferson City, therefore, agencies are not encouraged to use space efficiently;

(2) the total rental for all data processing equipment was found only after considerable time was spent locating and tabulating invoices, which had been filed merely as "operations"; and

(3) most agencies (the Department of Corrections is a laudable exception) do not keep surety bond registers, records of the bond custodian, or accounts that reflect the total bonding premium.

These examples are cited to demonstrate the lack of accounting information. A better accounting system would expedite the preparation of budgets, setting appropriations, and administrative decisions.

The Comptroller has prepared a chart of accounts that will help provide accurate cost analyses, however, there is no provision for identifying costs of some important departmental activities such as data processing. Section 29.180, RSMo 1959, allows the State Auditor the prerogative of prescribing the state's accounting system. When the initiative for prescribing the state's accounting system is assumed by the Comptroller, he should have the written approval of the State Auditor.

100. Recommendation;

That a study be made to determine whether or not the numerous special funds now maintained in the state should be consolidated.

During the month of February, 1963, state moneys were distributed to 120 separate funds. In February, 1964, moneys went to 130 separate funds. The concept of many separate funds has been inherited from 18th century governmental accounting practices. Modern accounting techniques coupled with high-speed, accurate accounting equipment tend to make the "fund concept" obsolete. There are good reasons for directing Missouri's accounting practices toward the use of one general revenue fund supported by accounts reflecting dedicated receipts or predetermined expenditures.

Missouri's long use of dedicated funds may have developed some funds that cannot be immediately eliminated without inconvenience or some interim provisions. In order to minimize problems encountered in eliminating all dedicated funds, except the general revenue fund, the 1965 Commission recommends a detailed study of each fund to determine the feasibility of eliminating that fund; the reason for the fund's dedication; and any special problems expected, if the fund were eliminated.

Mississippi Pounds Weakened Dykes In Ill.

The relentless Mississippi River pounded weakened dikes in the Quad Cities area of Illinois and Iowa today. Downriver communities braced for the churning floods.

Waters rolled through the streets of Rock Island, Moline and East Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa—the Quad Cities. Volunteers, hundreds of them children and teen-agers, battled to shore up dikes which burst in spots intermittently.

As the Mississippi headed toward a predicted crest of 22.5 in the Quad Cities area, cities downstream received the first attack of floodwaters that began when the snows of Minnesota started melting weeks ago.

In Hannibal, Mo., the river stage today was 24 feet — 8 feet above flood stage — and still rising. Police said 18 to 20 inches of water covered some streets.

Police and National Guardsmen patroled the downtown area against looters. The city of 20,000 has no levee.

The immediate danger remained in the Quad Cities, with a population of more than 270,000.

The Mississippi, rampaging on its worst flood in history, crested at 24.7 feet, nearly 9 feet above flood stage, in the Clinton, Iowa -- Fulton, Ill., area Tuesday, then surged on to pound the Quad Cities.

The Red Cross has estimated that 3,000 are homeless in Illinois and the same number in Iowa. Damage estimates ranged into the millions. Both states have been designated disaster areas by President Johnson.

Fulton, a community of 3,800 population across the river from Clinton, was isolated by floodwaters. About 1,500 persons have been evacuated.

In Rock Island, City Manager Raymond Botch said the levees and dikes are holding, except one levee at the northern end of the business district. The river was at 22.3 feet, only .2 inch below the predicted crest. A steady rain fell during the night.

Sandbagging was stepped up in a commercial area where seepage and boils appeared behind a temporary levee. A secondary dike was thrown up.

In Davenport, part of a dike broke Tuesday night, flooding an area a block wide and eight blocks long. Workers began erecting what they called a sandbag dam.

The big worry in Moline, a city of 48,000, remained the city water plant, surrounded by floodwater. The main problem was getting enough chemicals to keep the water supply safe for consumption. Mayor James Arndt urged citizens to conserve water.

Both hospitals in Moline were storing water.

East Moline, with a population of 16,000, was relying on the Moline water plant. The East Moline plant went out some time ago.

A college student said: "If I got paid for every sandbag I've tossed since Sunday, I'd be a millionaire."

Howard Grant Is Responsible For Setting Of Art League Exhibit

Howard Grant, a local architect and resident of Sikeston for twelve years, who was responsible for the excellent design of the Festival Art Exhibit last Spring, is presently readying an equally beautiful setting for the Art League Exhibit at the Holiday Inn, May 1 and 2. When the show is at last open to the public at 10 a.m., May 1, the fine work entered by exhibiting artists will be shown at it's best advantage. The many hours of planning, constructing and arranging will then be obvious. Art shows don't just spring forth like mushrooms, as we sometime believe. It takes a handful of hard-working, quick - thinking people who are willing to sacrifice other activities and pleasures to concentrate on the job at hand. Of these, Howard Grant tops the list. Then the shows come, but only after many thoughtful hours and hard work.

Mr. Grant has had helpers in the last few weeks. Some members of the Art League have painted and helped with the finishing touches. Even children, especially John, Ricky, and Toby Grant, true sons of their creative father, have shown what they are able to accomplish with a can of paint, a brush and a will to help.

Howard, himself, is quite a good artist, and should be exhibiting in the show. But this year his time has been so occupied with thoughts of how best to present the Festival Exhibit, that he has had no time to sketch and paint. So we'll forfeit the pleasure of seeing this portion of his many-faceted talent, but the beauty and freshness of Spring in the show's garden setting will compensate our loss. Everyone visiting the Exhibit will surely join the Art League members in saying H. G. . . . .He's great!

Eastern Star Has Meeting

Sikeston Chapter Number 137, Order of Eastern Star met Thursday evening, April 22, in the Masonic Temple with Mrs. George Collier, Worthy Matron, presiding.

Walter Rayburn told about the enjoyable party the Charleston Chapter had for Mrs. Lela Maitland, District Deputy.

The Worthy Matron announced that Harmon Howard of Bloomfield, father of Mrs. Lloyd Reed, the Conductress had died Thursday morning. Glenn Keller has undergone surgery at Barnes Hospital.

The party night for the District Deputy, Mrs. Lela Maitland, will be held May 13.

Mrs. Wade Malcolm reminded the members of the pot-luck supper of the Candace Green Eastern Star Club to be April 30 at 6:30 p.m. in the Temple. Entertainment will be furnished by Puxico, Charleston and Ilmo Chapters. All members of the Order of Eastern Star are invited to bring a dish and spend an enjoyable evening.

Amish Group Does It The Right Way

SHIPSHEWANA, Ind. AP -- A barn a day has become the byword of scores of Amish and Mennonite volunteers who streamed into northern Indiana to aid victims of Palm Sunday tornadoes.

Amish around Lancaster, Pa., organized a 15-man force to come to Amish communities in Lagrange, Elkhart and St. Joseph counties to repair and replace homes and farm buildings.

The first group of 50 arrived this week and started the priority work of rebuilding the huge, two - story barns characteristic of the sect. An advance survey crew set the goal of one barn restored a day.

Other volunteers of both the Amish and Mennonite faiths have come from Illinois, Iowa, Ohio, Michigan, Virginia, Maryland and Canada.

Identified by their strict codes of conduct and plain dress, followers frown on modern labor-saving machinery. Nevertheless, the complete devastation in some communities has lessened compliance. The bearded volunteers are manning power saws to get the job done more quickly. They welcome the friendly neighbor farmer who supplies a bulldozer.

The Lancaster volunteers are living with Amish families who escaped the vicious storms that left 134 persons dead and hundreds injured in Indiana. They stay through the week, returning home on Friday. Leaders plan to shuttle alternating groups of about 50 workers by bus each week until the reconstruction is complete.

The Amish do not subscribe to commercial insurance institutions, but maintain their own, based mainly on muscle. Families contribute small sums to a central committee for purchasing supplies when destruction hits. The principal ingredient is the labor which is volunteered.

Another relief agency is the Mennonite Disaster Service. Its volunteers put in 6,342 man days of labor in the first nine days after the April 11 disaster. They have worked on about 200 houses and farms.

Space Requirement

No matter who does the carving, he or she will need plenty of room! There's elbow room, room on the table as well as room on the platter which holds the roast. If there are any garnishes on the side of the carver where he works, it might be a good idea to remove these to a small plate before he starts.

Have the second helpings carved as they're needed. Sliced meat cools quickly, but the whole roast does not. What's more, he who carves will have an opportunity to eat after the first round of serving.

Investment Clubs Meeting Regular

CHICAGO AP -- An office without an investment club is like a home without a hearth.

Our office has one and, from the viewpoint of this nonmember, the changes it has wrought are awesome. Fellows who used to worry only about the White Sox now are concerned with White Motors. Some who had trouble getting enough scratch together to pay the monthly light bill are strong for utilities. One, who never has been on a train in his life, wants to convert some of the chemicals to rails.

Meetings of the club rotate from home to home. In this respect the club replaces the social groups of the 1930s, those potluck buffet affairs where couples get together for penny ante poker and, if lucky, the big winners went home with an extra 80 cents.

Investment clubs pool their resources in order to make stock market plunges. At the meetings they discuss stocks or hear lectures on the market from authorities - or from each other.

Often the clubs are sponsored by brokerage firms, which, of course, have an interest in promoting securities trading.

When our office club was being organized, one of the promoters invited me to join.

"I am paying tuition to three schools, a university and two high schools," I said. "One has to have non-earmarked money to be in your club.

"Tell you what I'll do though, I'll tout you just like the boys do at Arlington Park. I'll give you a good one now and then, and you members can cut me into your pot."

The club promoter didn't care much for the idea, but did not close the door on it. "What do you suggest we buy?" he asked.

"Not so fast," I replied. "I have to study this thing out; besides, why do you assume 'buy'? I may recommend 'sell'."

One of my neighbors works full time as a broker. Occasionally we meet on the commuter train and talk markets. He is very glib with me because he knows I have nothing with which to win or lose.

A few days later I sought out the club promoter at the water fountain. "I have one for you," I said, naming an issue.

In a flash he had the markets section of the newspaper out of his hip pocket and was scanning the stock lists. The issue was selling at 30 1/2.

"Why?" the promoter challenged. "What's the price-earnings ratio? What's the growth potential? Is the yield adequate and the dividend well protected? Has management budged sufficiently for product research."

"Wait a minute," I cut him off. "When someone gives you a horse at Arlington, do you start right in asking the horse's blood pressure, size of his shoes, whether the jockey has a high school diploma, et cetera?

"Of course you don't, you just take it or leave it. I'm giving you one and you can take it or leave it."

He left it and walked away. We never have talked market again.

The stock closed the other day at $67.75 a share.

Howard Grant Is Responsible For Setting Of Art League Exhibit

Howard Grant, a local architect and resident of Sikeston for twelve years, who was responsible for the excellent design of the Festival Art Exhibit last Spring, is presently readying an equally beautiful setting for the Art League Exhibit at the Holiday Inn, May 1 and 2. When the show is at last open to the public at 10 a.m., May 1, the fine work entered by exhibiting artists will be shown at it's best advantage. The many hours of planning, constructing and arranging will then be obvious. Art shows don't just spring forth like mushrooms, as we sometime believe. It takes a handful of hard-working, quick - thinking people who are willing to sacrifice other activities and pleasures to concentrate on the job at hand. Of these, Howard Grant tops the list. Then the shows come, but only after many thoughtful hours and hard work.

Mr. Grant has had helpers in the last few weeks. Some members of the Art League have painted and helped with the finishing touches. Even children, especially John, Ricky, and Toby Grant, true sons of their creative father, have shown what they are able to accomplish with a can of paint, a brush and a will to help.

Howard, himself, is quite a good artist, and should be exhibiting in the show. But this year his time has been so occupied with thoughts of how best to present the Festival Exhibit, that he has had no time to sketch and paint. So we'll forfeit the pleasure of seeing this portion of his many-faceted talent, but the beauty and freshness of Spring in the show's garden setting will compensate our loss. Everyone visiting the Exhibit will surely join the Art League members in saying H. G. . . . .He's great!

Long Urges Senate Committee To Solve Floodway Problem

United States Senator Edward V. Long (D.-Mo.) today urged the Senate Committee on Public Works to achieve a solution to the problem created by excessive local participation requirements in a proposed improvement of the Birds Point-New Madrid Floodway on the Mississippi River.

The Corps of Engineers proposes to raise the levee protecting the floodway, but wants the local levee district to obtain modified flowage easements on some 130,000 acres of land in the floodway area. Levee district officials feel this requirement is an unfair burden on floodway landowners. Estimated cost of the modified easements is $3,500,000.

"Mr. Chairman, for the Levee District to obtain flowage easements requested by the Corps as local participation in this project would be a well-nigh impossible task. Landowners in the area are hardly willing to grant further property rights that would allow the destruction of their valuable holdings in time of high water," said Senator Long in a statement submitted to the Committee.

The levee improvement is a part of authorization called for in the Army Corps of Engineers Mississippi River and Tributaries Review Report, currently under consideration by the Senate Public Works Committee. The Review Report is expected to receive authorization in the present session of Congress.

"Mr. Chairman, the Senate Committee on Public Works has already adopted a resolution requesting the Chief of Engineers to review the report relative to the New Madrid Floodway project," Senator Long said.

"I would like to urge that the Committee make every effort to achieve a satisfactory solution to the serious situation posed by local participation requirements in the Review Report with respect to improvement measures on the New Madrid Floodway."

On Tuesday, 1,172 Americans were evacuated by helicopter and landing craft at Haina, though not without a scare. A band of 200 - 300 machinegun-armed civilians accosted the Americans while they were waiting at the Emgajador Hotel. They finally left without hurting the refugees.

Still there are about 1,000 Americans in the city and 1,000 in the countryside. Most of those who have been evacuated so far are tourists, transients and dependents of U.S. officials.

Dominican armored forces crossed the bridge into the capital. From another direction 1,000 Dominican army troops were fighting through the city from block to block.

Johnson ordered the Marines ashore during a 5-6 p.m. meeting at his White House office Wednesday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Johnson was told that 300 more Americans had assembled on the Polo Grounds asking for evacuation. Also, the local police chief, identified as Des Perdal, and the noninsurgents' second provisional government had said they could not guarantee the safety of the Americans or of the American Embassy, which had been machine-gunned.

The President hurriedly called in congressional leaders of both parties to tell them of his decision. Some of the Republicans had been at a dinner honoring Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. Dirksen was among those at the White House session. He said the legislators supported Johnson in whatever action is necessary to protect U.S. citizens.

Going on the air, Johnson announced to the American people his decision to send in the Marines.

Past periods of frequent U.S. intervention are still fresh in the minds of many Latin Americans. U.S. Marines occupied Santo Domingo in 1916-24. They were in Nicaragua in 1927-33.

This time Washington is stressing hands - off the domestic political situation in Santo Domingo, saying its sole aim is to protect the lives of Americans and other foreign nationals. The French have sent a nonmilitary ship to evacuate their citizens and others have asked for U. S. help.

The 400 Marines were reported to have gone from the Boxer to the Polo Grounds, a convenient wayside point between Santo Domingo and Haina, by helicopter. They consisted of two rifle companies and a helicopter squadron.

Marine Col. W E. Daugherty is in command of the Marine expenditionary unit. Washington officials said the commander on the spot was being given discretion on just how to deploy his forces to meet the situation.

Evacuees were being taken to San Juan, P. R.

What degree of influence the Communists are exerting amid the anarchy is still being studied by U. S. authorities. Leaders of three Communist groups were reported active.

When asked by a committee member why the House bill was being promoted in the light of apparent Senate defeat, Beckerle replied: "We feel it will have more impact on the Senate if it passes the House." RA co-signer, Rep. Kenneth L. Growney, D - Jackson County, defended the referendum provision. He said "it's the best way of settling this issue once and for all."

The committee chairman, Rep. W. D. Hibler, D-Charlton County, asked Growney if he thought the measure would be brought up again if defeated at the polls.

Growney said he was confident it would pass, but if it failed he thought supporters would be satisfied the measure had gotten a fair trial.

Two years ago the legislature passed a law raising maximum weights for the largest trucks to 73,280 pounds. It contained a "bridge formula" to govern weights on individual axles.

Webster said the rules were changed after the law became effective, thus preventing some trucks from operating legally in Missouri.

Defending Snider, Sen. William B. Waters, D-Liberty, read a letter in which the chief engineer cited engineering factors to support his position. Snider charged the bill would remove all control over interior axles on tandem trucks and cause overstressing on highway bridges.

A Senate committee approved two bills recommended by the "Little Hoover" commission. One would reorganize the State Department of Revenue along more businesslike lines. The other would set up a central management agency for state departments under the state comptroller.

The committee took no action on a bill to refund a half cent of the three-cent sales tax to the cities where the tax is collected -- at a cost in state revenue of about $34.6 million a year.

Sen. Omer H. Avery, D-Troy, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, said such a measure would require an increase in the sales tax.

The Senate Education Committee deferred action on a House - passed bill to set up branches of the University of Missouri in St. Joseph and Joplin as four-year colleges.

Sen. Richard M. Webster, R-Carthage, has proposed that the schools be made branches of Southwest State College at Springfield and Northwest State at Maryville, instead.

Rep. Robert E. Young, R-Dapser County, said he did not favor such fragmentation. But if such a change is necessary to get the bill passed, he suggested it be attached to the House bill as a tactical maneuver.

A similar proposal was vetoed by Gov. John M. Dalton two years ago as premature.

The tremor was felt from the coast to eastern Washington and from Oregon into British Columbia.

At Ellensburg, 100 miles east of Seattle, streets were jammed with people who fled from downtown buildings. Some windows were broken and walls cracked.

At Aberdeen, on the coast, the quake was described as a rolling series of three shocks that caused buildings to sway. Most were evacuated.

In Seattle, the two-story concrete Seattle Times Building jiggled like an electric vibrator. Plaster sifted down in the Associated Press rooms and Teletype printers stopped briefly. Telephone service also was interrupted for a few moments.

Murlin Spencer, Seattle bureau chief who directed coverage of the historic March 27, 1964 earthquake in Alaska, said the shock "has the feel of the second quake which hit Anchorage exactly one week after the first destructive one."

The second Alaska quake was rated at an intensity above 7 on the Richter scale.

A Seattle woman was reported to have suffered a heart attack when the temblor knocked down the trolley of the electric transit bus on which she was riding.

Eastbound lanes on a drawbridge over the Duwamish Waterway in Seattle were closed to all traffic except transit coaches because of a drop in the road level.

Women prisoners in Seattle's City Jail began screaming, "Let us out of here," as the building shook.

In Tacoma, 30 miles to the south, one of the main downtown streets, Pacific Avenue, was littered with bricks and debris.

At Everett, 26 miles north, the state patrol radio tower toppled, streets buckled and some water lines broke. Boulders came rolling down onto the Stevens Pass Highway from Mt. Persis east of Everett, causing some damage.

The date palm is perhaps the oldest cultivated tree known to history.

previous marriage, said the girls "dearly love him. That's the man I know."

Fleming marveled at what has become a story-like battle to keep him from returning to Folsom, where he was serving a sentence of one-year-to-life for robbery. He had been in prison for 30 months.

After his escape, he began a year-long journey through Nevada, Idaho, Canada, West Virginia, Kentucky and finally to Oklahoma. He obtained an Oklahoma driver's license, using the name "Jim Minner," a Social Security card, a fishing license, and then a marriage license for his wedding in July 1964. He came to Chandler in September.

After his true identity was disclosed, 100 Chandler residents signed a petition attesting to his good character and asked clemency from California authorities.

Fleming was released in custody of George Totten, his employer, and Curtis Walker, a minister who posed $2,500 bond.

Now he awaits Oklahoma Gov. Henry Bellmon's action on California's request that he be returned.

"I know that legally I've got no hope," Fleming said. "I hope Gov. Bellmon will give me a break. I put him on a spot, I know.

Australia Preparing To Send Army Troops

CANBERRA, Australia AP-- Australia is preparing to send up to 800 army troops to South Viet Nam for combat duty with U. S. and South Vietnamese forces, government sources reported today.

The sources said the Cabinet has approved sending the battalion - sized unit and Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies may make a statement later in the day. There was no indication how soon the troops may leave.

An Australian contingent of 800 men would be the second largest unit from any of America's allies in South Viet Nam. South Korea has 2,000 troops there, but they are primarily a work force to build and repair roads, bridges and railways.

Government sources said the decision to send Australian combat forces is not a result of the visit to Canberra last week by U. S. presidential envoy Henry Cabot Lodge. The Australian Cabinet has considered the idea of a more positive involvement in Viet Nam for some time before Lodge's visit, the sources said.

Lodge is touring friendly Far Eastern and Pacific nations to drum up support for U. S. policy in Viet Nam.

Australia already has in South Viet Nam about 100 jungle combat advisers and a Royal Australian Air Force transport unit.

The jungle advisers, like their U.S. counterparts, are not classified as combat troops. But they have been in combat areas for months and have suffered casualties in action, including one killed.

The U. S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, Maxwell D. Taylor, told Italian newsmen earlier this month that "aside from the United States, the nationals of supporting nations in South Viet Nam number over 3,000." He said 37 nations have provided support or are about to give support to South Viet Nam.

The Sydney Sun said New Zealand is reported also to have agreed to provide further military aid to South Viet Nam. The newspaper said "observers believe that the underlying aim of the Australian and New Zealand decisions will be to influence Japan and the Philippines to give greater direct aid to the American cause in the Viet Nam struggle."

Sister Consilli, school principal, said Wednesday Margaret was "fully aware" of the rules. Sister Concilli said the prohibition against beauty contests is "observed scrupulously."

Long Urges Senate Committee To Solve Floodway Problem

United States Senator Edward V. Long (D.-Mo.) today urged the Senate Committee on Public Works to achieve a solution to the problem created by excessive local participation requirements in a proposed improvement of the Birds Point-New Madrid Floodway on the Mississippi River.

The Corps of Engineers proposes to raise the levee protecting the floodway, but wants the local levee district to obtain modified flowage easements on some 130,000 acres of land in the floodway area. Levee district officials feel this requirement is an unfair burden on floodway landowners. Estimated cost of the modified easements is $3,500,000.

"Mr. Chairman, for the Levee District to obtain flowage easements requested by the Corps as local participation in this project would be a well-nigh impossible task. Landowners in the area are hardly willing to grant further property rights that would allow the destruction of their valuable holdings in time of high water," said Senator Long in a statement submitted to the Committee.

The levee improvement is a part of authorization called for in the Army Corps of Engineers Mississippi River and Tributaries Review Report, currently under consideration by the Senate Public Works Committee. The Review Report is expected to receive authorization in the present session of Congress.

"Mr. Chairman, the Senate Committee on Public Works has already adopted a resolution requesting the Chief of Engineers to review the report relative to the New Madrid Floodway project," Senator Long said.

"I would like to urge that the Committee make every effort to achieve a satisfactory solution to the serious situation posed by local participation requirements in the Review Report with respect to improvement measures on the New Madrid Floodway."

On Tuesday, 1,172 Americans were evacuated by helicopter and landing craft at Haina, though not without a scare. A band of 200 - 300 machinegun-armed civilians accosted the Americans while they were waiting at the Emgajador Hotel. They finally left without hurting the refugees.

Still there are about 1,000 Americans in the city and 1,000 in the countryside. Most of those who have been evacuated so far are tourists, transients and dependents of U.S. officials.

Dominican armored forces crossed the bridge into the capital. From another direction 1,000 Dominican army troops were fighting through the city from block to block.

Johnson ordered the Marines ashore during a 5-6 p.m. meeting at his White House office Wednesday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Johnson was told that 300 more Americans had assembled on the Polo Grounds asking for evacuation. Also, the local police chief, identified as Des Perdal, and the noninsurgents' second provisional government had said they could not guarantee the safety of the Americans or of the American Embassy, which had been machine-gunned.

The President hurriedly called in congressional leaders of both parties to tell them of his decision. Some of the Republicans had been at a dinner honoring Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. Dirksen was among those at the White House session. He said the legislators supported Johnson in whatever action is necessary to protect U.S. citizens.

Going on the air, Johnson announced to the American people his decision to send in the Marines.

Past periods of frequent U.S. intervention are still fresh in the minds of many Latin Americans. U.S. Marines occupied Santo Domingo in 1916-24. They were in Nicaragua in 1927-33.

This time Washington is stressing hands - off the domestic political situation in Santo Domingo, saying its sole aim is to protect the lives of Americans and other foreign nationals. The French have sent a nonmilitary ship to evacuate their citizens and others have asked for U. S. help.

The 400 Marines were reported to have gone from the Boxer to the Polo Grounds, a convenient wayside point between Santo Domingo and Haina, by helicopter. They consisted of two rifle companies and a helicopter squadron.

Marine Col. W E. Daugherty is in command of the Marine expenditionary unit. Washington officials said the commander on the spot was being given discretion on just how to deploy his forces to meet the situation.

Evacuees were being taken to San Juan, P. R.

What degree of influence the Communists are exerting amid the anarchy is still being studied by U. S. authorities. Leaders of three Communist groups were reported active.

When asked by a committee member why the House bill was being promoted in the light of apparent Senate defeat, Beckerle replied: "We feel it will have more impact on the Senate if it passes the House." RA co-signer, Rep. Kenneth L. Growney, D - Jackson County, defended the referendum provision, He said "it's the best way of settling this issue once and for all."

The committee chairman, Rep. W. D. Hibler, D-Charlton County, asked Growney if he thought the measure would be brought up again if defeated at the polls.

Growney said he was confident it would pass, but if it failed he thought supporters would be satisfied the measure had gotten a fair trial.

Two years ago the legislature passed a law raising maximum weights for the largest trucks to 73,280 pounds. It contained a "bridge formula" to govern weights on individual axles.

Webster said the rules were changed after the law became effective, thus preventing some trucks from operating legally in Missouri.

Defending Snider, Sen. William B. Waters, D-Liberty, read a letter in which the chief engineer cited engineering factors to support his position. Snider charged the bill would remove all control over interior axles on tandem trucks and cause overstressing on highway bridges.

A Senate committee approved two bills recommended by the "Little Hoover" commission. One would reorganize the State Department of Revenue along more businesslike lines. The other would set up a central management agency for state departments under the state comptroller.

The committee took no action on a bill to refund a half cent of the three-cent sales tax to the cities where the tax is collected -- at a cost in state revenue of about $34.6 million a year.

Sen. Omer H. Avery, D-Troy, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, said such a measure would require an increase in the sales tax.

The Senate Education Committee deferred action on a House - passed bill to set up branches of the University of Missouri in St. Joseph and Joplin as four-year colleges.

Sen. Richard M. Webster, R-Carthage, has proposed that the schools be made branches of Southwest State College at Springfield and Northwest State at Maryville, instead.

Rep. Robert E. Young, R-Jasper County, said he did not favor such fragmentation. But if such a change is necessary to get the bill passed, he suggested it be attached to the House bill as a tactical maneuver.

A similar proposal was vetoed by Gov. John M. Dalton two years ago as premature.

At a special joint meeting of councilmen and members of the Board of Public Works late Saturday, a new 1,250-horsepower engine was bought for the municipal plant. The successful bidder was the Nordberg concern of Milwaukee, Wis. The purchase price of $62,197 includes numerous accessories in addition to the engine, which will be delivered in about 60 days.

Water here was disconnected for seven hours early Friday when a cutoff valve on the main, which supplies the city, blew out, allowing about 50,000 gallons of water to overflow in the ground near the municipal light and water plant.

Petition For Cancellation Of Soviet Ballgame

ST. LOUIS AP -- Cancellation of two basketball games at St. Louis between a Soviet team and a U. S. team was asked Wednesday in petitions presented to the office of Mayor A. J. Cervantes.

The petitions were signed by almost 1,000 persons.

The games are scheduled Friday and Saturday in Kiel Auditorium, and are the last in a tour of the United States by the Russian basketball team.

Mrs. Susan Gaul said the petitions were signed by residents of the St. Louis metropolitan area. She presented them. The petitions asked "all citizens to express their regret that an invitation was sent to representatives of a system of government so completely ... wrong."

Ben Kerner, owner of the St. Louis Hawks and sponsor of the games, said the petition would have no effect on the games.

"They will be played," he said.

Q—When a new state is admitted to the Union, how is this indicated on the national flag?

NEW FLORENCE, Mo. AP -- State conservation agents have confirmed the tracks found in a woods on the Carl Johnson farm southwest of New Florence were made by a black bear -- and a big one.

Eugene Baldwin, Audrain county conservation agent, and Pearly Cassidy, Monroe County conservation agent, examined the tracks Wednesday and estimated they were made by a bear who weighed about 200 pounds and must have been about six feet long.

Denver O. Camden, northeast Missouri conservation agent supervisor at Macon, made casts of the tracks and said they were the first verified signs of a black bear in Missouri since one was killed in southeast Missouri in 1959 on the Madison-Iron County line.

In 1960, the killing of black bears was prohibited on grounds they practically were extinct. The conservation agents said they are not dangerous but it's prudent to keep away from them.

The show, Mr. Slinkerd announced, will be of the Jack-Pot variety with contestants competing for 40%, 30%, 20% and 10% prize money. The first horse show was purposely scheduled for Mother's Day to afford riders and their families an opportunity to provide an exciting afternoon for Mom.

Gold Treasure Found Off Florida West Coast

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. AP -- A weekend treasure hunter says he has discovered a sunken Spanish galleon off the Florida west coast in shallow water.

Some coins, two solid gold statues, silver bars and silver-hilted swords were stored in a St. Petersburg bank after two state agents catalogued them Monday.

"The state has begun an investigation to check their authenticity," agent Philip Tibedeau said. He said he could not estimate the treasure's value.

John Charles Sykes, 31, made the discovery. He said what he had already salvaged was worth about $50,000 to $75,000 and that he had not begun to work the hulk in earnest.

"It's worth what somebody will pay you," said Sykes, an architectural engineer. "We have been offered $10,000 apiece for the statues."

Sykes said he ran across the wreck by accident more than a year ago.

Police Find Get Away Car Used By Bank Robbers

DIAMOND, Mo. AP -- The discovery of an abandoned car near Granby, Mo., is the last trace officers have turned up in their hunt for two men who got nearly $1,000 in a stickup Wednesday at the Bank of Diamond.

Mrs. Lois Brookshire, 79-year-old president of the bank, and T. B. Douthitt, the cashier, persuaded them the time lock on the vault would not open until 4 p.m.; so the robbers scooped all the coins and bills they could find into a pillow case and fled.

"I didn't get scared," Mrs. Brookshire said. "But it took me by surprise. I got nervous."

The bank has been held up three times in recent years.

Q—Where was the Garden of Eden located?

BOOK BOOSTER—This poster, on display in libraries and stores, tells of Books USA, Inc., a nonprofit organization seeking donations to send American books to Latin America, Africa, the Far East and the Near East. The books, which deal with American history and government, literature, English and science, are designed to help others understand us.

CREAM PUFF—While most gals would give their right arms to be sexy blondes, Joi Lansing deplores the fact that she has been typed for movies as the sexy blonde cream puff who always plays steal-the-husband roles. Joi is hoping that her singing career will lift her out of that classification and into something more dramatic.
